Women May Preach. Colored Race Diminishing. Why So Many Suicides? U. S. Army Up 30,000 Feet.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE Presbytery of New York voted yesterday, 51 to 29, admitting women to Presbyterian pulpits. Reverend ladies will now proceed to prove that Samuel Johnson was wrong when he said a woman preaching was like a dog standing on its hind legs. It is not that she does it well, but you wonder that she does it at all.

Good preaching depends on sincerity, and that is woman's specialty.

UNCLE SAM'S census shows the colored population of the United States diminishing. The percentage of Negro population, in this census, will be the lowest on record, and that percentage now is only half what it was in 1790.

BUT this need not discourage Americans of African descent. If, after we die we return to earth, to continue working here, as many believe, that means a large percentage of colored people must come back in white bodies, with a better chance, in our prejudiced white civilization.

In London, the Duchess of Leinster is sent to prison for trying to kill herself.

LIFE is short enough, hope is never gone, duty is not fully discharged, unless death takes us.

And everybody appearing in the next world will feel foolish if obliged to say: "I killed myself," when asked: "How did you come here?"

LONDON forecasts the "doom of battleships."

They were doomed long ago, when Gen. Mitchell, best flying officer in our Army, dismissed for telling too much truth, proved that two men in a $45,000 airship can sink a $50,000,000 battleship with a 1,000-man crew.

LAST Saturday in California, under the direction of Brig. Gen. Gillmore, 19 planes of the United States Army flew in perfect formation to an altitude of 30,000 feet, almost five miles up, with the temperature 40 degrees below zero.

The most important thing about that wonderful achievement is this: Army officers, those that would minimize the importance of the airplane to uphold old-fashioned methods, admit that flying at such a height it would be utterly impossible for any anti-aircraft artillery to injure the flying machines.

IT is time for the great engineering ability of the United States, led by the able engineer in the White House, to concentrate on airplanes and submarines, realizing that battleships and other floating ships have gone to join the hansom cab and the dodo.

W. K. WHITFIELD wants everybody to know that the Mediterranean fly has disappeared from Florida; only two samples of the larvae found in the entire state since last August. Mr. Whitfield represents 70,000 acres of Florida citrus fruit.

W. J. Howey, representing 60,000 citrus fruit acres in Lake County, Fla., says the fly has vanished. Anyhow it wouldn't amount to much. They have had it in Spain for nearly a century, yet today Spain produces 30,000,000 boxes of oranges against Florida's 9,000,000 to 13,000,000 boxes.

Good news from one part of the country is good news for all of the country.

THE Methodist Episcopal Church's Board of Temperance and Public Morals announces:

"There is only one senator remaining in the Senate who voted against the Eighteenth Amendment, while 22 who voted favorably still occupy their seats."

Sincere prohibitionists are absolutely in earnest. They do not forgive politicians that vote against them and make them realize it.

Politicians know this, hence the considerable number that are dry outside, and wet inside.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON launches his sailing yacht, Shamrock No. Five, to take the cup from America, if he can. A bottle of champagne starts Shamrock V on her way.

Simultaneously three Americans, Vanderbilt, Aldrich and Astor, launch the cold water boat "Enterprise," one of four American boats that will defend the title.

SAILING races are now as unimportant as greyhound races. Excessive depth of center-boards, and reliance on them to offset heavy sail area, make the hull design unimportant.

The interesting fact is that Britons, building sailing boats for centuries, cannot compete with modern American boat builders. Youthful inventive genius is better than aged experience.

Tinkham Flays Hoover Fund And Bishop Cannon Before House Lobby Inquisitors

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The Senate Lobby Committee was treated today to an intimate close-up of Anti-Saloon finances, produced by Representative George Holden Tinkham (Rep.), of Massachusetts.

The bearded anti-prohibitionist displayed to the committee what he asserted was the financial record of the league, showing that between 1920 and 1925 the league expended $13,065,313, and that its grand total of expenditure from 1883 to 1926 was $67,565,313.72—expended through some 37 states.

Tinkham charged the league had "flagrantly and audaciously" violated the Federal Corrupt Practices Act and that the Southern Methodist Board of Temperance and Social Service had "engaged in offensive and coercive lobbying activities."

DEMANDS INQUIRY

He demanded that these organizations along with Bishop James Cannon, Jr., chairman of the Methodist board, be investigated by the Lobby Committee.

The figures on Anti-Saloon League expenditures, Tinkham said in presenting his table, "have never before been published, as the league always jealously guarded its receipts and expenditures."

"Yes, education to vote the Anti-Saloon League ticket," Tinkham replied.

"Aren't you for law enforcement?" Robinson asked.

"Yes, I am, and also for enforcement of the Corrupt Practices Act against the Anti-Saloon League."

RETURNS MISSING

Tinkham charged that until 1920, the league made "no returns whatever,' under the federal corrupt practices act, which was passed in 1912.

"The league and its state subsidiaries are a political committee under the wording of the federal corrupt practices act," he continued, "and its activities

NAVAL BUILDING RACE SEEN DUE TO PARLEY

MacDonald Follower Strikes At 'Secret Diplomacy' And Holds Treaty Futile

By LIEUT. COMMANDER J. M. KENWORTHY, R. N., M. P.

LONDON, April 15.

THE so-called disarmament conference now drawing to a close with the five-power-and-three-power treaty to be signed, has been a farrago of futilities.

The way to set about the problem of naval reductions and limitations was to discuss openly and publicly the use of navies; why these great and expensive forces were required and what is their purpose.

France, Italy Bitter

Instead, the delegates at the London conference acted as if they innocently supposed that, by merely discussing the strength of navies, their purpose could be achieved.

As a result, Franco-Italian relations have been embittered and a three-power treaty to build MORE ships—not less—will be signed.

MELLON OFFERS NEW CHURCH IN EAST END

Structure, Planned to Rival Finest in U. S., to Cover Penn and Highland Block

A new church for East Liberty of a size and design to compare with the finest edifices in America is being offered as a gift by R. B. Mellon to the East Liberty Presbyterian congregation, it was learned today.

DISCUSSION ARRANGED

"Some propositions have been made regarding the construction of a new church," said Mr. Mellon, when asked concerning his interest in the subject.

"As I have just returned from Hot Springs, it's a little early to say anything about them. It is my intention to meet with the committee and discuss them."

Sarah Jane Negley Mellon, mother of the donor and his brother, Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon, were born on the site which the new building will occupy. It was the Negley farm, and the farmhouse stood a short distance back from what is now Penn avenue.

CONFER ON OFFER

A meeting of the church officers and membership has been called for tomorrow night to consider the proposal. While no information is forthcoming from church officials, it is reported that architects' sketches of the building will be exhibited and a vote taken on the acceptance of the gift. Those in close touch believe that the proposal will be accepted. The Rev. Dr. S. N. Hutchison is pastor of the church.

If the project is approved, the present building, a large stone structure occupying a part of the lot, will be torn down. The location is in the heart of the East Liberty district, where a building of massive proportions will show to unusual advantage.

MODERN DESIGN

Plans for the proposed building have not been completed. It is understood that the architecture is to be modernistic and that the building itself is designed to include many of the features of a modern parish house, such as gymnasium, swimming pool and facilities for recreation and education.

The gift is not the first which Mr. Mellon has made to the congregation. Several years ago he gave it a deed for the property at Penn avenue and Whitfield street and extending through to Baum boulevard. That gave the church the entire block and paved the way for a new building.

Cincinnati Takes on Holiday Air as National League Pries Off Baseball Lid

REDLAND FIELD, CINCINNATI, April 15.—The Red and Pirates opened the championship season at Redland Field this afternoon under a distinctive holiday atmosphere. At fame time the home of the Reds held about 30,000 fans. The weather was ideal and the little threat of clouds at starting time did not alarm the noisy lovers of the game, the majority of who had purchased the coveted tickets months ago.

Cincinnati is the only town in baseball that goes after the inaugural with such spirit of the festival. The reserve seats as a rule are largely disposed of long before the clubs leave for the spring training.

MUSIC BEFORE GAME

Loud speakers emitted their music early and while the clubs were going through the practice session, the battle field was a bedlam of racket.

An hour before the battle started, the big rightfield bleachers was packed and hundreds were on the field. Improvised bleachers were erected in left field to take care of the big overflow. All in all the spectacle was one of the greatest in the history of Cincinnati.

Manager Ens was forced to go into action in the jump off game with a weakened lineup. Two of his aces, who also are tow of the outstanding players in the game, were unable to go to their posts. Capt. Pie Traynor was not allowed to perform and Manager Ens decided that Lloyd Waner was still too ill to do himself justice. In their places were Charley Engle and Fred Brickell. In the absence of Traynor, Comorosky continued in the cleanup notch of the Pittsburgh order.

KREMER ON MOUND

Manager Ens received still another shock this morning when he learned that his starting selection on the slab—Heine Meine—was afflicted with something akin to tonsilitis. The Pirate physician examined Meine and instructed him to remain in bed. Ens immediately switched to Remy Kremer, despite the fact that Kremer worked six frames on Saturday. But Kremer had so much stuff on that occasion that the Pirates were confident of him.

Quite a few Pittsburghers were in the stands for the opener, among them being Mrs. Jewel Ens and the two children of the Pittsburgh pilot. A. K. (Rosy) Rowswell also was rooting for Pittsburgh success.

The first ball of the season was thrown by City Manager Sherrill and it was caught by Mayor Wilson.

The game in detail:

FIRST INNING

PITTSBURGH — Brickell out, Ford to Kelly. Grantham singled sharply to center. P. Waner walked. Comorosky flied to Heilmann. Critz threw out Suhr. One hit.

CINCINNATI—Critz singled to center. Callaghan sacrificed. Engle to Grantham. Meusel singled to center, scoring Critz. Heilmann singled to right, Meusel going to third. Kelly grounded into a double play, Bartell, Grantham to Suhr. One run. Three hits.

SECOND INNING

Woman Says Jury Forced Her to Agree on Verdict

Failure of the jury to agree after one woman juror told Visiting Judge J. R. McKenrick, of Cambria County, in Criminal Court today, that "mental force" had been used in getting her to subscribe to a guilty verdict against Arthur Thompson, 40, of 1612 Oakhurst street, Carrick, will result in a new trial for the defendant.

At the same time the court discharged the juror, Mrs. Elizabeth Weltfeuer, 73, of 5215 Kincaid street, from further jury service, adding that "since you don't seem to know the meaning of the English language, it is best that you do not serve as a juror in the future," and then discharged the 11 other jurors.

When counsel for the defense polled the jurors Mrs. Weltfeuer said she had been "forced to agree." Later the panel was retired in an effort to bring about an unanimous verdict, and again failed to agree.

HOOVER'S PLEA TO D. A. R. STIRS SENATE FIGHT ON LEAGUE

TO DEMAND NEW VOTE ON ENTRY

U. S. Adherence Predicted Despite New Opposition Revealed in Illinois Vote

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Another dramatic battle in the Senate over the question of American adherence to the League Court is impending.

All doubt about this was dispelled today as a result of President Hoover's speech to the Daughters of the American Revolution last night, in which he served notice he planned to go through with his policy of making the United States a member of the court—notwithstanding the Illinois primary, or the growing signs of Senate opposition.

After the Illinois primary, in which the veteran Charles S. Deneen went down to defeat before Ruth Hanna McCormick for the Republican nomination in a campaign that featured the court issue, it had been reported that Mr. Hoover would allow the question of American adherence to die a quiet death. The reports were erroneous. Mr. Hoover is going to battle with the Senate on the issue.

PREDICTS U. S. IN COURT

Culled from the President's address, replete with praise for the League Court and the London naval conference, were these highlights:

1—He voiced confidence of United States entry into the court upon "solution of contentions over special stipulations under which the country should participate."

2—He declared the League Court "has been accepted by 90 per cent of the civilized people of the earth, is established, and no other court is practicable.

3—Pointing to the Kellogg-Briand pact, the President said under it "this nation solemnly pledged ourselves, not only to renounce war, but to seek means for pacific settlement of all international differences."

4—Lauding the London naval conference for reduction of armaments and "turning the tide of constantly increasing naval arms and ending the poison of suspicion and ill will generated by constant rivalry in construction," the President asserted "the United States is stronger in defense as a result."

BRAVES HOSTILE AUDIENCE

The setting in which Mr. Hoover chose to throw down the gauntlet to the Senate was in itself dramatic.

The Daughters of the American Revolution recently sponsored a series of nation-wide radio addresses opposing American adherence to the court. Among the speakers have been such outstanding foes of the court as ex-Senator James A. Reed (Dem.), of Missouri; Richard Washburn Child, former ambassador to Italy; ex-Senator George Wharton Pepper (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, and others.

And only a few hours before the President spoke, the Daughters had listened to the keynote address of Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, the president general, which bristled with warnings against "entangling alliances" and pleas for American aloofness from the jealousies and rivalries of Europe.

America owes it to the world, the President said, to join the court. It is part and parcel, he asserted, of the world's march toward the goal of universal peace and the settlement of international disputes without resort to war. In that march, he said, the United States could not get out of step.

TWO-THIRDS VOTE NEEDED

It requires two-thirds of the Senate to put the United States into the court. President Hoover recently was reported to have told his confidants that he had 84 votes lined up for the court.

When Senator Deneen lost in Illinois last week he became the fourteenth Senator who voted for the court to be defeated for renomination or re-election.

FLAYS SERMON INSULTING WAR CHAPLAINS

Pastor Who Served With Army Censures Guest Preacher for Attack

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—The Rev. Dr. Jason Noble Pierce, Calvin Coolidge's former pastor, today made public a letter to the Rev. Dr. Peter Ainslie, Baltimore minister, calling on him to account for remarks made in Dr. Pierce's church yesterday "insulting en masse the chaplains of the Army and Navy."

Dr. Ainslee, pastor of Christian by listeners as having said before a Lenten service in the Congregational Church that "there is no more justification for being a chaplain in the Army or Navy than there is for being a chaplain in a speakeasy."

Dr. Pierce, a former chaplain in the Army, and the chief of Army chaplains, Col. Julian E. Yates, were present during Dr. Ainslee's sermon. Col. Yates today joined Dr. Pierce in denouncing the remarks by the Baltimore pastor.

MANY EX-CHAPLAINS PRESENT

In the congregation, according to persons who attended, were many ministers who were chaplains during the World War, and also many members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, here for their convention.

Dr. Pierce said Dr. Ainslie made a vitrolic attack upon chaplains who "prayed that their soldiers might shoot straight and kill all the enemy possible." Then came the remark there was "no more justification for being a chaplain in the army or navy than in being a chaplain in a speakeasy."

"That got my goat," Dr. Pierce said.

"I believe in the freedom of utterance, but that was more than I could stand, and my sentiments I found to be in agreement with those of many with whom I talked after the service."

BRANDED 'BAD TASTE'

Coolidge's former pastor said the remarks by Dr. Ainslee, if delivered to his congregation instead of to a public Lenten service, would have drawn no public response from him.

"But," he continued, "Dr. Ainslee made those statements to a union congregation, one of the sort which I will not have the opportunity to address, and I feel justified in making public my disagreement with Dr. Ainslee and calling him to account."

"The sermon was in extremely bad taste, particularly because Col. Yates was in the congregation, particularly because the Daughters of the American Revolution are in convention here at this time and particularly because I wore the khaki of a chaplain and am proud of it, and that minister was occupying my pulpit."

RAP, PRAISE NEW OFFICE BUILDING

Armstrong and McGovern at Odds During Cornerstone Laying; Notables Attend

Allegheny County's new office building, Fifth avenue and Ross street, whose cornerstone was laid today, was concurrently denounced by County Commissioner C. C. McGovern as a "needless expense" and praised by Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong as an "outstanding achievement to Allegheny County's material prosperity."

City and county officials, a number of distinguished citizens and invited guests were present at the cornerstone exercises.

McGOVERN RAPS

"My position here is somewhat unique—I might say ministerial," said McGovern, minority member of the Board of Commissioners.

"I opposed the project from the start as I did not believe this building a public necessity," he told his listeners.

"I did not believe the county departments operated by men holding temporary public offices had the experience or knowledge to lay out office space in a way that would guard the best interests of the taxpayers."

"Fee offices cost the taxpayers of Allegheny County $700,000 annually."

AMENDS INTRODUCTION

When Armstrong introduced McGovern he described him as "a brother member of the Board of Commissioners, always interested in improvement programs and one who has assisted in the expenditure of millions for that purpose.

"He has been with us for two years," the speaker said.

"I want to correct that impression," McGovern replied.

"I have been with Mr. Armstrong for four years instead of two, if he remembers correctly. And I want to say that Allegheny County seems to be 'in the red.'

Armstrong corrected him, saying that the county has a borrowing power of $100,000,000.

A male quartet then sang a song, "If I Had My Way," dedicated, the leader announced, to Armstrong.

Other speakers included Commissioner E. V. Babcock and Controller Woodside, who complimented the board of the beauty of the building.

PRAISES BUILDING

In his speech dedicating the cornerstone, Commissioner Armstrong likened the new edifice a monument to the growth and prosperity of the county.

"Long after you and I are gone this building will still be here,' Armstrong predicted.

"The world will little note nor long remember what we do or say here today, but may this building and the cornerstone contents be witnesses of Allegheny county's expansion program.'

Contents of the stone were a Bible, American Flag, a bag of coins and data pertinent to the structure. Completion of the project is expected by January next year. County departments now crowded for space in the court house and City-County building will be housed in the new building, six stories in height.

"It maintains a political organization in every state of the union, and in some states, New York and Illinois, notably, it maintains expensive and extensive headquarters.

"No returns are made of the expenses of these establishments as required by law, nor of the expenses of its Washington headquarters, which is purely political in character."

In 1927, or 1928, Tinkham testified, F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the league, released a statement to the press which said a $600,000 fund was being raised "to strike at every wet candidate," and that the budget of the national league was to be increased from $450,000 to $750,000 a year.

WAR ON CANDIDATES

As read by Tinkham, the statement said in part that strenuous campaigns would be waged against "Gov. Al Smith, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Gov. Ritchie and Senator Reed, of Missouri, and any candidate in any party who does not stand four square on prohibition."

"That's lobbying," Tinkham added.

"The budget of the National Anti-Saloon League amounts to $450,000 per year," he said. "The supplemental campaign will increase this budget to $750,000 a year for the next two years."

"You don't know how much they raised?" asked Caraway.

Returning to his attack on Bishop Cannon, Tinkham read a letter to Vice President Curtis from the bishop, when Curtis was a senator and Republican leader, asking him to "line up" some senators to support legislation in which Cannon was interested.

"This letter was clearly and audaciously an appeal with implied threat of political reprisals," Tinkham charged.

"I submit that it is a letter no senator should receive without a feeling of resentment and indignation.

CITES ELECTION FUND

Tinkham read newspaper stories of Bishop Cannon's Wall Street activities and told the committee that the bishop had offices across the street from the Capitol. He took up Bishop Cannon's anti-Smith activities and brought out the fact that E. C. Jameson, of New York, gave him $65,300 in his fight against Smith.

"Who is Jameson?" Caraway inquired.

"He was the largest contributor to President Hoover's campaign," Timken said.

In asking the committee to subpena Bishop Cannon and all books and papers of the temperance and social section of the Methodist Church, South, from 1924 to date, Timken said he had prepared lists of questions to ask the bishop, but Caraway waived him away with "We will ask him in detail of your testimony."

LONDON, April 15.—(AP.)—The following official statement was issued from the Duke of York's residence today:

"Her Royal Highness, the Duchess of York, has cancelled her forthcoming engagements and she is not undertaking any further functions during the summer."

No further elucidation of this announcement was forthcoming, but it is one such as is issued in ordinary course when an interesting event is expected in the royal family.

The Duke and Duchess of York have one child, Princess Elizabeth, who was born in April, 1926. As the Prince of Wales is not married, Princes Elizabeth, as the child of the Duke of York, is in line for the royal throne.

Armster Offered to Buy Her Baby, Olga Says

Miss Edwards asserted Amster is the father of her child, a charge Amster has emphatically denied from the witness stand.

"Amster visited me in California in 1924 when my boy Lee was six weeks old," Miss Edwards, testified. "He looked at my boy and said:

"He is beautiful and lovable and looks just like me. Olga, I will give you $100,000 if you will let me have the baby."

"I said 'No.'"

Miss Edwards testified that when she was in Los Angeles Amster wired her to meet him at the Hotel Alexandria, from which she said they later were ejected.

Olga said that in 1920 she got work in a stock company in Los Angeles and attended the Ruth St. Denis Dancing School, with Amster paying the bills.

Regarding her conversation with Amster in New York, the witness said that Amster talked about her future and sent her to a New York dramatic school.

"He gave me money to buy all my clothes," she said. "He didn't want me to go out with anybody else."

SWEETHEARTS OF SLAIN CAPITAL GIRL FACE GRILLING

OLD LETTERS REVEAL NAMES

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—The former sweethearts of Mary Baker, their names taken from letters of the murdered young Navy Department clerk or obtained from her friends, today came under rigid scrutiny of police in their intensive efforts to solve the mystery of her death.

Upon one theory the investigators were agreed—that the man who killed her and stuffed her bruised and bullet-ridden body into a culvert at Arlington National Cemetery last Friday night was someone with whom she was on intimate terms.

"We are compiling a list of men with whom Miss Baker was friendly," said William C. Gloth, prosecuting attorney of Arlington County, Va., "and we intend to question every one of them. If necessary, we will trace her friendships back five years or more."

QUIZ OLD SWEETHEARTS

A strict cross-examination of Miss Baker's old sweethearts was planned and they were required to give alibis and produce specimens of their handwriting for comparison with the torn scraps of a letter which were found near her body.

The police also planned a further questioning of witnesses who have given conflicting accounts of shots heard in the vicinity on Friday night, and a violent argument between a man and a woman in a small automobile similar to that driven by Miss Baker.

A detailed investigation of Fred Wilson, an architect working for the Treasury Department, was followed by an announcement that his alibi was found without a flaw.

CONCENTRATE ON MYSTERY

The Washington homicide squad was ordered to abandon every other case and concentrate upon solving the Baker mystery. Three other agencies were co-operating in the investigation—the Arlington County authorities, the Department of Justice and the Army, the last because of the fact that the body was found upon an Army reservation.

Miss Baker's automobile, streaked with blood, was found abandoned near the cemetery on Saturday morning and, after a long search, her body was discovered in the culvert, half a mile away.

POLICE WITNESS FEES CURBED

Following complaints by District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner against the mounting expense for court witness fees, Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh today issued drastic orders banning police as witnesses unless they are connected with court cases as arresting officers or investigators.

Walsh's order threatened suspension for any policeman or officer who ignores the order. It was directed to all police inspectors, captains and lieutenants on the force.

The action recalls County Commissioner C. C. McGovern's fight against police witness fees when he was county controller. At that time he charged that hundreds of police were collecting fees of $3 as witnesses in cases with which they had no connection.

EARLE'S 'HEART' TO WED YOUTH

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—(AP.)—Dolores Salazar, Spanish dancer, who recently won $17,000 damages from Ferdinand Pinney Earle, Paris artist, announced through friends today that she is engaged to marry John Holmes, 24-year-old son of the late Patton R. Holmes, Minneapolis (Minn.) flour milling magnate. The wedding has been set for June.

Miss Salazar has a suit for $150,000 damages, alleging breach of promise to marry and betrayal, still pending against Earle. Her first suit, won recently in a Superior Court hearing, charged Earle with breach of a pre-nuptial agreement in which she asserted he promised to settle $15,000 upon her. She testified she accompanied Earle on a tour of Mexico and across the Atlantic to Paris, where she declared he deserted her and married his fifth wife, Denise Loncin.

SAVAGE RIOTING BREAKS OUT IN INDIA

19, Including Europeans, Seriously Hurt In Clash Of Nationalists, Police

CALCUTTA, Bengal, India, April 15.—(AP.)—Nineteen persons were injured seriously in heavy fighting between Nationalists and police which developed around burning tram cars in the Bhowanipore Sikh quarter today. A mob, demonstrating against arrest and imprisonment of Mayor J. M. Sen Gupta yesterday, stoned a fire brigade which was attempting to subdue the flames.

Six European officers were among the injured, and one man named Durant was one of the 19 sent to hospitals. Ten Khalasis were injured.

Miss Dench, a London girl who attempted against police advice to ride a motorcycle through the riot section, was taken to a hospital with deep cuts from stones which the hostile mob flung at her. Her way was blocked and she had to run for her life amid a hail of broken road material.

The situation was not brought under control until late afternoon, after a riotous morning and early afternoon, in which there was firing by police, to which the mobs replied with showers of stones.

The general strike continued strictly observed in the Indian quarters. Armored cars which were called upon to aid in breaking up the fighting still patrolled the streets, which were littered with brick bats, road material, and broken clubs. Heavily armed police patrols were on duty at all important points.

Weather Conditions.

The skies are overcast over much the greater portion of the country west of the Appalachian Mountains, and it is raining at a number of places west of the Mississippi. Generous rains occurred over large areas over the corn and wheat belt during the last 24 hours, and there are good indications for additional rains over the states west of the Mississippi River today and tonight, also eastward into the Ohio Valley states. The cloudy and rainy conditions are due to a low pressure area now centered over Southern Colorado and Kansas, and a trough formation extending northwestward to a center in Southern Alberta.

A vast high pressure area is centered over the Hudson Bay section of Canada, and extends southward over the lake region and the North and Middle Atlantic states. Cool weather is general over the country and over Canada the temperatures are considerably below freezing.

SHOALS LEASE FAVORED

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—The Norris and all other Muscle Shoals measures were abandoned today by the House Military Committee, and a subcommittee was appointed to draft a new measure to provide for the leasing of the project to private concerns.

At an executive session the committee decided that none of the bills before it could meet the approval of Congress at this session.

The only method by which action for disposal of the project could be assured was held to be one to provide for leasing the project, with provision for government operation to be undertaken in event satisfactory leasing arrangements could not be made.

VARE POWER DECLARED WANING

Veto of James as Chairman For Davis-Brown Seen As 'Easing Out' of Leader

PHILADELPHIA, April 15.—(AP.)—Speeding up of the campaign for the nomination of the ticket headed by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for United States Senator, and Francis Shunk Brown for Governor was planned today by Bernard J. Myers, of Lancaster, newly appointed chairman of the Davis-Brown State Campaign Committee.

Announcement yesterday of Myers' appointment came as a surprise in some quarters, for on Sunday night William S. Vare had announced at his Atlantic City home that Lieut. Gov. Arthur H. James had accepted the place. The lieutenant governor was in the Vare home when the statement was given out.

Vare's announcement had been accepted by supporters of the Philadelphia organization as an ironing out of the difficulty created in upstate circles when James, whose home is in Luzerne County, withdrew as a candidate for the supreme court nomination in favor of Judge George W. Maxey, of Lackawanna County. Vare had insisted on the slating of James.

DOMINATION SEEN AT END

These and other developments indicate, in the belief of many political observers, that Vare's influence in the Philadelphia Republican organization is not as dominating as it was before he was stricken with paralysis in August, 1928. Members of the "war board" were silent on the question, but in the political rialto, Myers' appointment was taken as a demonstration that Vare gradually was being eased out of the leadership.

Myers announced today that state headquarters would be opened in the Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, tomorrow. Myers left for the state capital today, and said it is his plan to be in Harrisburg two days each week, three days at the Philadelphia headquarters and one day at Pittsburgh.

Phillips Here to Speed Campaign as Anti-Dry

Thomas W. Phillips, of Butler, Pa., anti-dry candidate for governor, arrived in Pittsburgh today for a conference with leaders in charge of his campaign in Western Pennsylvania.

Phillips declared that he was a candidate as a matter of principle rather than through any desire to hold office. He said he would not have run if any other candidate had declared for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the state Snyder act.

"Present conditions," declared Phillips, "are unsatisfactory to the people. They are ideal for political machines because they can collect graft from the illegal liquor traffic."

Senator Joseph R. Grundy, candidate to succeed himself, was forced to postpone an expected visit here today until later in the week and probably will arrive Friday, according to his local political lieutenant, State Senator James J. Coyne.

ARMSTRONG IN CHARGE

Philadelphia headquarters of the Davis-Brown ticket announced yesterday that County Commissioner Joseph O. Armstrong, in addition to managing the Allegheny County campaign, would also act as advisor to the state executive committee and the western committee.

Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell has been named chairman of the territory west of the Alleghenies, excepting Allegheny County. Each county will pick its representative to so-operate with Mackrell.

Amazing Increase Shown In Women Officeholders

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—Almost unnoticed, women are slipping into local elective and appointive posts, from justice of the peace to alderman, at a rapid rate.

That discovery was made by the League of Women Voters in a survey of four states, sampled as typifying the situation throughout the country.

An increase of more than 100 per cent in five years was noted in Connecticut, Michigan and Wisconsin, while Minnesota showed a decided gain.

Connecticut, with a record of 20 women members in its state legislature, jumped from 134 to 652 women officeholders between 1925 and 1929.

Michigan showed an increase from 367 women officeholders in 1927 to 793 in 1929. It's women justices of the peace numbered 28, a jump from three in a two-year period.

Wisconsin had 62 women officeholders in 1926 and 171 in 1929. Minnesota's increase was from 227 to 348, all in elective offices, the number of women appointed to office remaining practically stationary.

Store Looks to Future, Installs Television

"Ladies' ready-to-wear department? Mrs. Jones phoning.

"May I see the new color schemes on those Easter dresses?

"Oh, they are beautiful. I didn't think the pastels would show so well over the telephone. Yes, you may send me out three of them."

Such is not the opening situation of a Michael Arlen novel or the curtain-raising scene of an English drama, but a concise picture of what will be possible right here in Pittsburgh—say five years from now. Television will do the trick, according to Edgar Kaufmann, of Kaufmann's store, Fifth avenue, who has foreseen the possibilities of the invention and installed necessary wiring to care for such an occasion.

NAVAL BUILDING RACE SEEN DUE TO PARLEY

portant, was the return to the worst methods of secret diplomacy. All discussions of any importance occurred behind closed doors in the sitting-rooms of West End hotels or in the old world atmosphere of St. James' palace.

Public in Dark

THE public, who have to find the money to build fleets, who have to fight if war breaks out, and who suffer whether they are the vanquished or victors, were never informed what was going on.

The proposed new treaty will inaugurate an era of armament building, rather than disarmament.

Britain and America will maintain fleets of 15 battleships each at an annual cost of maintenance alone of between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000.

Financially-embarrassed Japan will maintain nine super-dreadnaughts, with an annual charge of $25,000,000.

There is no valid reason why these battle fleets could not be cut in half without alteration of relative strength, but with an immense saving to taxpayers.

Cruiser parity between Britain and the United States has been achieved at last, but at what a cost!

By the forthcoming treaty Britain will maintain 50 cruisers of a total of 339,000 tons, and must build only 12,500 tons to achieve this.

The United States must build 143,000 cruiser tons which will cost $146,400,000.

Britain on Watch

THE British admiralty maintains that while granting parity to America they must watch the continent and the sea lords have insisted on the right to lay down keel for keel for every French and Italian cruiser commenced.

These two, who are fellow members with Britain on the League of Nations are likely to commence a shipbuilding race on their own account. The Italians claim parity with France and are maintaining this right just as Britain and America do. The French refuse to admit parity, although they conceded it at Washington in 1921, and they will doubtless try to outbuild their Mediterranean rivals.

If this happens, and the British admiralty maintains the bi-lateral policy which it has managed to do up to now, all carefully agreed ratios between Britain, United States and Japan will be scrapped and the three nations will dance to the tune set by France and Italy.

This will result from the "escalator clause" by which each nation may claim the right to violate the treaty after informing the other signatories that political conditions force such action.

With perfect logic in their memorandum of December 20, 1929, the French insisted on discussing the use of fleets as well as tonnage and gun-power, saying:

"Just as a general and technical agreement upon armaments implies previous political agreements, so does a complete naval agreement presuppose an understanding on the question of freedom of the seas, defining the rights of belligerents and the rights of neutrals."

MacDonald's Views

IT is not that before he visited President Hoover Prime Minister MacDonald was not fully aware of the importance of threshing out the "freedom of the seas."

Just prior to the general elections last May, he, as leader of his party, wrote the official foreword to labor's authorized campaign pamphlet, saying:

"Freedom of the seas is preeminently an Anglo-American problem and until it is removed from the field of dispute. Anglo-American co-operation in world affairs cannot be securely founded."

Subsequent to Mr. MacDonald's return from Washington, it was gradually extracted from members of his cabinet in the House of Commons that the British and American delegates had agreed among themselves before the conference started that the subject of freedom of the seas was taboo.

As far as the conference was concerned then, although war had been outlawed, the right to impose a maritime blockade had not.

It would be most interesting to know the real reason for the agreement not to discuss this most vital subject, which contains the principle for which America twice went to war—once with Britain and once with Germany.

As the right to exercise the blockade in one of those "unthinkable wars" when it breaks out has been adhered to by agreement between two of the world's most powerful navies, and as those navies made it most clear that they intend to remain the most powerful by retaining their great battlefleets, it is hardly wondered at that lesser navies clung to the submarine.

Indeed, one of the most curious results of the conference is the production of a set of rules for the conduct of submarines attacking unarmed, peaceful merchantmen on trade routes in some future war. Set this off against the same conference's decision to build bigger and better submarines.

Favorable to Piracy

The rules for "humanizing" submarine warfare are more favorable to piracy than the unratified Root resolutions of the Washington conference.

Unlawful submarine warfare brought America into the war to make the world safe for democracy.

Now, the pirates are given a charter of legality by a carefully drawn set of rules as to how they must conduct themselves when sinking cargo vessels, whether American or other nationalities, and whether they are President Hoover's foodships or merely peaceful traders carrying cotton, rubber or motorcars.

But remember that when abolition of the submarine was discussed at one of the plenary sessions, Premier Andre Tardieu, of France, bluntly asserted that the submarine was the only answer of the smaller powers to the long-range blockade by the great maritime nations.

Finally let me say that because, ever since the conference opened, the delegates and their experts and advisers have been thinking in terms of war and not peace, inflated armaments remain and the taxpayers must foot the bill.

Opening of Trout Season Lures State Anglers

Fishermen today were wading the mountain streams, getting an early start on the season for trout, which opened at midnight. For the first time in several seasons fair weather prevailed when the season opened. The State Fish Commission predicted that 50,000 persons would be seeking trout tomorrow in various streams of the state. More than a million trout of legal size have been placed in streams by the commission.

SAFETY CLAUSE FIXED BY U. S. AND BRITAIN

America's Naval Conference Delegation Pack Up to Return Home Next Week

By HARRY B. FLORY,
International News Service.

LONDON, April 15.—British and American delegates to the naval conference here today worked out a successful "safety clause" for insertion in the naval limitation pact.

It affords the signing powers protection against competitive building by non-signatories.

The clause was worked out by United States Ambassador Hugh Gibson and First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander. It now will be submitted to the Japanese delegates for their approval.

While the drafting committee continued its feverish efforts to get the five-power agreement into shape for signing, members of the American delegation began packing up in the hope of sailing for home next Wednesday.

All are eager to have the work done by next Tuesday, when a plenary session is to be held. If the agreement can be signed on that day, the American delegation will leave the following morning aboard the Leviathan.

OMIT LIMITATION SCHEME

The committee's scene of action is the famous tapestry room of St. James' Palace. The place is littered with papers and remnants of meals the committeemen snatch hurriedly while working, and from its doors issues a babel of tongues.

Five nations and four languages are represented on the committee, and the snatches of conversation heard from outside are far from euphonious.

Due to Italian objections, it was learned definitely today that methods of limitation will not be incorporated in the treaty.

CONTROVERSY CLEARED

Any controversial items which may have remained in the tripartite agreement between Britain, America and Japan were cleared away today at a conference between the Japanese Admiral Takarabe and the American delegates.

Hoover's Speech Before D. A. R.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP)—President Hoover pointed last night to the London Naval Conference, the Kellogg Peace Treaty and the League Court as markers along the great road to peace which lies in the prevention of war.

The naval conference, he said, will provide actual reduction in armament and strengthen the forces of peace.

"It is an accomplishment that has great material advantages to all its participants," he told the Daughters of the American Revolution, in a speech of welcome at the opening of their thirty-ninth annual congress, "but I prefer to have it judged on the far higher grounds of its contribution to the moral and spiritual welfare of our people and the world."

Cites Pledge for Peace

The President expressed confidence the United States would become a member of the League Court upon the solution of contentions over special stipulations under which the country should participate.

He reminded the audience that through the Kellogg-Briand pact, this nation "solemnly pledged ourselves not only to renounce war but to seek means for pacific settlement of all international differences."

"I do not put this duty to you upon a basis of self interest," the President said, "although it is inevitable that the failure of civilization in any part of the world at once brings distress within our own doors. I have no occasion to emphasize this duty by pointing out the horrors and degradation of war.

"Those who really know war never glorify it. I have seen too much of the tragic sufferings of men, women and children, of the black shadows that ever run on the heels of war, to wish to recall those scenes. I hope never to see them again. I know this nation can help to make war impossible and that it should so help."

Sees U. S. in Court

There are few persons who do not agree, Mr. Hoover said, as to the desirability and necessity of such a court as the league court as an addition to the methods of pacific settlements.

"The contentions on this question rest upon the details of special stipulations under which we should join," he said. "It is not my purpose to go into these contentions here. I have no doubt they can be solved and that the United States will become a member of the court."

Regarding the London Naval Conference, the chief executive said that under the terms now being finally formulated there has been brought about an actual reduction "in the armament of three nations, of about 25 per cent less than the standards discussed during the conference which failed at Geneva three years ago, and assurance of a reduction of about 12 per cent below present naval programs as rapidly as the present ships become obsolete."

But most important of all," Mr. Hoover asserted, "it has been able finally to turn the tide of constantly increasing naval arms and to end the poison of suspicion and ill will generated by constant rivalry in construction.

Praises Naval Parley

"We have been able to create a situation where there is neither inferiority nor superiority in the naval strength of the United States. This is consonant with the pact we have solemnly entered by which we have pledged ourselves to use our arms solely for defense.

"We are stronger in defense as a result of the conference. It is an accomplishment that I believe will appeal to the moral and spiritual sense of the American people."

The settlement of the Bolivia-Paraguay and Tacna-Arica disputes are instances, the President said, which have advanced the methods of conciliation.

Turning again to the League Court, he said, through precedent and treaty, "The world is building every year a larger and larger body of international law and practice."

"Statesmen over a generation have realized that with this growth of international law and precedent another method can be contributed to the Pacific settlement of a vast number of incidental controversies of justifiable character if the world had an international court to which such cases could be referred for adequate hearing and independent decision based upon law and justice," he continued.

The League Court is such a court, he added, and, established "with the aid of American jurists," has been accepted by 90 per cent of the civilized people of the earth.

No other court, Mr. Hoover declared, is practicable.

Opposes Using Coercion

Every one of our presidents and every one of our secretaries of state, Mr. Hoover said, have recommended adherence to that court.

"No one can challenge the patriotism of these 10 men, nor the ripe wisdom which is theirs from having borne the actual burden of responsibility for our foreign relations.

"They have found no entanglement or limitation of the independence of the United States by safeguarded membership in it."

"I believe it is clear that the United States can more effectively and wisely work for peace without commitments to use coercion to enforce settlements," he added. He then referred to a statement issued jointly by himself and prime Minister MacDonald of England last fall, which, he said, "made our position clear."

"The part of each of our governments in the promotion of world peace will be different, as one will never consent to become entangled in European diplomacy and the other is resolved to pursue a policy of active cooperation with its European neighbors; but each of our governments will direct its thoughts and influence toward securing and maintaining the peace of the world."

VOTE OFFICIAL'S HOME BOMBED

CHICAGO, April 15.—(AP.)—The apartment of Attorney Charles Center Case, who recently resigned as counsel for the board of elections, was bombed late last night. The attorney was slightly injured by glass. Police called it a "scare bomb."

The bomb was tossed through a window of the glass-enclosed porch on the second floor and exploded as it struck. The property damage was not great, which prompted police belief that the bomb was intended as a warning rather than to cause injury to Case or members of his family.

Case's duties with the election board called for him to prosecute persons charged with vote frauds. Case said he had received several threats, by mail and telephone, presumably from friends of men he had prosecuted for fraudulent voting.

KONJOLA BRINGS QUICK RELIEF IN LONG ILLNESS

"This New Medicine Is Godsend to Humanity," Says Grateful Pittsburgh Man.

Surprising as it seems, Konjola, the new and different medicine, is at the very peak of its powers in those stubborn and obstinate cases that have defied and resisted all other medicines and treatments tried.

MR. ARTHUR JOHNSON

Yet it is not to be wondered at, for Konjola is really 32 medicines skillfully blended into one. Of Konjola's 32 ingredients, 22 are the juices of roots and herbs long known for their medicinal value. All who suffer and who would be well again are urged to get the facts about this medicine from the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is telling the wonderful story of this remarkable medicine, and passing out free samples and literature. Do not expect promises, claims or empty phrases, for Konjola is a medicine of deeds and achievements. Take, as a typical example of Konjola at work, the case of Mr. Arthur Johnson, 1123 Ingham street, Pittsburgh. Imagine his joy and surprise when he found in this new medicine just what he needed to end his suffering of twelve years. Just recently he said to the Konjola Man:

"This new medicine is a godsend to humanity. I say this after Konjola proved to me what it can do. I don't think anyone ever suffered more severely from stomach trouble than I did for twelve years. After every meal I was in distress from gas bloating and severe pains. For days at a time I could not eat or drink a thing without suffering afterward. I was very nervous and irritable, and had terrible headaches. I lay awake every night for hours before going to sleep. As the result of insufficient nourishment, and improper rest, I always felt exhausted and had to force myself to go to work.

"At first, I was skeptical about Konjola, as so many other medicines had brought only failure and disappointment. But the first two bottles of Konjola brought excellent results. Eagerly, I continued with the treatment. In six weeks I was like a man remade. I sleep so soundly that I had to buy an alarm clock to awaken me in the morning. I have a good appetite, and certainly enjoy eating foods I dared not taste before. My nerves have quieted, and headaches are gone. I give this indorsement to Konjola in the hope that others who suffer as I did will profit by my experience."

Thus Konjola works, quickly, yet thoroughly. One does not have to wait long for results when Konjola is given a chance.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. FREE SAMPLES GIVEN at this store. Konjola is sold also at all Dow Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

COLLEEN FILES DIVORCE SUIT

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—(AP.)—Colleen Moore, one of film-dom's highest-salaried actresses, filed a brief divorce complaint in Superior Court yesterday against her producer-husband, John McCormick. Mental cruelty was charged.

Several specific occasions were listed by Miss Moore in her complaint. On September 1, 1929, McCormick was alleged to have absented himself from a dinner party without explanation and in the same month was said to have ordered some of his wife's guests off the tennis court at the couple's Bel-Air home for no reason, and to the accompaniment of abusive language.

In January 1929 Miss Moore declared, the producer left home in an angry mood and remained away for several days, and in December, 1929, he ordered her out of their home.

The couple was married August 18, 1923, and separated March 7, 1930. A property settlement has been arranged and Miss Moore's complaint does not ask for any financial settlement. McCormick indicated he will not contest the suit.

Cat and Kittens Balk Census Taker

BALTIMORE, April 15.—(AP.)—A litter of kittens on a doorstep for a time held up the taking of the census in Baltimore. An enumerator was denied admittance by the householder who feared the cat and kittens would enter when the door opened. The enumerator returned later, found the porch clear, and secured his information.

In another house a census taker found a man who said he had been locked in by his wife and could not open a door or window. He told the enumerator to come back after his wife had returned.

MATE STABBED, WIFE HELD

Stabbed near the heart with a pair of scissors, Otto Kazmaier, 38, of 1323 Brookline boulevard, Overbrook, was in a critical condition today in the South Side Hospital. Police are holding his wife, Frances, 31, who they say did the stabbing.

According to police the couple engaged in a quarrel early today and the husband, alleged to have been drinking, is said to have struck his wife. Police say that during the argument the wife grabbed up the scissors and stabbed her mate.

Child Starts Blaze, Slav Village Burns

Barn Destroyed, Man Kills Self

TAX RULE AIDS PROFESSIONS

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(INS.)—Giving professional men an advantage in the preparation of federal tax returns by inclusion of additional earned income, new regulations on professional fees were issued today by the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Under the old regulations where a professional man employed an assistant over whom he exercised only perfunctory supervision, profits resulting from the labor of the assistant were not regarded as earned income by the employer unless his net income was less than $5,000 annually.

"It was not intended to deny the taxpayer the right to consider the entire amount received as professional fees as earned income if the taxpayer is engaged in a professional occupation such as a doctor or a lawyer, even though the taxpayer employs assistants who perform part or all of the services, provided the client or patient is that of the taxpayer and looks to the taxpayer as the responsible person in connection with the services performed," the new regulations provided.

Fees may be considered as earned income up to $30,000 annually.

SPEEDS BILLS FOR JOBLESS

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—A determined campaign to obtain congressional approval for his unemployment legislation is planned by Senator Wagner (Dem.), of New York.

He is confident of speedy passage by the Senate when his measures are taken up—probably late today or tomorrow—and then he intends to go direct to the leaders of the House and urge that they be expedited there.

For this appeal, he said today, he is counting heavily upon his assertions that the measures carry out the unemployment principles indorsed by President Hoover.

Senator Wagner has prepared three bills, two of which are on the Senate calendar for consideration as soon as action is taken on the George immigration measure. These two would expand the present machinery for collecting employment statistics and set up an employment stabilization board for long-time planning of public works to offset depression periods.

The third bill would create a Federal employment system to cooperate with state agencies. He hopes to obtain consideration for this measure together with the others, although objection has been raised to this procedure.

REWARD SPURS HUNT FOR FLIER

CHICAGO, April 15.—(INS.)—A reward of $500 today spurred on the aerial search for Ralph Fisher Skelton, artist and aviator who disappeared Thursday when he set out from Ann Arbor, Mich., to fly across Lake Michigan to Chicago.

Several troops of Boy Scouts have volunteered to search the sand dunes and swamp land near Chesterton, Ind., where a plane was reported in difficulty. The description of the plane fitted the biplane flown by Skelton.

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., April 15.—(INS.)—Rewards totaling $1,000 today urged on searchers combing Eastern New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania for Ralph White, student pilot, who disappeared in a thick fog Sunday while flying a training plane. He especially asked them to interrogate his divorced American wife, whom he married as Christian Kramer in the United States 10 years ago.

POISON GINGER TOLL GROWS

BOSTON, April 15.—(AP.)—Medical means of combating cases of paralysis believed caused by drinking Jamaica ginger were sought here today with the toll over the state during the week-end having risen to two score and more.

Sixteen persons have been taken to hospitals in Worcester, 13 in Newburyport, nine in Lawrence and three in Westford. Two women are among the six cases reported at the Boston City Hospital. The victims all are suffering from partial paralysis of the limbs. No deaths have occurred and none are believed to be in a serious condition.

Study of symptoms of the cases, Dr. George H. Bigelow, state health commissioner, said, indicated that they were not caused by wood or grain alcohol. A search for higher alcohols of special toxicity or poisonous constitutents was begun.

The Harvard Medical School has offered its aid in testing samples of liquor consumed by those afflicted.

SNYDER GIVEN TERM, APPEALS

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 15.—(AP.)—District Attorney Charles A. Snyder was sentenced to pay a fine of $2,500 or serve three months in prison on charges of contempt of court. Snyder, former state treasurer, was convicted last week by the Schuylkill County Court sitting en banc.

After passing sentence, the court at once allowed Snyder a writ of supersedeas. The case will be taken to the Superior Court which will certify it to the State Supreme Court. A hearing in the Supreme Court will be held May 12, it was announced.

Snyder last week also was ordered to be disbarred and that action, too, was taken to the Supreme Court. A hearing on that case also was set for May 12.

Both actions against the district attorney resulted from statements he was alleged to have made during the last primary campaign. The court held that the statements were an attempt to intimidate it in proceedings then pending before it.

RICHMOND, Va., April 15.—(AP.)—George P. Hutchinson, of Baltimore, and formerly of Richmond, last night announced plans for a "lone eagle" flight from California to Paris, via Richmond and New York under sponsorship of a group of Richmond businessmen.

Hutchinson said the proposed flight would be made next June. His hop from California to Richmond will be non-stop, he said, to be followed immediately by a hop to New York and then to Paris. The 24-year-old flier hopes, he stated, to break Col. Lindbergh's record of 33 hours.

TARIFF CAUCUS UNLIKELY

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—Following assurances made by Chairman Hawley, of the Ways and Means Committee, to Representative Estep, of Pittsburgh, that the House conferees on the tariff bill would "do anything within reason" to adjust schedules on products manufactured in Pennsylvania, the necessity of calling a caucus dimmed, and Representative Leech, of Ebensburg, who first sponsored the caucus idea declared the delegation's objective had been achieved.

Estep, a member of the Ways and Means Committee, said after conferring with Hawley, that the House conferees were most desirous of avoiding a Pennsylvania caucus, because it might have an insurgent effect in other states where dissatisfaction over schedules has been expressed.

It was indicated, Estep said, that amendatory phraseology sustaining in part at least the Pennsylvania position on anthracite coal, ammonium sulphate and manganese ore would be written in the bill. A change also in the cement schedule phraseology seemed likely, he added.

Gambling or No Shops, Decree Spaniards

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, April 15.—(AP.)—Business men of this Spanish Monte Carlo said they would close their shops through the summer season unless the government permits gambling to be resumed in the magnificient casino here.

They so decided at a mass meeting yesterday, asserting that tourists no longer were coming here and that they were losing much money as a result. Gambling was suppressed here by Primo De Rivera, former dictator.

The king and queen and other members of the royalty often visit the resort during the summer season.

ORDERS RETURN OF MUMBULOS

ALBANY, N. Y., April 15.—(AP.)—Gov. Roosevelt has signed extradition papers for the removal of Ralph H. Mumbulo, 34, and his wife, Edna, 37, to Erie County, Pa., where they will face murder charges growing out of the death of Hilda Mumbulo, 11, the husband's daughter by a previous marriage.

Hilda died of burns suffered March 26 at the Mumbulo home in Erie, Pa. The state contends that the fire was of incendiary origin and that the Mumbulos conspired to bring about Hilda's death in order that an inheritance of about $7,000 she had from her mother might go to them.

Ward N. Truesdell and Percy Thomas represented the defendants during the hearing, conducted in the Governor's mansion. Truesdell said the request of Gov. John S. Fisher, of Pennsylvania, for removal of the couple to that state was not a proper one, because it was not supported by affidavits. Otto Herbst, district attorney of Erie County, said the application was altogether in accordance with Pennsylvania practice.

South Brownsville Entered in Finals

New Castle Firm Wins Paving Work

NEW CASTLE, Pa., April 15.—City Council awarded the contract for repaving Croton avenue, Grant street and Butler avenue to Woods and Golder Construction Company, of New Castle, on a bid of $93,382.50.

F. F. Miller, city engineer, had recommended the contract be awarded to the Victor Olsen Construction Company, of Youngstown, O., on a bid of $210.50 less than that of Woods and Golder, but after long discussion it was voted to give the work to a local concern.

50 INDICTED IN RUM ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, April 15.—(INS.)—With more than 50 persons indicted by the Federal grand jury in Trenton, deputy United States marshals in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania today were engaged in one of the greatest liquor roundups since prohibition. Among the men indicted were Charles McGuire, chief of police of Keansburg, N. J., and Charles Weiner, a motorcycle policeman of Elizabeth, N. J. All were involved in a huge liquor conspiracy, it was charged.

The rum ring, according to prohibition officials, operated on a gigantic scale, owning six freighters, 10 speedboats, a radio station and a roadhouse. It was said to have done a weekly business of more than $1,000,000.

The existence of the ring, which was said to be operating now despite investigation, was revealed by an intercepted message sent from the combine's radio station. Headquarters of the ring were said by the authorities to have been near Atlantic Highlands, N. J., where an armored citadel was maintained.

ANGLERS' FIGHT FATAL TO ONE

FAIRMONT, W. Va., April 15.—(AP.)—Shot in the face during a quarrel betwen two groups of boys on a river bank at Mannington last night, Tulsa Bonnell, 17, died in the Cook Hospital here. Lawrence Floyd Bane, also 17, is being held in the Mannington jail on a technical charge.

According to the police, Floyd and a number of companions had been fishing and built a fire on the river banks. They were attacked, they said, by Bonnell and a number of companions who threw stones at them. Floyd, police said, admitted having gone to his home, procured the gun and of having fired at Bonnell. Floyd was arrested by state police.

ATTACK PLANES IN ARMY TEST

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 15.—(AP.)—Simulated battles 15,000 feet over Mather Field were ordered by the Army's Air Corps First Provisional Wing Headquarters here today as the latest phase of the maneuvers being held here.

Bombardment planes, supported by attack groups, functioning as "bi-place" or two-men pursuit ships, were directed to execute battle maneuvers at "high altitude."

The purpose was to give attack planes a chance to show what they could do as pursuit units.

Military experts were said to disagree on the value of single and "bi-place" pursuit planes. The regular army pursuit ships are single-men fighters, equipped with machine guns synchronized to shoot between whirling propeller blades. The attack planes carry six machine guns, two in the wings, two to shoot between the propellers and two in the rear cockpit.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(INS.)—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, newest member of the Supreme Court, has become its most prolific writer of opinions.

He delivered six of the 26 opinions handed down by the eight members yesterday, one of the biggest decision days of the year.

Three others, Justices Stone, Butler and McReynolds, delivered four opinions each.

The Pennsylvania Goodwill Air Tours plan to start an air tour of the state from the new City-County Airport May 30, according to a communication received by Council.

The tour, with about 25 planes participating, is to last nine days, making 18 stops.

Pittsburgh, Allegheny County and Philadelphia are being asked to underwrite the tour, the share of the city and county being placed at $1,750 each.

Each of the 18 places at which landings are to be made to prove that Pennsylvania is not "the graveyard of aviators," is asked to contribute $500. No profit is to be made.

PERSHING GETS OFFICES BACK

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—After three months on the first floor of the State, War and Navy building, Gen. Pershing's office will be restored in its beautiful second floor suite within the next few days, but he will not be able to enjoy the change for several months.

The former wartime commander, now chairman of the Battle Monument Association, yielded his office suite to President Hoover when fire ruined the executive offices of the White House last winter.

Since then Gen. Pershing and his assistants have occupied two small rooms. Gen. Pershing sailed last Saturday on the Leviathan for France, where he will assist the battle monuments work during the summer.

Scorned Audience Menaces Chaliapin

BELGRADE, April 15.—(INS.)—Feodor Chaliapin, the basso, was severely criticized by the press and public today for display of temperament last night when he refused to go on with his concert because the hall was only half-filled.

When it was announced that Chaliapin would not go on, the audience indulged in a display of temperament all its own, the management breaking up the hostile demonstration with difficulty.

HAIFA, Palestine, April 15.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)—Two Arabs were acquitted here of charges of murdering Abraham Motel, railway man, during the riots of last August. Witnesses for the prosecution gave conflicting testimony.

Trial of five Jebron Arabs, at Jerusalam, charged with murder of six Jews housed in the home of Naaman Segal, began yesterday. Trial of three Arabs, charged with the murder of three Jews also began at Jerusalem.

One of the last group of Arabs was sentenced to death previously after conviction of murder of a Jew in the House of Abushdid.

Browning Fights Dower Claim Of 'Peaches'

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP.)—Edward W. Browning, wealthy husband of Frances (Peaches) Browning, filed a motion in Supreme Court yesterday to dismiss the dower suit recently brought by his estranged wife.

He alleges he never promised to give her a share of his property held by the Edbro Realty Company and that even if he did it would be void because it was not in writing.

Mrs. Browning sued through her mother, claiming dower rights in 24 parcels of property. She said he promised her a share in the property during his courtship.

BACON CIPHER SALE ORDERED

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP.)—Sale to some public institution of the famous Cipher manuscript of Roger Bacon was ordered in the will of Wilfred M. Voynich, bibliophile and authority on medieval manuscripts, filed here for probate.

The sale is to be negotiated by the widow, by Miss Anne M. Hill, of New York, and Dr. William Warner Bishop, of the University of Michigan, and Prof. John Manly and Prof. Westfall Thompson, of the University of Chicago. Each is to receive $3,000 for his trouble.

The will also gives 10 per cent of the proceeds to the widow of Prof. William Romaine Newbold, of the University of Pennsylvania, who aided Voynich in the discovery of the key to the Cipher; 5 per cent to Prof. Roland G. Kent, of the same university, and the balance to the residuary estate.

The residue is divided between the widow, Mrs. Ethel Lilian Voynich, a novelist, and Miss Hill, a collaborator of Voynich.

The Cipher, supposed to contain scientific discoveries and speculations which the Thirteenth Century Franciscan friar feared to make public during his life, was discovered by the testator in an Italian castle in 1912.

ECKENER SAILS AFTER SURVEY

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP.)—Dr. and Mrs. Hugo Eckener sailed for Europe on the Hamburg-American liner Reliance last night after a three weeks' visit in the United States in the interest of founding the International Zeppelin Transport Company, Dr. Eckener, while here, also considered possible sites for a Zeppelin airport on the Atlantic seaboard.

Dr. Eckener said he was greatly encouraged by what had been accomplished, but that it would take at least two years for the Zeppelin company to build its four Zeppelins and start trans-Atlantic service. One of three sites in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia will eventually be chosen for the company's airport, he said.

ELMAN PUSHES ZIEGFELD SUIT

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP.)—Mischa Elman, violinist—and composer, has asked the Supreme Court to compel Florenz Ziegfeld to carry out the terms of a settlement last June of a $100,000 suit. The suit was brought by Elman for breach of contract on the ground that Ziegfeld did not produce Elman's comic opera, "Soldiers of Fortune."

Under the settlement Elman was to keep $10,000 he received on account, of which a quarter came from T. B. Harms, who was to have published the music. Elman said he, Gene Buck, who wrote the lyrics, and Augustus Thomas, who wrote the book, were to get their work back.

In his application to the court, Elman, through his attorney, charged that Ziegfeld had done nothing toward obtaining a release from the music publisher and the return of the opera to its authors.

COLLECTION AID DISCUSSED

Pittsburgh aldermen are cooperating with the Retail Credit Men's Association in the collection of bills, it was stated last night by R. J. Leahy, of Alderman C. B. Quigley's office, in an address before the credit men in the Congress of Women's Clubs. Leahy said that 80 to 85 per cent of judgments recorded are given by default.

Mr. Leahy pointed out that the automobile is offering a means for collecting bills, cars frequently being attached for the payment of past due accounts. He declared that aldermen wish to co-operate with the association. President Harry E. Wilson, of the organization, thanked him for the expression.

LUTHERANS TO BUILD COLLEGE

PHILADELPHIA, April 15.—(AP.)—Plans for a national college for women under the supervision of the United Lutheran Church were announced here by the Rev. Dr. J. Henry Harms, president of the board of trustees of the new college.

Dr. Harms said the institution, to be known as Grace College, would be located in Maryland, just outside of Washington, D. C., on the Washington-Gettysburg highway. Students of any religious belief will be welcome, he said.

Definite steps toward the foundation of the college were taken two days ago at a conference here. Bernard K. Schaefer, of New York, was elected chairman of the general organization committee, and E. Clarence Miller, of this city, treasurer. Miller stated that assets of $235,000 and pledges of $50,000 had been obtained toward the initial founding fund of $1,600,000.

The trustees named Miss Jessie Truman, of Norwalk, Conn., to be dean of the college, which will be erected on a 189-acre tract of land. Plans have been drawn for a group of Georgian buildings, including an administration building, library and auditorium, dining hall, dormitories and gymnasium.

12 FACE COURT IN RUM PLOT

LAKE CHARLES, La., April 15.—(AP.)—Twelve defendants, including Dan Hogan, alias "New York Johnnie," were arraigned in Federal Court here on charges of conspiracy to violate the American tariff and the national prohibition laws in coast liquor smuggling. The arraignment reflected the case of the famous "I'm Alone" rum schooner of Capt. John Thomas Randall, sunk in the Gulf of Mexico by the Coast Guard.

Pleas of not guilty were entered by counsel for the group. Trial was set for next week.

The cases to be tried here deal specifically with the alleged shipments of carloads of liquor smuggled in from rum ships and shipped as rice through the Gueydan Station, La., to the East and said to involve a wholesale conspiracy of national scope.

The schooner "I'm Alone" was one of a fleet of liquor boats operated by the defendants in the alleged conspiracy, according to governmental contention.

Modify Smallpox Ban At Franklin

FRANKLIN, Pa., April 15.—Conference of Franklin's Ministerial Association, merchants and the Chamber of Commerce and three state doctors, including Dr. J. M. Campbell, of the department of diseases, Harrisburg, resulted in modifying the ban on public meetings. The restraint is effective until 7:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Action followed the order of Sunday forbidding church services and motion picture shows until next Friday because of a case of smallpox at Nineveh, Clarion County, the patient, the Rev. I. H. Carmichael, having been in this vicinity two weeks ago.

Two hundred persons of the affected Clarion County area have been vaccinated. The minister's wife is ill, apparently with the same disease.

AS GOOD AS A TRIP TO EUROPE

Mr. Jos. Guzzo, of Wellsville, Ohio, who comes from Austria, used to believe that he had to go back to the old country every few years for a rest of several months in order to keep strong and healthy. Now he has found a better way. Here's what he says:

"We newcomers to America have to get used to living and working in a very different way from what we were accustomed to in the old country. This makes an awful strain and many times our health breaks down as in my case. I had severe pains in my back and limbs. When I would stoop over my back felt like it would break, and my head would become dizzy. I had to take different kinds of pills and physics all the time. Ordinary American medicines don't seem to do us Europeans much good. I used to think that the only thing for me to do was to go back to the old home in Austria for a complete rest every few years. I would work until I got so sick I could not work any more, then go back home to Austria, rest up for several months, then come back here and start over again. This cost me a lot of money and I know now that there is a better way for me.

"World's Tonic, as I have learned, is made up of powerful medicines brought from many parts of the world. That is why it has the health-giving strength of a trip to Europe. I use World's Tonic regularly and keep well and strong. This way I can keep working steadily and save my money. I used to have to spend all I could save on going back and forth to Europe, and I never got ahead. Now we have a nice home, all paid for, and money in the bank. I owe it all to World's Tonic."

World's Tonic is on sale at Dow's, May's & Liggett's, Mayflower, and all other modern drug stores. (A-9)

Soap Bar Aids Man to Regain Lost Memory

BATESVILLE, Miss., April 15.—(AP.)—A bar of soap floating in a tub brought back to H. J. Sailor, 29, soap salesman of Kansas City, Kan., his own identity that he lost more than a week ago, he told Dr. G. H. Wood.

Sailor cleared up part of the mystery surrounding himself. He fell off an automobile and struck his head, he said. He was unable to account for the whereabouts of his car, however. He was believed to have been slugged and robbed until he regained his memory.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 15.—A warning that recommendation would be made that he be deported if he again appeared on a liquor charge was given Steve Vince, of Crucible, by Judge A. H. Sayers, who sentenced Vince to six months in the workhouse. It was his third appearance on a liquor charge.

1 DEAD, SEVERAL HURT IN BLAST

CARTHAGE, Mo., April 15.—One workman was killed, another was injured probably fatally, and several were cut by flying debris late yesterday by an explosion of 7,000 pounds of nitro-glycerin in a storehouse of the Hercules powder plant five miles southwest of here. The blast rocked the countryside, extending to Carthage and other nearby towns.

No trace of the body of Melvin Spry, 33, who was in the storage house at the time, could be found. Physicians held little hope for the recovery of James Mers.

Several of the other isolated units at the plant were damaged. The blast occurred 20 minutes after most of the 75 workers had quit for the day. The cause of the explosion was not determined.

NIECE OF BOOTH DIES AT 86

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP.)—Mrs. Blanche de Bar Booth-Riddell, niece of Edwin Booth, in whose stock company she once played, died yesterday at Brunswick Home on Long Island. She was 86.

She was born in Philadelphia, and was educated in a convent. She made her first stage appearance in "She Stoops to Conquer," with her uncle, Ben de Bar. After some time in stock she played Ophelia to Edwin Booth's Hamlet and later in Joseph Jefferson's "Rip Van Winkle," and in the companies of Mrs. John Drew and John T. Ford.

She had been under the care of the Actors' Fund of America since 1905.

"Helen's Baby Has Very Poor Parlor Manners!"

That's what Helen's friends say. Never to Helen, of course. They wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world. But they never tell her that her baby is a most unsociable little chap.

Helen has a host of friends—and they avoid fondling her baby as often as they can. They love it, just the same, but they can't bear a child that cries continually, and is really too irritable to be loved.

Helen's baby is a pretty boy—but a cry-baby. Helen thinks that irritability is natural in a young baby. She thinks all babies cry. She says that all babies have rashes and skin irritation from the diapers, and that her's is no exception.

But Helen is wrong!

If she would properly protect her baby against the irritating bacteria in the diaper—if she would give her baby's body protection against chafing and galling soreness her baby would not be in pain, it would not be a cry-baby, and its whole life would be happier.

Helen should anoint her baby's entire body daily with Mennen Baby Oil—and after every diaper change she should massage the buttocks and thighs. The oil will soften and keep the skin smooth, and act as a water-proof coating in the diaper region.

Mennen Baby Oil should be gently rubbed into the folds and creases of the skin to prevent friction and chafing, and after the excess oil has been wiped off Mennen Borated Baby Talcum should be dusted over the entire body of the child to keep him sweet-smelling, cool and comfortable.

Special Offer! This week your druggist is offering a can of Mennen Borated Baby Talcum FREE with a purchase of a bottle of Mennen Baby Oil for 50c. Mennen Baby Oil is a sterilized blend of oils, properly medicated, pleasantly scented, and will not become rancid.

Another Doctor Endorses Flaxolyn

DR. CHARLES LESLIE LEWIS

"I Tried Flaxolyn Myself. Its Power to Do the Body Good Really Surprised Me!"

Following is a letter from Dr. Lewis of Pittsburgh to Dr. Harris H. Lunts (M. D., D. O.), the discoverer of Herbal Flaxolyn:

"Dear Dr. Lunts: When your Flaxolyn was first brought to my attention I must confess that I was mighty skeptical about the claims which were made for it by many of my friends who said they had taken it. One man was so enthusiastic about Flaxolyn and told me how wonderfully it had helped him, that, somehow or another, he convinced me that it might have merit.

"Being rather run down myself at the time, and recognizing the symptoms of auto-intoxication, I decided to try Flaxolyn myself. I felt that if it didn't do me any good, at least it couldn't do me any harm.

"I want to tell you now that I am well satisfied that Flaxolyn has genuine merit—it acts upon the stomach, liver and the intestinal tract in a natural and efficient way.

"As a rule I do not endorse any internal preparation, but I am so well satisfied that Flaxolyn can do an immense amount of good for the people here, that I am perfectly willing to allow my name and picture to be used in an open endorsement of Flaxolyn.

"I am not sufficiently versed in pharmaceutical circles to know what it is in Flaxolyn that makes it superior to any other preparation it has been my fortune to come in contact with, but I do know that I can sincerely recommend it as a remarkable aid to health."

You Need Not Be Sick to Receive Flaxolyn's Great Benefits

Flaxolyn is not only for sick people. The man or woman who feels 100 per cent fit at all times is rare. If you ARE sick, or generally ailing or rundown and tired out, you certainly should try Flaxolyn. In fact, it is a duty to yourself and to your family that you give this proven, meritorious prescription a fair trial.

If, however, you are not really sick, but feel that you could use greater strength and greater energy; if your friends tell you that you are not looking your best and you want that wonderful, natural good color that comes from a healthier condition, it would be a mighty good thing for you to get yourself a large, economical bottle of Flaxolyn and try it out for a while. See how it helps to bring a new sense of physical fitness. It drives out those intestinal toxic poisons which are so common even with people who think they are healthy. It activates the bile flow from the liver and stimulates the digestive fluids, so that you get more benefit from the food you eat.

GUARANTEE

Flaxolyn must bring a satisfactory health improvement by the sixth pleasant spoonful, or return the partly-used bottle to the drug store and get your money back.

Don't delay taking Flaxolyn. This pleasant-tasting, health product cannot hurt you and it may do you a tremendous amount of good. There are any number of folks right here who tell how the new Flaxolyn has put new pep in their step, new keenness in their appetite, new brightness in their faces, and new zest in their lives.

WEATHER AIDS BUSINESS —AYRES

More Optimism Noted as Building Work Increases And Steel Rate Firms Up

CLEVELAND, April 15.—Col. Leonard C. Ayres, noted statistician and vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company, notes an improvement in business sentiment with the advent of spring and lists various factors which he says are components of better business. In his latest bulletin on the business situation, Col. Ayers says in part:

With the coming of spring business sentiment is more optimistic. In part this is justified by the mere fact that spring is here, for agricultural work is getting under way, building operations are increasing, more people are thinking about buying automobiles and highway repair and construction can now go forward. There is more work to be done in the spring than in the winter, and as a result employment conditions are better, and will improve further. In the spring the march of business always strikes a swifter pace.

FAVORABLE CHANGES

During December, January, February and March the level of general business activity, as measured by the more reliable composite indexes of industry, has remained at about normal. There is not much actual statistical evidence of improvement, but there are some symptoms of betterment which are hopeful. Building construction is increasing; activity in the steel industry has stopped declining, and has turned up; the declines in the wholesale prices of commodities appear to have been checked, and the weekly figures for coal output are larger.

REFLECTED IN STOCKS

One important element in the improvement of business sentiment is to be found in the advances on the security markets. The prices of bonds moved up vigorously during the early part of March, and the advancing trend still continues. Stock prices have made important advances in recent weeks, so that some issues have actually exceeded their 1929 prices, and many others have regained much of what they lost last autumn. Such an advance of stock prices as this during slow times has always in the past been followed by business improvement not much later on.

PLENTIFUL CREDIT

As a foundation for business improvement we have an abundance of credit readily available on easy terms. This will not of itself cause business to improve, but it does facilitate the coming of better times. In the present instance it promises to be effective, for the value of new bond issues floated during March was not only much greater than in February, but actually well in excess of that of March of 1929. Money raised by the sale of bonds is, as a rule, promptly spent for new construction and equipment, and such expenditures are components of better business.

B. & O. Tries Out Cooling System For Diners

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 15.—The first railroad passenger car to manufacture its own temperature was successfully demonstrated by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here. It was a diner attached to a regular train operating between Baltimore and Cumberland. The temperature of the car was reduced 23 degrees in 20 minutes, despite the fact that the winter heating system was turned on in addition to the heat from the kitchen.

The test was made under direction of officials of the railroad and the Carrier Engineering Corporation, of Newark. It was a result of several experiments conducted by the two companies.

ELECTRIC WELD PIPE BOOMS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 15.—The Republic Iron and Steel Company is booked ahead for two months, operating day and night shifts and Sundays, in its new steel pipe department, manufacturing tubing by the electric welding process. Its one unit produces pipe up to seven inches in diameter, and another is under construction designed to manufacture tubing up to 16 inches.

The Republic product is produced from steel strips, rolled at the company's Trumbull plant. These strips come to the pipe department wrapped in oiled paper, so as to prevent rust.

The strips are fed into the pipe machines, and are formed and welded into pipe in one operation. The product is said to be one of the most superior on the market, with a high finish and free from irregularities.

The company is employing the Johnson process, and its small diametered pipe has proved so successful that demands are steadily growing. The smaller tubing is used principally for feeder lines for gas and oil.

Wants Market St. Tracks Abandoned

An ordinance introduced yesterday in Council called for the temporary abandonment of the Pittsburgh Railways Company tracks on Market street, between Third and Fourth avenues, and the abandonment of the curves at Third and Fourth avenues. An ordinance had been presented in Council calling for the vacation of a part of Willis street, Nineteenth Ward. This was requested by the Board of Education which plans to use the land as an enlargement of its playground and school garden.

LIFE INSURANCE SALES GAIN

NEW YORK, April 15.—The Association of Life Insurance Presidents reported that new insurance written by 44 companies during March amounted to $1,222,184,000, compared with $1,169,881,000 during March, 1929, a gain of 4.5 per cent. Total new business for the same companies during the first quarter was $3,220,857,000, as against $3,167,407,000 during the same period last year, an increase of 1.7 per cent.

Plan Zoning Change In New City Annex

Council today was considering an ordinance amending the zoning laws to include that portion of Ross Township recently annexed to the Twenty-sixth ward. The amendment, according to L. W. Monteverde, of the Planning Commission, meets with the general approval of all the property owners in the section. The matter was discussed at a public meeting in the Perry School April 3.

MERRY OLD COMEDY REVIVED—TERSELY TOLD TALES FROM HOLLYWOOD

'Charley's Aunt' as Funny As When She Was Young In Queen Vic's Time

By GEORGE SEIBEL

LIKE a ghost out of the graveyard of the past, "Charley's Aunt," that amusing lady from Brazil, "where the nuts come from," stalked across the stage of the Pitt Theater last night, while an audience that filled the house writhed in their seats with laughter. It is difficult to decide whether they laughed more at Robert Fiske's Dundreary whiskers or at the ancient silk dress worn by Hugh Banks as the Aunt. But they laughed—and as they surged out of the theater they were still laughing.

George Seibel

Now the reason of this cannot be kept from a curious world. "Charley's Aunt" is a very funny farce. Brandon Thomas probably did not know how funny it was when he wrote it. But the world speedily discovered it when it was first played in Queen Vic's day—and the world has been laughing at it ever since.

As literature it is mere froth and foam. As drama it is little more than a footrace in masquerade. But as fun it never stops after it once gets started. It leaves the "Comedy of Errors" and most of the other farcous farces at the first turnstile. But it's only froth and foam, and three schooners of it—one to each act—will not go to anybody's head.

REGULAR STAGE FROLIC

The George Sharpe Players treated the thing in the only way possible—as a regular stage frolic. The only way to keep the audience from guessing how trite it is and how frayed is to race through it and they raced. Back and forth in and fro, into the garden or into the dining room, wherever there was a door around the piano and over the sofa behind the table and back into the garden.

The only thing missing was a ladder to climb up and a cedar chest to crawl into.

Aside from the footwork there wasn't very much for anybody to do except look serious enough to be funny. Edith King and Mabel Croman had the further duty of looking sweet, which is not especially difficult for them. Lucette Parker also was cast for one of those simple and girlish roles. While Alice Ann Baker was further expected to look dignified amid the mad scramble.

The scene is supposed to be Oxford in England, but they all talked in accents neither Oxonian nor British, and it did not make the iota of difference because these goings-on couldn't happen anywhere except in the native time of the Mad Hatter.

"WHO'S HUGH'S DRESSMAKER"

There is only problem connected with this production. Who's Hugh Banks' dressmaker? His gown was a perfect fit, so perfect that the audience also had a fit. Rue de la Paix or Lucile, the program did not say. Perhaps from the wardrobe of King Tut's first wife—maybe from the trousseau of Pocahontas. And how Hugh wears it! He will surely be called on to lecture to clubs on the Well-Dressed Woman.

It will promote the feminist revolution to see Hugh smoking a pipe and a cigar in the most lady-like fashion.

Walter F. Jones and Alice Ann Baker had difficulty to keep an air of dignity and sobriety in this topsy-turvy rampage. But they actually did so, and Joseph Lawrence looked appropriately pompous as a butler, while Henry Wadsworth and Billy Link were the youthful scapegraces who are responsible for the masquerade because they are in love.

But all this has nothing whatever to do with the case. "Charley's Aunt" was created to make people laugh. It succeeded beyond the dreams of its creator. And it still fulfills the sublime object of all farce. It is as funny as ever.

Union Cabbies to Hold Benefit Dance

Union cab drivers will hold a benefit show and dance Wednesday evening, April 30, in Motor Square Garden. The entertainment, consisting of several acts, will be in charge of Dick Ware, master of ceremonies. John Nosakoff is chairman of the affair.

Next Alvin Drama Is 'Journey's End'

"Journey's End" will return to the Schubert Alvin as the Easter week attraction. Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday. The engagement is for one week only.

Romance

James Todd and Mary Holsman supply the young romantic interest in "Strange Interlude," which is in its final days in the Nixon.

"STRANGE INTERLUDE" IN ITS FINAL WEEK

"Strange Interlude," the Eugene O'Neill nine-act drama baring the soul of a woman in search of happiness, a process that involves the romantic interest of three men throughout a span encompassing a mature lifetime, began the third and final week of its run in the Nixon last night. Another large audience manifested the same interest in the terrific realism of this strange play that has caused the theater to be crowded nightly for two weeks.

Mr. Arlen Quits Politics For Lure of Sea

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 15.

DICK ARLEN has succumbed to the lure of the briny deep. Dick has upped and purchased a cruiser. He has named it Joby R. His better half is the title recipient—Jobyna Ralston. The cruiser will be officially launched in a few days.

The tragic sequence of the cruiser is it terminates young Arlen's political career in the Tulura Lake residential section. He can't boat and mayor, the electoral voters figure. It 'pears from one peering from the outside, that Charlie Farrell may succeed Dick to the mayorship. But then, Charlie has a boat, too. Oh, well, maybe they'll call the whole thing off.

IT'S APPLESAUCE!

RENEE TORRES traipsed in to see the high mogul at the Pan-American studio and was introduced to an admiring visitor.

"Oh, Miss Torres," rhapsodized the visitor, "you Latin's are so romantic. Tell me, how is it you make love so divinely—on the screen?"

"It ess veree easy. Just like makin' pie," said Renee.

"Like pie making?"

"Yes. All you need es a little crust and a great beeg lot of applesauce."

GARY COOPER slipped out of town last week and went a-visiting in Arizona within the vicinity of Seligman. There is a syndicate interested in Gary and his project of establishing a string of Gary Cooper dude ranches through the West. He has one that is active now. In Montana, which his father manages under his supervision. I am told that Gary's trip to Arizona was for the purpose of investigating an 80,000 or so acre ranch that rambles into hills and mountains. I am told that he is enthusiastic about the property and that probably within the next month his syndicate will close the deal that will make this another Gary Cooper dude ranch. That boy will know what to do when his picture days are over.

WHAT PRICE BATTLES!

JUST by way of figures: 3,100 pounds of dynamite and 87 ground and aerial bombs were used in the battle scenes of D. W. Griffith's film, "Abraham Lincoln."

MORE figures. The lingeries worn by Joan Crawford in "Our Blushing Brides" cost $150 per lingerie.

A SHORT time ago, whilst in New York, an automobile concern presented Will Rogers with a sumptuous car. Rogers promptly advertised:

"Owner will exchange new car for one already parked!"

Realtors to Hear Amelia Earhart

Miss Amelia Earhart, Boston social worker, who was the first woman to fly the Atlantic Ocean, was to speak today at the weekly luncheon of Pittsburgh Real Estate Board in the William Penn Hotel. Miss Earhart is now assistant to the general traffic manager of the Transcontinental Air Transport-Maddux Air Lines, Inc. Her subject was to be "The Development of Aviation."

Yellow Cab Service

This advertisement is published to provide the public with a correct understanding of the working force engaged in the resumption of Yellow Cab service. It is presented at the request of our drivers, who wish it clearly understood that they are regularly engaged in permanent positions and, to be falsely regarded as being engaged in strike-breaking, would do them and their families serious injury.

Every driver now engaged by the Yellow Cab Company is a loyal employe! We have no strike-breakers.

The following statistics are taken from the current payroll:

75.6 per cent. of the drivers now working were in our employ when the strike was declared January 12 of this year.

11.6 per cent. are men who, at different times, had been in our employ but were not with us when the strike began. They have returned to cab driving, at which they are experienced and capable.

12.8 per cent. are employes who have taken permanent employment with us. They are experienced drivers, with satisfactory recommendations.

Every driver now in our employ is a permanent resident of the Pittsburgh district.

These men, experienced in their work, loyal to themselves, their families and their employer, and satisfied with both wages and working conditions, maintain the right to honest employment without interference or insult.

They ask only to be regarded in proper light—as diligent, industrious American citizens, earning a living for themselves and families by serving the public.

RULING WAIVING JURIES AIDS DRY PLAN

Legality of Wickersham's Program Held Assured by Supreme Court Decision

By WILLIAM S. NEAL,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Characterized by constitutional lawyers as a history-making decision, the Supreme Court's ruling that jury trials may be waived in all cases may start a new drive for the Wickersham Crime Commission's so-called "juryless trial" plan of speeding prohibition cases, it appeared today.

The high court's decision came as the House Judiciary Committee was reported about to bury the Wickersham commission's court reform program and create new federal judgships instead.

The case has been closely watched by congressional constitutional authorities, many of whom were surprised by the court's decision.

ALL CRIMES INCLUDED

Although Chairman Wickersham, of the crime commission, had contended before the House committee that the court already had provided that jury trials could be waived in petty cases, opponents of the program questioned his interpretation of the high court's ruling.

The decision of Justice Sutherland in the case of three Oklahomans convicted of conspiracy to bribe a prohibition officer by a jury of 11 men, they consenting to it, and sentenced to eight years' imprisonment, apparently left no doubt of the legality of the principle of the Wickersham program.

Justice Sutherland pointed out that the court had specifically permitted waiver of jury trials in petty cases, and in yesterday's decision extended the principle to embrace the most serious federal crimes.

One part of the decision was construed in some quarters as placing doubt upon the Wickersham commission plan.

WARNED ON COERCION

Quoting a previous decision of the court, Justice Sutherland said any law which "destroys the substantial and essential feature" of the right of jury trial, is invalid.

The Wickersham commission plan, it was pointed out, placed a club in the hands of district attorneys to force accused persons to waive jury trials by permitting him to indict them under the Jones "five and ten law" if they appealed from a court commission to a jury.

This method of coercion, it is contended, is an attack upon the basis of the right of jury trial.

The high court, however, warned all courts in its decision to use the waiver power with discretion.

THEATER SALE AWAITS VOTE

Sale of the Harris chain of theaters in Western Pennsylvania and the Libson-Harris-Heidingsfeld group in Ohio and Michigan only awaits ratification of the stockholders, it was said today.

The deal involves $14,000,000. Under the negotiations virtually completed, the Harris Amusement Company's circuit of 17 houses, chiefly in Pittsburgh and the Western Pennsylvania district, would go to Warner Brothers. The Libson-Harris-Heidingsfeld group would go to Radio-Keith-Orpheum.

For the Harris circuit, the consideration is placed at $3,500,000, and for the other chain, with theaters in Cincinnati, Dayton and Columbus, O., and Grand Rapids, Mich., the consideration is placed at $10,500,000.

Founded by the late Senator John P. Harris, first man to operate a theater showing moving pictures exclusively, the Harris Amusement Company long held an important place in the entertainment field here. Since Senator Harris died more than three years ago, the business has been conducted by his brothers, D. A. and Frank J. Harris, and his son, John H. Harris. The majority of stock in the theaters is owned by the Harris family and friends.

The Harris group of theaters will remain under the management of the present Harris executives until finally transferred to the Warner Brothers interests upon the conclusion of the legal formalities.

COMMONS ACTS FOR RUM CURB

LONDON, April 15.—(AP.)—The House of Commons, by a vote of 215 to 142, today gave a Liberal member permission to introduce a bill to entitle the Board of Trade to suspend or cancel the certificate of any master, mate or engineer engaging in the illicit importation of intoxicating liquor into United States territory.

After Foot had spoken for 10 minutes advocating the measure, Frederick A. Macquisten, Conservative member from Argyll and a lawyer who sometimes acts professionally for the liquor trade, opposed the bill in a speech filled with humorous remarks.

RADIO TRIBUTE TO JEFFERSON

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—In a radio address climaxing the nation-wide birthday anniversary celebration of the author of the Declaration of Independence, Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, last night pictured Thomas Jefferson as a "glorious intelligent radical."

"Thomas Jefferson," he said, "may be described as a world force. His name is on the lips of aspiration everywhere, moving men to gain freedom and teaching men how to keep freedom when they have gained it.

"Jefferson, in my judgment, was the first great intelligent radical to appear in the political history of this country. Some people do not like the word 'radical' for it is associated in a menacing way in many minds. But the word is a vigorous word, and means getting at the root of things. Jefferson was an intelligent radical and no other sort of radical ought to be allowed to exist.

"They talk about radicals in Washington and elsewhere. They are complacent stand-patters to Thomas Jefferson. I believe many of them mean well, and I respect their spirit, but they do not always know precisely where they are going and he did. He was a glorious, intelligent radical."

Alderman recalled legislation sponsored by Jefferson which he termed "the deadliest blow ever delivered against intolerance in America," and credited him as "father of the University of Virginia," with being "in more than one sense the father of all the state universities which play such an important part in the education of the American democracy."

AIM TO DOUBLE RADIO LANES

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—The Radio Commission has announced adoption of a new general order by which it hopes eventually to double the number of channels available for trans-oceanic communication.

At present for transmission in all frequencies exceeding 1,500 kilocycles a .2 of 1 per cent clearance must be allowed for variations. The commission expects, it engineers said, to decrease that clearance to .1 of 1 per cent.

The order specified that no trans-oceanic channel licenses covering frequencies of from 1,500 to 32,780 kilocycles shall be granted for a period ending later than December 31, 1930. By that time, commission engineers said, they expect equipment will have been improved so the clearance may be reduced by half, doubling the channels available.

ROCKEFELLER MOVES TRACKS

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., April 15.—(AP.)—Five hundred workmen in the employ of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., yesterday were at work building a spare railroad track which will re-route the New York Central Railroad around Rockefeller's Pocantico Hills estate. Removal of the road from the property is expected to cost Rockefeller $5,000,000.

Clearing the railroad away from his estate marks a victory for Mr. Rockefeller in a fight his father started 25 years ago. The spur under construction will perhaps be the costliest five miles of railroad in the world.

Rockefeller's only gain will be the removal of the spur from Pocantico Hills and possession of the right of way.

Coste Sets June 1 For Hop to N. Y.

PARIS, April 15.—(AP.)—Dieudonne Coste, ace of French aviators and holder of the world's long distance flight record, hopes to be ready to start for a trans-Atlantic flight to the United States before June 1.

He was out at Villacoublay Field on Saturday, tuning up his airplane, the famous red "Question Mark," with which he made his record last summer.

Neighbors Fight Blaze, Firemen Look On

ALLIANCE, O., April 15.—Neighbors rallied with buckets to save the home of A. F. Craven in East Alliance when the Alliance Fire Department refused to cross the county line without a guarantee that the city's $75 fee for out-of-town fire calls would be paid.

CHINESE BANDIT PERIL EASED

SHANGHAI, April 15.—(AP.)—Delayed dispatches from Canton indicated today that the bandit menace in Northern Kwangtung province has lessened, although border cities continued to appeal to provincial authorities for more troops in the endangered area.

A dispatch from Shiuchow said Consul Jenkins had not ordered Americans there to evacuate the city because of banditry. A message last Thursday said Jenkins had warned Americans to move out.

JEWEL AS ART UNDER FIRE

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(INS.)—One of the famous jewels of history—the blazing Nassak diamond—was the subject of an appeal today in the United States Court of Customs and Patent Appeals. The question is whether the diamond is a work of antique art more than 100 years old, under which condition it would be entitled to free entry into the country.

The lower Customs Court held that the diamond was an antique. American dealers in diamonds protested on the ground free entry of this stone, which weighs over 78 carats, would create unfair competition.

Tradition says the stone was found in a cave temple near Nassak, India. It passed through a number of hands, and some time ago was purchased by a New York jeweler and imported to the United States. It is said to be valued at from $80,000 to over $100,000.

$2.50 Gold Piece Coinage to Stop

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—Anyone with a particular fondness for $2.50 gold pieces had better start gathering them right now.

SMITH AIDS WAR ON SCALPERS

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP.)—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith has accepted a place on the board of governors of the New York Theater League, formed by several elements in the legitimate theater for the elimination of the evils of ticket speculation. He will act as representative of the public.

This announcement, made after a meeting in the offices of Gilbert Miller, was hailed by Broadway as meaning that the former governor is to be the "big stick" depended upon to bring into line managers, and producers or brokers who may be inclined to take technical advantage of the new rules under which brokers will not charge more than 75c above box office prices for tickets.

Mr. Smith in his youth was a talented amateur actor, and always has maintained an active interest in the theater.

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 15.—A severe electrical storm sweeping over Washington County, took toll of a barn and shed on the Chris Knauer farm, near Hickory, paralyzed electric lighting service throughout the northern portion of the county and struck the county jail, burning out a transformer in the engine room.

FLAYS BANKING CONDITIONS

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—Terming the banking system a "national disgrace," E. W. Decker, of the Northwest Bank Corporation, Minneapolis, today testified to the House Banking Committee that the agricultural depression in the Northwest was the direct result of inadequate banking facilities.

"The bank failures of our section are not the direct result of agricultural depression," he said, "but the distress among the farmers is the result of inadequate banking facilities."

Taking the stand as the committee began the group banking phase of its investigation, the Minnesotan said the unit system of banking was "antiquated," and that a new banking structure was needed to care for the needs of farmers and commercial interests.

He recommended the group system, under which the various banks in the system retain their separate entities but have available the assistance of other members of the system when needed, as the best remedy for the situation.

West Homesteader Caught in Rum Auto

FRANKLIN, Pa., April 15.—Dodging from a line of autos being stopped along Sugar Creek road, near Franklin, this morning resulted in the capture of a man who said he was Jack Turney, of Eighth avenue, West Homestead, and seizure of his coupe. In it, police said, were 19 cases of whisky and seven cases of ale. Turney carried $7,000 in his pocket. State police lodged Turney in Franklin police station and prepared to investigate the shipment, said to be from Erie.

'BOY SHERIFF' FACES INQUEST

MAUSTON, Wis., April 15.—(AP.)—With an inquest opening today, Juneau County's ousted "boy sheriff," Lyall Wright, was under a charge of murder in the slaying of District Attorney Clinton G. Price, and Gov. Walter J. Kohler had taken a hand in the investigation.

As soon as the murder warrant was issued, an extra guard was placed about the jail where Wright is held.

The sheriff was believed to be working on theories that Price met death either to forestall a threat to "blow the lid off" bootlegging or that he was killed as the "double crosser" mentioned as responsible for Wright's eight-month sentence on a rum graft conviction.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

A WELL-KNOWN cantata, "The Crucifixion," will be given by the Paulist Choir on WCAE at 9 o'clock tonight as the Eveready Hour presentation.

Health permitting, Mario Chamlee, tenor, will appear on the Libby program over KDKA at 8:30.

The composition that made him famous will be played in its entirety by Paul Whiteman when the Old Gold Hour is broadcast by WJAS at 9 p. m. "The Rhapsody in Blue" trought Whiteman into prominence.

Mildred Hunt

We hear Mildred Hunt so seldom any more that it is a pleasure to see her listed occasionally from New York. "Hallelujah" and "S Wonderful" will be her contributions to Bill Daley's concert through KDKA at 10:30.

The Sunoco Show, KDKA, at 9:30, and Blackstone Music, WJAS at 8, have an appeal. Troika Bells is a new WCAE feature at 8 o'clock.

The village of Gretna Green on the Scottish-English border, famous as a resort for eloping couples, is vividly pictured in Percy Fletcher's suite, "At Gretna Green," a part of which, "At the Wayside Forge," is in the Sunoco Show tonight.

This part of the suite pictures the blacksmith, who was usually the justice of the peace, working at his forge. The roar of the bellows, the ringing of the hammers and flying of red hot sparks are aptly interpreted in the music.

* * *

Ray Lavelle's "Who's Who" feature has them guessing at WJAS.

WOULDN'T YOU
THIS EASTER . . WITH A GIFT?

Certainly it's a pleasant and growing custom—this giving of gifts at Eastertide. And what a charming, not too elaborate gift, the new Waterman's Patrician makes! As blithe and debonair as Spring itself in its gay, jewel colors — Emerald, Turquoise, Jet, Nacre, Onyx. A pen among pens—not only for its acknowledged beauty, but for the snug way it fits into the hand, the way it glides so smoothly across the page, and all the other marks of perfect craftsmanship which have been associated with the name Waterman's for nearly half a century. In a decorative box, $10.00—mechanical pencil to match, $5.00.

Waterman's No. 7 at $7.00—offering the famous Waterman's range of seven readily identified points—each one scientifically adapted to basic handwriting characteristics. Ninety-seven per cent of all pen users will find among them the one point exactly suited to their hand. Try them all and find yours.

Waterman's No. 5 at $5.00—Five points for choice—ranging from fine to stub. An unusually good pen for a moderate price—built to meet Waterman's standard of fine craftsmanship—always dependable.

Good dealers everywhere carry wide stocks of Waterman's famous fountain pens, mechanical pencils, and Waterman's inks which make any fountain pen write better. Every Waterman's is guaranteed forever against defects. Service stations are maintained at the addresses below for the purpose of making good our guarantee and for servicing our pens as required.

Rowley Rawson, the young Englishman who has traveled back to his native country to lay claim to his grandfather's title, visits the ancestral town house in London.
Startling results ensue from the visit. Rawson and Jimmy Otis, former newspaper reporter and now Rawson's confidential advisor, discover signs of recent occupancy in a portion of the house which the ancient housekeeper declares has been closed for months. Among the clues to the intruders, Otis picks up a cigaret stub bearing a peculiar mark.

Woman Dons Silks, Then Turns on Gas

LANCASTER, Pa., April 15.—(AP.)—Dressed in black silk and lying on a silk coverlet and pillow, the body of Mrs. Guy Scott, 28, of this city, was found in the kitchen of her home. The hands crossed on the chest and a hose leading from an open gas jet to a funnel over her face made Deputy Coroner J. S. Texler's verdict of suicide a mere formality.

Hundreds of Thousands Of Wise Americans Demand Kruschen Salts

Keeps you in good health all the time—skin clear and body free from fat.

Just think of it: these new, better and different salts were only introduced into America a few months ago—yet a host of intelligent Americans are healthier and happier because of their supreme goodness.

Kruschen Salts are the daily health dose of millions of people the world over—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain.

One-half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning gently but surely stimulates the liver, bowels and kidneys to healthy elimination.

But the six vitalizing and rejuvenating salts in Kruschen do more than cause regular elimination—the man or woman who takes them regularly need have no fear of poisons polluting the system, which is the cause of many annoying and depressing ills.

One bottle of Kruschen Salts (lasts 4 weeks) costs but 85c and one bottle will prove of vast benefit to people who have constipation, headaches, indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, depression, acidity and auto-intoxication.

Not only that, but one bottle will bring about body activity — increase in energy, vigor and ambition, sparkling eyes and freedom from pimples and blemishes—millions know all this—you ought to know it.

It's simply absurd to have

"No time for fun"...

HOW often have you heard young mothers say it? No time to frivol, no time to make little dainty things for the home... or to read the latest book.

Yet if there were a Whirldry handy, all the tiresome scrubbing of baby's little dresses, underthings, and diapers would be done at the turn of a switch. Everything can be put into the compact little machine... and forgotten. They are washed clean, rinsed thoroughly, and whirled dry, so that all you must do is shake them a bit, and hang them on the line for a little flap in the wind.

While the Whirldry works in the kitchen you can straighten up the house, or do the ordering for dinner... You owe yourself and your family the extra moments it will give you. Aren't your youth, vitality, and disposition worth something?

And Whirldry has the added recommendation of costing only $49.50.

BRISTOW LAUDS RESCUE PLAN

NOGALES, Ariz., April 15.—(AP.)—Returning to the United States yesterday, J. D. Bristow, San Angelo, Tex., oil and mining man, credited Mexican army officers with saving his life while he was in the hands of bandits in the mountains of Nayarit for more than a month.

Bristow explained that while he was held captive, the Mexican army men did some "kidnaping" also, taking into custody the father and another relative of Cruz Delgado, the bandit chief, and holding them as hostages for the safe release of the American.

Bristow said that Gen. Pablo Rodriguez, E. W. Eaton, United States vice consul at Mazatlan, and German Cosul Eugene Hildebrandt at Tepic did everything possible to obtain his release.

Gordon Obie Bristow, former University of Oklahoma football star, who paid the bandits 3,000 pesos for his father's freedom, accompanied the elder Bristow, who arrived here by train from Mazatlan.

Determination of the Mexican authorities to wipe out the outlaws was evidenced by reports from Mazatlan that Federal troops had killed eight men believed to have been members of the band that kidnaped Bristow and later attempted to attack a train on which he was traveling to Mazatlan.

FORESTS AFIRE NEAR ELKINS

ELKINS, W. Va., April 15.—(AP.)—Twelve forest fires have been reported to the Elkins office of the United States Forestry Department. Most of them are of minor importance.

Three of the four most serious fires are in the Smokehole area and one is at Laneville. Others were in the vicinity of Hunting Ground and Horseshoe Run. The report of six of the fires came from the lookout station near Beverly and were thought to have been started by sawmills and trespassers.

It has been estimated that 1,000 acres of government timber and 800 acres of private land were being burned over in this district.

BUTLER, Pa., April 15.—(AP.)—Thousands of dollars damage was caused by grass and forest fires which swept this section.

Architects Name 2 Pittsburgh Men

Two Pittsburgh architects were honored by election as officers of the Pennsylvania State Association of the American Institute of Architects during the annual meeting of the association in the Keystone Athletic Club yesterday. R. Maurice Trimble of Pittsburgh was named president of the organization and C. J. Palmgreen was named secretary. Members discussed legislation affecting the promotion of building pursuant to President Hoover's program.

Dealer 'Skinned' In Real Skin Game

AMBRIDGE, Pa., April 15.—Tom Chipok, 37, was the victim of a "skin" game, police say. Chipok reported he purchased 40 sealskins for $1,800 which the salesman represented as having been smuggled from Russia.

Two men later offered to buy the skins from Chipok at a $10 advance on each. Chipok drew out his money and paid for the furs.

LANG AIMS TO CHECK LOSS ON WATER

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

WATCHING the crowds pouring into the theater to see "Strange Interlude" is fairly good entertainment in itself. One of every 10 women is in evening clothes (in late afternoon) and most of them seemed to have suffered many minutes of indecision before deciding to "dress." The audience is mostly young people, and it is possible that some of them thought they were going to see something they might describe as "hot." The youngest person we saw entering the theater was Judson, a young man of 10 years. Judson cried earnestly and publicly outside the theater when the policeman ordered him from the lobby, but the law later changed its mind and allowed Judson to enter the theater as his tears were drying. We would give a pretty penny to hear Judson tell what he thought of "Interlude."

Bob Maloney, the town's best known dog fancier, has refused an offer of $15,000 for one of his prize-winners, they say. Mr. Maloney probably would have refused twice that, for his keenest delight is to win blue ribbons with his dogs. He is the son of M. F. Maloney, who once conducted a restaurant that was a popular eating place for political bosses. When he's not exhibiting dogs you'll find him hunting quail and pheasant.

* * *

WITH today there comes a great gap in Pittsburgh journalism, for Rosie, the fattest reporter in town, is leaving us. Rosie, who has been one of the best reporters in Pittsburgh, is leaving to set up a restaurant in Baltimore.

You've probably seen Rosie covering a fire or a banquet or something else. It would be hard to miss seeing him because he runs from this person to that person getting a million details for his story and when he's through covering a story, that story has been covered. And woe to the rewrite man who isn't 100 per cent accurate when he takes a story from Rosie.

Rosie had been covering the small towns in this territory lately. Each day he telephoned 40 or 50 police stations, squires and other news sources and says, "Rosie calling; anything doing?" and if there was anything doing Rosie found it out. The people he called knew that he was not only the fattest reporter in town but one of the most willing. He was always trying to do a favor for somebody.

You can't make Rosie mad by telling him he's so much more than 300 pounds. He'll merely glance at you with superiority and exclaim "Jealous!"

The whole staff of The Sun-Telegraph knows that Rosie is going to be a big success in the restaurant business. He'll josh the customers and the customers will josh him and he'll sell them an extra steak while he's doing it. His full name, although nobody ever calls him by it, is David Rosenthal.

Joe Huhn, the newspaperman, recalls the story of the juror who created havoc once when the jury had retired to deliberate in one of the local courts.

The case had been bitterly fought and required three weeks. When the 12 good men and true retired to secrecy, our hero turned to a colleague and said, "Pardon me, I'm very hard of hearing; can you tell me what this case is all about?"

Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 15.

WHEN Mr. Hoover appointed Judge Parker to the Supreme Court it was an unanimously popular appointment. An able man. Now they find he decided a case against somebody one time, so there is a likely chance of him being impeached for treason, indicted for bigamy, and subpenaed for crossing a boulevard stop. It's Secretary Hughes' case over again. You give us long enough to argue over something and we will bring you in proofs to show that the Ten Commandments should never be ratified. If I was Mr. Hoover, in my next appointment I would keep the name anonymous till after he had been ratified. Yours, WILL.

Neil Beseeches Ardeth to Become His Wife

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ardeth Carroll is being wooed by Neil Burke, who rooms with her Aunt Stella. Almost every night when she returns home from work she finds him waiting in the hall for her, and he often causes her to be late for dinner. Aunt Stella gets angered and scolds Ardeth for holding back the meals. Ardeth feels depressed. Ardeth goes for a machine ride with Neil. Passing through a park Ardeth gazes at Kent Gleason, a college football player, whom she knows to see. Neil shows signs of jealousy. Later, when Neil kisses her, Ardeth realizes that she does not love him. Jeanette Parker, society girl, calls at the store to see Ardeth. Jeanette is revengeful against her own sister, Cecile, who is taking the spotlight of prominence from her. As an excuse to shun social events, Jeanette plans to open a specialty shop. Ardeth Consents to work for her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VI.

"NEIL!" Ardeth cried sharply. "You're hurting me!" He relaxed his grip, but did not free her. "What's this Bet's been telling me?" he got out between his teeth. "That you've quit the store—that you're going in with that society snob—!"

"Of course Bet would talk about my business!" Ardeth answered coldly. "It's my own affair if I try to better my position—"

"Better your position—hah!" His tone was bitter. "Getting in with the lousy rich! Letting them make a fool of you—"

The slender body in his clasp became convulsed.

"Let me go! You have no right to do this, Neil! You're jealous—that's what's the matter! If a man doesn't wear a flannel shirt and dirty overalls you think he's no good—"

"Jealous! Yes—I am! I'm jealous of you—you've got me crazy about you! And don't you suppose I see what's going on? You're changing—I'm not good enough for you any more. I'm not a rah-rah boy with sleek hair who goes horseback riding in the park—"

"Ah! I thought that was the trouble!" She had stopped struggling. She was very stiff and quiet.

He dropped his arms heavily to his sides and she could feel his wretched eyes upon her through the thick light.

Such a slight young thing she was to set his pulses hammering like this. To fill him with this passion of desire.

"God . . . I wish I could hate you!" he said, huskily. "I'd rather hate you than to be so crazy about you. I'm miserable when I'm away from you—and when I see you—I'm worse"—

Wants to Marry

Ardeth Refuses Neil and Gives Reason

"Oh, Neil"—she put a gentle hand on his arm. "Can't we ever meet any more without quarreling? We never used to be like this"—

He caught at her hand. "It's because I'm wild about you, Ardeth. Sometimes at night I can't sleep thinking about you. You love me, don't you. Let's get married—now. This week. I got a raise last month and we can manage fine. We can take that flat above Bill Henderson. Honey—please"—

She shoved him away almost wildly. "No, Neil! Oh—can't you see? Get married and—and live like—like that!" In the dark her hand flung at the dark stair wall. "A flat . . . A roast every Sunday, so it will last until Tuesday. Wondering if we can manage a show and still pay the instalments on the furniture. And after a while—we'd be quarreling like Aunt Stel. They all do"—

"If you loved me you wouldn't stop to pick on those things," he said, hotly. "You're just making them an excuse—" Then, warned by her quick motion toward the stairs, "Oh, all right—let's forget it for now. We're both on edge, I guess. Will you come on down after dinner? Granny misses you, Ardeth. She was asking about you just now."

Poverty

Realizes Hopelessness of His Place

She promised with secret reluctance. The atmosphere of the Burke flat was, if anything, more depressing than that of the Harrison.

Upstairs Bet's spite—Fan and Paul's quarreling—Aunt Stel's scolding—these, at least, provided vitality, a sort of combative life.

But down here there was quiet—sullen quiet. Here was bitterness and defeat.

The electric droplight had been turned off. Granny had taken a lid from the top of the coal stove and tongues of flame played about the opening, filling the room with alternate bursts of light and shadow.

In childhood Ardeth had run in here often after school, rather than go upstairs and face Aunt Stel's nagging. She and Neil had popped corn over the stove while they listened to the old woman's rambling tales—a wierd mixture of folklore and superstitions which Granny more than half believed herself. But now, as though she viewed it for the first time, she was aware of the disorder, of the hopeless poverty of it all. The cluttered sink board; musty smell of cooking. The greasy feel of the oilcloth on the table.

Angered

Granny Takes Too Much For Granted

She tried not to think of these things as she removed a pan and a cup from a chair and gingerly seated herself upon it.

Swathed in a gray shawl, Granny blinked up at her like a lizard in the sun.

"There, now, dearie, I knew you'd be down! Don't you be grievin', I was tellin', the lad here, our pretty girl hasn't forgot us for all she's learnin' such fine ways an' wears such fine clothes. She knows where she belongs, that one, I told him—don't trouble your heart."

Sudden hot anger nearly suffocated Ardeth. So afraid she would get away—that she would rise above them! Wanting to hold her back here in the ugliness and the greyness—

She forced a little laugh. She tried to turn the conversation. Don't get angry . . . poor Neil—he couldn't help this ugly bare flat. Poor Granny, so old—how could she keep it tidy?

But there was a sort of angry dismay in her heart. Why did Neil sit there eating her up with his somber eyes? Why did Granny reach over and smooth her skirt with that possessive air? She wanted to cry that they took too much for granted! Why should they think she was going to marry Neil?

Her Promise

Doesn't Want to Be Held to It

She'd only been a youngster when she'd given him that absurd promise. She'd known no better—they shouldn't hold her to it!

Marry Neil! Be stuck here forever in the grey poverty? Oh, surely, life held more for her than this! Or else, why did the golden flame kindle within her at the glance of Ken Gleason's eye?

Ken . . . Just the thought of him could send a tingling warmth through her heart.

And that was absurd—she told herself later, as she lay in her own dark room beside the heavily breathing Bet. Absurd that she should be thinking like this of a man to whom she had never spoken.

No, she had never spoken with her lips . . . but that long meeting of their eyes . . . that strange hot leap of her own heart which had said he was no stranger.

Lying there, hands pressed hard over her pounding heart, she had the strange conviction once more that she was in the grasp of fate. That she was being hurried along at breathless pace.

PAIR RETURNS WITH PRIZES OF JUNGLE

Carnegie Curator and Wife Discover Secret of Early African Blast Furnaces

Deep in the heart of Africa, ages before the white man knew the land or explored it, dark-skinned puddlers tended iron furnaces. Miners took ore from the surface. They poured it into 20-foot blast furnaces, using wood as fuel and improvised blowers similar in principle to those used in Pittsburgh in its earlier days.

Boulton went to Africa January, 1929, to search primiarly for birds; his wife to study the music and collect the instruments of native tribes.

RARE ROBIN

Both obtained what they desired; the man 1,200 specimens including a species of robin found only once before in the world; five leopards, and many other animals; the woman 60 musical instruments and phonograph records of tribal musical festivals.

"The iron furnaces," said Mr. Boulton, "amazed white officials who have been in Africa 40 years. They had never heard of them. We found five buried, covered by the changes of ages in Nyasaland's jungles; one was still in use up to 15 years ago.

"There is no doubt at all that they pre-date the white man, and were built long before the white man knew how to smelt the ore this way. I've brought a part of a blow pipe, some samples of ore that I expect to have analyzed, a finished implement—a hammer. The furnaces were of terra cotta and the blow pipes of clay.

WOMEN FEARED

"Superstitions surrounded the furnaces, however. Were a woman to see one in operation, her glance meant a blight—that the ore would never melt to metal."

Boulton, who collected for both the Carnegie and New York museums, the American Museum of Natural History, brought back a collection of butterflies, studied the ecology of the birds in the mountain regions—notably the Mountains of the Moon—gathered costumes of the inhabitants and other materials.

BAD METERS BLAMED BY DIRECTOR

Asks Council for Fund to Standardize and Check Accuracy of Equipment

The city is losing hundreds of dollars daily because of inadequate and poorly adjusted water meters, according to Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang.

Council now is considering an ordinance, received yesterday, standardizing such meters. There will be a hearing at a later date.

15 TYPES IN USE

At least 15 types of meters are in use in Pittsburgh, Lang informed Council, some of them undesirable and the great number requiring that the city, at considerable expense, maintain parts for all kinds.

At Director Lang's request, three ordinances have been presented to Council. These ordinances provide:

An appropriation of $45,000 to replace and repair meters, it being impossible, according to Lang, to make a fair charge for unregistered water.

The standardization of meters on a price agreed by a five-year contract with some company, the city to pay for the maintenance and the consumer to pay for the meter.

WOULD CHECK METERS

An appropriation of $41,000 for a check on the accuracy of meters, this amount to be paid out on some contract. About 80 meters a day are to be checked by contract, the others to be examined by city employes.

All meters must be approved by the Department of Public Works, which would have the authority to shut off the water in any case where the consumer refuses to put in a meter.

"The department does not entertain the thought of indiscriminately compelling all consumers to immediately install meters, but rather to place the power in the hands of the director, that premises known to be wasting water, and consumers in the districts where the water must be repumped, can be forced to install meters," said the director.

BODY OF CHILD SAVED IN FIRE

The body of 8-year-old Margaret Hall was carried from the home of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Milan, of 5 Tecumseh street, when flames threatened the dwelling with destruction last night. The body was in a casket awaiting funeral services.

Neighbors who discovered the blaze on the roof of the three-story frame structure sounded an alarm. When it was learned that a corpse was in the house, Wagonman Edward Barry and Samuel Carson dashed into the building and carried the casket bearing Margaret's body to the home of Mrs. Margaret Finnegan, at 18 Tecumseh street. Hazelwood police said that funeral services would likely be held from the Finnegan home.

Telegraph Clock Again Smears Time Here

The intricate master clock in the Chamber of Commerce plant of the Western Union Telegraph Company stopped again today and with it stopped, at exactly 7 o'clock, the hundreds of clocks which it controls. Throughout the Pittsburgh district and as far east as Latrobe, clocks in railroad stations, business establishments and in public buildings, all telegraphically-controlled clocks stopped. Several weeks ago and at the same hour a similar breakdown, caused by a severe jar, occurred.

This morning's trouble was declared to be of a minor nature and service soon would be restored, the telegraph company announced.

Bellevue High School's debating team, champions of Allegheny County, will go to California, Pa., tomorrow to participate in a sectional contest with representatives of six other counties. The winner will be advanced to the final elimination debates to be held next month, probably in Philadelphia. Bellevue won the local crown by defeating Elizabeth High School last Friday in a dual debate. The champions of these counties, in addition to Allegheny, will take part in Wednesday's meet: Somerset, Fayette, Westmoreland, Greene, Washington and Beaver. The Bellevue team includes John A. Allen, Elizabeth Bode, Myra J. Martin, Karl Olsson, William Bayless, Virginia Clarkson and Martha Bess. Edwin N. Schenkel, high school principal, will accompany the team.

HIGH HAT RULED FOR EASTER

Many swallowtail outfits are being made for Pittsburgh men for the Easter parade, according to R. A. Phelleps, secretary of the Merchant Tailors' Association of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Phelleps declares that the return to formality in the attire of women is having its immediate effect upon the costumes of the men. The tailors are firm in one opinion, and that is the only one hat to wear with a cutaway suit is a high hat.

An outfit consisting of a one button cutaway coat, with braid; double breasted vest of the same material; English stripe trousers; pearl gray spats and black oxfords; wing collar and black and white four-in-hand tie; high silk hat; cane and gardenia, can be obtained at from $175 to $200, depending on the cost of the materials selected and the tailoring, the association announces.

SIX ARRESTED IN RUM RAIDS

Six men were arrested, two large stills and quantities of moonshine were seized by prohibition agents who staged six raids, four of them upon clubs yesterday.

On the Protz farm, Forward Township, the Federal raiders confiscated a 500-gallon still, 140 gallons of moonshine and destroyed 6,700 gallons of mash, they reported. John Protz, 30, and Peter Protz, 18, arrested in the raid, were held in bond, agents said.

A one-story garage in Cato street yielded the dry officers a 500-gallon alcohol still which was not in operation. Efforts were being made to find its owner.

Two barrels of beer were destroyed by the agents when they raided a second-floor club at 206 Federal street, and arrested Paul Pehon, 38, according to their report. Beer and whisky found in a club in the rear of 2558 East street, resulted in the arrest, agents said, of William C. Springer.

In Springdale, clubs at 612 Grant street and 628 Garfield street were raided, it was reported. Moonshine was confiscated in each, agents asserted.

FEUD RENEWED IN GLASSPORT

Glassport police today continued without the services of a magistrate to try their cases, Burgess Seward J. Gross and the town's three justices of the peace having remained steadfast in their determination not to act. Borough Council was informed at its meeting last night.

President James C. O'Brien inquired of the burgess as to why he refused to sit in police court. Gross replied that he would try cases only if members of the force appeared as private citizens. The burgess said he had taken that stand on advice of counsel.

Police Chief Michael J. Cobak reported $470 had been received in forfeits during March and that no hearings had been held.

Council and the burgess have been at loggerheads over the police department since the beginning of the year, the burgess having refused to recognize the present policemen elected by council.

Council passed a salary ordinance by unanimous vote at last night's meeting.

Three Meyers Brothers and Swift Start Sentences After Losing Appeal Fight

Fifteen government prisoners, including three Meyers brothers, Mickey, Gus and Sam, and James Swift, South Side bootleggers, this morning were placed aboard a train at the Pennsylvania Railroad Station and are en route to prisons for offenses against the government.

The prison party will be divided at Columbus, where Deputy United States Marshal John F. Austin will leave the train with four prisoners to be delivered at the Federal prison camp at Chillicothe, O. Deputy Marshal D. A. Goldman will continue with the other 11 prisoners, including the Meyers brothers and Swift, to the Atlanta penitentiary.

APPEALS DENIED

The Meyers brothers and Swift, convicted in the South Side rum conspiracy case, carried on a long but unsuccessful legal battle against their convictions and sentences, which did not end until the United States Supreme Court denied their appeals.

Mickey Meyers was sentenced by Judge Nelson McVicar to pay a $10,000 fine and serve three years' imprisonment; Gus Meyers, $10,000 fine and two and a half years; Sam Meyers, $5,000 fine and two years, and Swift, $5,000 fine and 18 months. They were convicted and sentenced in March, 1929. Police Inspector John J. McArdle and his brother, Patrick McArdle, defendants in the same case, were acquitted.

COUNTERFEITER TAKEN

In the Atlanta contingent were Michael A. Ruscille, former manager of the Foreign Department of the First National Bank of Ellwood City, and James V. Vozzola, convicted of counterfeiting, who are to serve four years and three years, respectively. Another prisoner was Robert P. Cann, of Stoneboro, former treasurer of the Mercer Iron and Coal Company, to serve two years for using the mails to defraud in a check "kiting" scheme, which involved losses to two banks of between $250,000 and $300,000.

The four prisoners taken to Chillicothe were Patsy Dottellis, Douglas Irvin Day, Arthur Silvas and Russell Meyer, convicted for violating the National motor vehicle theft act.

Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: In your opinion, was the transfer of Burleigh Grimes to Boston advisable?

L. S. Marshall

LOYAL S. MARSHALL, Springdale, principal: Well, I don't know. My opinion is that a man can't afford to keep a player who refuses to co-operate. For that reason, I guess Dreyfuss' action was all right.

Richard Massa

RICHARD MASSA, South Hills, clerk: I think Grimes should have been given what he asked. He sure was worth almost anything he asked, as a player and as a drawing card.

Joseph Angel

JOSEPH ANGEL, Squirrel Hill, violinist: Well, I think if he is worth the money, Barney made a mistake. And most people say he is worth the money. That divorce shouldn't be held against him, either.

C. O. Caputo

C. O. CAPUTO, South Hills, branch manager: I think they should have kept Grimes and given him what he wanted. They can't afford to do without such a good pitcher.

Michael Ferruzza

MICHAEL FERRUZZA, East Liberty orchestra organizer: He was a good player. They say he was the best in the league. I'm mighty sorry to see him go. But Dreyfuss must know more about it than I do, and he wouldn't trade him but for the good of the team.

Chas. LaChoppe

CHARLES LACHOPPE, Greensburg, instructor: Yes, that's all right. They should have cast him aside. Rebellion can't be allowed in a team and a man having marital troubles can never be at his best.

WEDDING TOPIC OF TECH GIRLS

You'd think the girls with whom she studied last year for the stage would want to know all about the parts she's been playing on Broadway; what she's been doing in "Broken Dishes" which closed a run last Saturday at the Masque Theater.

What they wanted to know was not that at all. But "is he blond, blue-eyed, brunet, handsome, tall, etc?"

They read last week of her engagement to Alan Hays, attorney, and son of Arthur Garfield Hays, noted attorney. So she told them about lots of things which, connected together, ran something like this:

"We're to be married July 24 in Delaware, O., at the home of my grandfather, Dr. A. M. Courtenay, known in Pittsburgh as the builder of Calvary church. The next day we're slated to sail from New York for Paris. I'm giving up the stage for a year, at least, but will continue running my lingerie shop in Greenwich Village.

2,000 YOUTHS JOIN YO YO CRUSADE

Pittsburgh Second to None as Adherents Gain In New Fad Numbers

All Pittsburgh is spinning the little Yo Yo from morning until night. Yo Yo is the newest of the nation's fads, just a little late getting here, but taking hold of old and young so fast that its belated arrival will have no effect on the popularity of the pastime in this city.

City Hall has gone Yo Yo, the pedestrians downtown are in the throes of the game, the boys and the girls on the college campus, in the public parks, in the offices and school playgrounds are rapidly getting into the fascinating fad.

CAME FROM HAWAII

Yo Yo, you know, originally came from Hawaii, came across the Pacific to California, then came across the mountains and spread as far as Canada on the north, the Gulf of Mexico on the south and the Atlantic Ocean on the east.

If the census enumerators counted the Yo Yos now spinning in this country, the figures would be astounding. And Pittsburgh is not going to take second place among the the larger cities for Yo Yoing has become a fixed pastime here.

Two thousand additional youngsters joined the army of the Yo Yoers Saturday. They were patrons of the East Liberty Enright Theater and were each given a Yo Yo by an arrangement between the Sun-Telegraph and Warner Brothers' Theater management. They had all clipped Yo Yo coupons from Sun-Telegraph.

ANOTHER MATINEE

Next Saturday there will be another Yo Yo matinee at the Enright and next Monday there will be matinees at the Warner neighboring houses listed in the coupon. Every boy or girl clipping this speagraph and attending anyone of cial coupon from the Sun-Telethese special matinees on the days above mentioned will be givena Yo Yo free.

GOOD FRIDAY IN BOROUGHS

2 KILLED, BOY HURT BY AUTOS

Two men were dead today and a boy was in a serious condition as a result of automobile accidents in the Pittsburgh district last night.

Deputy coroners were endeavoring to identify a man, about 60, who was killed when struck by an automobile in Bigelow boulevard at Washington street. The victim was taken to Mercy Hospital by Deputy Coroner John McQuaid and pronounced dead of a fractured skull. William Satzger, 35, of 4304 Main street, driver of the car, was arrested and will be turned over to the coroner, police say.

John McCoy, of 315 Second street, Rankin, died last night in the Braddock Hospital from a fractured skull suffered several hours before when struck by an automobile near his home. Louis Soalinger, of 7206 Schoyer avenue, Swissvale, alleged driver, was ordered to appear at the coroner's office today.

Carl Lacher, 3, of 114 Nobles lane, Carrick, son of Patrolman Carl Lacher, is in a serious condition in the South Side Hospital with injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile driven, police say, by Arthur Ashcraft, of 4109 Dalewood street, near his home.

MUSIC BUDGET CUT PROTESTED

Only 400 out of 2,200 musicians in Pittsburgh have work, Council has been informed.

The information came in a letter from Charles A. Graffelder, secretary of the Pittsburgh Musical Society, protesting against a cut in the appropriation for Sunday concerts.

The amount last year was $13,500, Graffelder declared, saying it was only $2,000 for the coming year.

He added that $1,600 had been appropriated for Sunday "movies" in the park, and that he understood that $10,000 additional was ready for motion picture purposes.

The letter charged that the pictures were a "Hollywood" industry, while the musicians were local taxpayers, and that it is not fair to eliminate them. The money should be used for concerts, he insisted.

MURAL DEPICTING NATIONAL EXPANSION AFTER THE WAR OF 1812, AND GROWTH OF AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE

Seven others are included in the selection purchased for the remodeled first floor of Kaufmann's Department Store, as they show in graphic detail the progress of industry through the ages, including trade and commerce.

Kaufmann's Reveals New Link of Trade to Art

By PENELOPE REDD

In the periods of art historically great, the architect was the master of all arts; today, he is the harassed slave dominated by expediency, according to Edgar J. Kaufmann in a discussion announcing the plans for the private unveiling of the Boardman Robinson mural paintings in the Kaufmann store April 27 and their public presentation May 1.

Penelope Redd

This situation has come to pass because the capitalist's need for construction had badgered the architect into hastily assembling revenue-producing cubes to realize immediate profit of enormous real estate investments with attendant heavy taxation.

"The architect, impelled by the peril of the time-limit schedule, has juggled steel, brick, and stone into structures uniformly gigantic in size but frequently insignificant in meaning," he continued.

"If architects should select only those manufacturers of building materials who invoke the true principles of design in their wares, they would force all other producers into line from the competition thus engendered.

"The architects must return to their predecessors' habit of being artists, and of reconciling purpose with design.

"We retailers must in some degree approximate the same ideal and become the agent that reconciles the material with the esthetic value."

Edgar Kaufmann knows whereof he speaks.

The past five years have been devoted to a program looking toward the creation of a harmony between purpose and design which no one elsewhere, rich man, poor man or advertising mogul, has had the imagination, intelligence or courage to attempt.

MUSEUM OF ART

In 1926, the Kaufmann store surprised Pittsburgh by magically changing itself into a museum of contemporary art with its exposition of an all-embracing international decorative arts exhibition.

The idea spread to merchants throughout the country to the end that Pittsburgh's progress was nationally emulated.

The succeeding years at Kaufmann's have witnessed an empirical adventure hitherto unknown to the arts. The problem of creating the right environment for every man to stimulate the proper choice of objects necessary in today's life.

"Today, living in a traffic-minded age, we found that circulation had become the emphatic note in merchandising," said Mr. Kaufmann.

"We must make our space more convenient to approach, so we doubled the number of entrances. We must devise a plan to lift people from the main floor. So we laid out "streets" converging towards the elevators and we supplemented the transportation scheme with escalators."

To an outside observer coming in, one needs must contemplate the main floor as an entity. The floor of chipped black marble, diapered with bronzed metal lines forming an all-over diamond pattern, is the base from which the bold black pillars spring to the ceiling.

The change of textures from the dull ebon floor, on to the indestructible black Belgian marble bases of the square pillars, swinging up into the brilliant surface of the black glass, is adroitly contrived. The black glass in turn, has as an integral part of the structure of the pillar, panels of opaque white glass for indirect lighting. This glass is repeated in the frames of the white bays forming the ceiling.

SUBTLE EFFECTS

This arbitrary essay in the absence of color is modified primarily by the white mahogany fixtures in natural color, and by the liberal use of metals. Subtly chosen are the metals. Few observes would note the hand hammered bronze-brass bases about the cases, and the metal mouldings which effect a transition from black to bronze into the gold of the display cases.

These cases, incidentally, were so baffling to the standardized experts of the most impressive fixture makers in the United States that they refused the order. They politely implicated that they would have no contributory responsibility for Kaufmann's serious "decrease in merchandise capacity and consequent realization of the loss of sales area.'

So Edgar Kaufmann went out and converted less dogmatic fixture makers to his heterdoxy.

When the mural paintings are unveiled, the myriad colors enshrined within the cases will be detached from their kaleidoscopic patterns and restated in orderly space through the language of line, shape, and color in the Boardman Robinson canvases—but that is another story.

BUSINESS GENIUS

The ensemble of Kaufmann's main floor forecasts new vistas in an art for the people—for 30,000,000 people come annually within their doors. Contemporary historians tell us that in future times, the characteristic genius of our day will prove to be the business man.

Edgar Kaufmann in his imaginative foresight seems the forerunner of a new type of art patron. He believes and says with fervor:

"I hope in our next census that literacy in art will seem as vital to our nation's assets as the current query, 'Can you read and write?'

"To me the proper understanding of the principles of architecture, and the appreciation of color harmony, is just as necessary in education as the facility to read and to add.

"Our hope is that mothers will bring their children and that our young men and women, too, will come to see our experiment. Perhaps they will find pleasure in what we believe to be beauty because it is the harmonious reconciliation of purpose with design."

Man, Wife in City Pay Likely to Be Let Out

Husbands and wives who are working for the city — take warning.

One or the other seems bound to go, eventually.

This step, talked privately by Councilmen for weeks, became almost a certainty yesterday when Councilman Harry A. Little introduced a resolution asking the names of such employes.

Others who have dependents need positions to support their families, said the Little resolution:

"I am going to keep after this as soon as I get the list," Little told newspapermen. "Too many men need a few dollars to feed their children to allow a man and his wife to hold jobs."

4 NIPPON GIRLS BRING THANKS

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—From a princess of the royal household of Japan, the four pretty Japanese girls visiting Washington today in appreciation of American aid in the 1923 Yokohama earthquake, got their tips on American travel and what to see.

Princess Chichibu, it was, previously Miss Setsu Matsudaira, daughter of the former Japanese ambassador in Washington and tennis champion of a girls' school here. They visited her at her Tokio palace just before they sailed.

"She told us the train goes very fast and makes awful jerk when it stops, and we certainly found that true, so that one cannot sleep," laughed Kimi Ashino.

"She told us, too, that if we go to America in Japanese costumes, we will be very curious to all. And that was true, too.

"She told us that Mrs. Hoover and also Mrs. Coolidge were very wonderful ladies. So we hope to see Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Coolidge."

The trip of the Japanese girls has been extended to Northampton, Mass., so they can also thank Calvin Coolidge, who was President when the earthquake occurred.

SCHOOL BONDS AT BELLEVUE

Bellevue residents will vote on a $450,000 bond issue to provide a new Junior High School and an annex to the Grant Grade School Building, at the primary election, May 20.

School officials contemplate erecting the new building on land owned by the school district adjacent to the present high school if the issue is approved. The alternative of erecting a new Senior high school and using the present high school building for a Junior High purposes is under consideration.

The taxable valuation of the borough is $13,079,210. The present school debt is $211,000. The bond issue, it is estimated, would add about two mills to the school tax levy.

A new Junior High School was recommended by representatives of the State Board of Education after a survey. The Grant School annex is designed to take the place of portable buildings which are no longer considered suitable.

The petitions state the names were illegally registered because the supporting tax receipts were not paid by the signer, or the signer did not authorize any person to pay the taxes or because of forged orders authorizing the payment of taxes.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

More Dates Named for Weddings

IN recent years society matrons have known that they must take dates months ahead, and dates in the holiday season several years ahead for the debuts of their daughters.

And now the time is coming, I really believe, when brides-to-be will have to name their wedding dates months in advance if they want to be wed in the magic month of June. With Easter not yet here, a number of date have already been named for socially important marriages, and two more are announced, one May 30 and the other June 24.

* * *

KATHERINE GAUSS, daughter of Dean and Mrs. Christian Gauss, of Princeton, has named Friday, May 30, as the date for her marriage to Andrew Jackson, son of the John J. Jacksons, of Pittsburgh.

The wedding will take place in the University Chapel with the president of Princeton, Dr. John Greer Hibbin, officiating, assisted by Dr. Alfred H. Barr, of Chicago, and the Rev. Robert Russell Wicks, dean of the chapel.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will have her two sisters, Natalie and Hildegard Gauss, as her only attendants, and her brother, D. Christian Gauss, will be best man. Serving as ushers will be Charles Kyle, George Stephenson, John Lockwood, S. T. McClintock, William Fuellhart and David Sloan.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Princeton, class of 1925, and of Harvard University Law School, class of 1928. He is a member of a law firm in New York.

June Bride

CLARISSA HOWE REED, daughter of the Samuel Clark Reeds, of Murray Hill avenue, has named Tuesday, June 24, as the date for her marriage to Paul Robbins Haviland, son of the Walter W. Havilands, of the Knoll, Landsdowne, Pa.

Their betrothal was announced, I recall, at a dinner that Clarissa gave last August at the Beaumaris Yacht Club, Beaumaris, Canada, for Francis Larimer Miller, of Detroit, whose marriage to her future brother-in-law, Harris Goddard Haviland, of Pittsburgh, took place in August at Beaumaris. The Reed family always spends summers, I might add, at St. Brandous Isle, Beaumaris.

Clarissa's wedding will take place in Pittsburgh in the Calvary Church where so many members of Pittsburgh society have been married.

EVERY day more and more society leaders are showing their interest in the Cap and Gown Club of the University of Pittsburgh by becoming patrons for the opening night of Cap and Gown's twenty-third annual production, "Manhattan Preferred," appearing at the Nixon the week of April 28.

Sponsor Comedy

Mrs. William M. Furey, Mrs. Carroll Miller and Charles F. Lewis have been added to the rapidly growing list of patrons as have Mrs. Carl A. Voss, Mrs. John J. McKenna, James N. Matthews, Mrs. Warren I. Bickford, Miss Grace L. Stoakes, Mrs. Carl Borntraeger, Mrs. H. C. Bell, Miss Lisa Blum, Mrs. W. N. Frew, Mrs. H. C. McEldowney, Charles W. Scarborough, Mrs. John B. Semple, Dr. T. W. Grayson, Mrs. George Phelps Rose, Mrs. W. Terrell Johnson, Mrs. James H. Beal, Miss Mary P. Boss, Mrs. George A. Buse, Mrs. Nathaniel Spear, Mrs. W. G. Carr and Mrs. Harry G. Samson.

A BRIDE who has named April 25 as the date for her wedding, now announces her bridal party. The bride-to-be I'm referring to is Martha Cooper, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roy C. Cooper, of North Negley avenue, and her fiance is Robert Repp, Jr., son of the Robert Repps, of Atlantic avenue.

Bridal Party

Sally Cooper will be her sister's maid of honor, and Mrs. Edward H. Rynearson, of Rochester, Minn., sister of the bridegroom-elect, will be matron of honor.

There'll be six bridesmaids, Margaret S. McGaw, of Springfield, Mass.; Mrs. Leo E. Forman, of Long Island; Elaine F. Eastman, of Woodstock, Vt.; Emma D. Epler, of Reading, Pa.; Mrs. Edwin P. Scheetz and Virginia Rossell, both of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Rynearson will be his brother-in-law's best man, and Dr. John D. Garvin, Edwin P. Scheetz, John M. Robinson, George R. Craig, Lewis W. Morgan, Henry Cooper, brother of the bride-elect, and Charles E. Dinkey, Jr., of Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., will be ushers.

The wedding will take place, I might add, in the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, Highland avenue, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, with the Rev. Dr. A. R. Robinson officiating. A reception in the Cooper home will follow.

On Thursday the junior Thomas P. Trimbles will entertain with a dinner-bridge in the Wildwood Country Club in honor of the bridal party, and Saturday evening the Edwin F. Scheetzes will entertain with a dinner-dance in the University Club.

ON Tuesday, April 8, Miss Esther Marie Bothwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bothwell, of Wilkinsburg, became the bride of Aneurin Bodycombe, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bodycombe, of Wilkinsburg, formerly of Swansea, South Wales, Great Britain. The services were held at 5:30 o'clock in the First United Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. James Best officiating, assisted by the Rev. George Taylor.

Bothwell Wedding

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of opaline pink lace with matching hat and carried pink roses, lilies of the valley and blue delphinium. Miss Ruth Elizabeth Bothwell, her sister's only attendant, wore green chiffon with matching hat and carried spring flowers. William A. Potter was the best man, and Dr. William O. Bothwell and James J. Bothwell, brothers of the bride, were ushers. Harvey Gaul played the wedding march and Robert Bodycombe, brother of the bridegroom, sang.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN ELMER EWING, of Beaver Falls, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen Christine Ewing, and Dr. David Gordon Jones, of Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. David B. Jones, of Aliquippa, which took place at 8:30 o'clock on Saturday, April 12, in the First United Presbyterian Church, of Beaver Falls. The Rev. Dr. John W. Springer, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church of Emsworth, officiated.

Announce Marriage

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of lake blue lace and carried Johanna Hill roses. Her sister, Miss Florence Mildred Ewing, was maid of honor and wore beige lace and carried yellow roses. Richard Henry Jones, of Aliquippa, was his brother's best man. Following the ceremony an informal reception was held in the home of the bride, and later Dr. and Mrs. Jones left for a motor trip to Virginia. They will live in East Brady street, Butler, after May 1.

* * *

MISS EMMA JOAN HOSENFELT, daughter of Henry Hosenfelt, of Oakwood street, East End, became the bride of John Gilmore Schrott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schrott, of Wilkinsburg, on Saturday, April 12, in the Homewood Methodist Church, with the Rev. Dr. Richard M. Fowle officiating.

Wed In Church

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of periwinkle blue chiffon with a yoke of lace. Her hat of horse hair braid matched her gown, and she carried an arm bouquet of yellow calla lilies, spirea, pink roses and snapdragons. Miss Claire Hosenfelt, as her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, was attired in an afternoon gown of nile green lace, and a hat of leghorn. John Gansauer, of Wilkinsburg, was best man.

A reception and dinner was given in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel and later Mr. and Mrs. Schrott left for a motor trip. After May 1 they will be at home in Laketon road, Wilkinsburg.

IN SEWICKLEY VALLEY CLUB PLAY

MRS. FRANK R. STONER, JR. — Mrs. Stoner and Mrs. Rose in one of the scenes from "Out in the Streets," old fashioned melodrama which was presented by members of the Sewickley Valley Woman's Club.

MRS. J. REUBEN ROSE

Club Women Put on Old Melodrama

THERE were scathing hisses for the villain and salvos of applause for the remainder of the characters last night when the Sewickley Valley Woman's Club presented "Out in the Streets" before an audience that hugely enjoyed the impossible old melodrama. The entire evening was a delight—the acting, the setting, the entre act, music and even the pink programs with their exclamation points and their numerous descriptive adjectives.

Mrs. William Booth, who directed the production, was also the blustering, well-upholstered old Col. Wayne, and quite ran away with the acting honors. Pretty little Mrs. Charles R. Arrott was the lost "Myrtle," and she, too, caught the spirit of the old thriller. Mrs. Charles Jennings was an oily villain, Mrs. Hanson Thomas was the impertinent Negro, Pete; Mrs. William Dickinson Shields played the small part of Nina's lover; Mrs. Frank R. Stoner was a charming Nina, and Mrs. J. Reuben Rose, a picturesque Mrs. Wayne. Mrs. William Boggs, as a policeman, and Mrs. Thomas Bray, as the villain's dissolute son, completed the cast.

* * *

THE programs announced that "the costumes have been furnished from the attics of our friends." Somebody's attic must have furnished the furniture, draperies, pictures (especially pictures), and window, chair and mantel draperies, for they all "belonged."

From the Attic

Such songs as "After the Ball," "Take Back the Heart That Thou Gavest," "Man Was the Cause of It All" and others of even earlier vintage were sung between acts by Royal Goldsbury, Andrew Black, Charles Ramsburg, William S. Tallman and Mrs. R. M. Keeney, all in period dress. Mrs. Charles L. Hamilton did an introductory monologue. The violin "Hearts and Flowers" that haunted poor Myrtle, shadow-like, in her tribulations was played by Mrs. Morgan Bowman.

It was a great night in Sewickley.

* * *

SCENES from "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," Euripides, "Trojan Women," Materlinck's "Pelleas and Melisande," Shakespeare, Shaw's "Pygmalion," and other plays were given by Mrs. Patrick Campbell to illustrate the paper which she read before the Twentieth Century Club yesterday morning on "Beautiful Speech and the Art of Acting."

The art of beautiful speech should be studied by everyone, although it is considered by many people to be an affectation, Mrs. Campbell said. She demonstrated that beautiful speech is a matter of vocal color and control and not of accent and she stressed the importance of pronouncing every vowel clearly. Careless, ugly speech, she termed a calamity, which can only be corrected personally. Class distinction in England, Mrs. Campbell said, is only class distinction of speech.

THE NEGLIGEE IS NOT NEGLECTED BY STYLISTS

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, April 15.—Despite the pajama parade that lines up in the boudoir and marches down to the beach, there are always moments when we long for the easy luxury and comfort of a soft downy negligee. Indeed there are many women who have not yet succumbed to the lure of the pajama and still wish to retain an air of formality in their hours of ease.

And so every season, most couturiers include some exquisite negligees in their various collections. Crifons, satins, georgettes all are used to create deshabille of delectable charm designed to add beauty to the boudoir as well as to the fair wearer.

* * *

IN the procession of evening frocks just now issuing from the various dressmaking establishments, the little black dinner frock will be found in the vanguard. Such frocks are reliable standbys, and often shine more brilliantly than the more elaborate frock of magnificent material aid lavish trimming. Chiffons, georgettes and other sheer and semi-sheer fabrics combined with fine black lace will be first favorites with women of discriminating taste this season.

* * *

TWO sketches are appended today, each of the very new garments. The first is of a charming deshabille from Cheruit. It is of white chiffon and taffeta, each fabric printed in a matching pattern of wild roses. The chiffon makes the bodice, upper half of the sleeves and body of the skirt. Sash, train and puffs at the elbow are of the taffeta. The bodice fits snugly and the wide sash is twisted about the waist just above the hips and knotted and draped in front.

* * *

JANE REGNY, famous for her sport clothes, is no less successful with her models for more formal wear. The second sketch shows how she has applied her genius to the field of dinner frocks. The discreet and most becoming frock is of black mousseline de soie combined with very sheer black lace in curving and intercrossing bands. The slim close-fitting silhouette is softened at the waistline by a slight blousing of the bodice.

PREFERS JAIL TO ALIMONY

CHICAGO, April 15.—(INS.)—Edward S. Sheridan, wealthy broker, today completed seven weeks' voluntary imprisonment in the county jail, where he is staying to avoid paying his wife alimony.

His wife, who is suing for divorce, appeared in court yesterday and requested that the court order Sheridan's banker to turn over what money her husband has in a safety deposit box.

A writ restraining Sheridan from leaving the court's jurisdiction was issued seven weeks ago, and bond was set at $5,000. The wife charged yesterday that Sheridan refused to accept offers of his friends to give bond and went to jail to escape paying $50 a week alimony. He is still in jail.

The colliery resumed operations after several weeks of idleness. The group of 19 were the first men to enter the workings. Several workmen going in later encountered the gas and summoned aid to search for the first group.

Wrong Time of Month

To some women the calendar is a tyrant, with certain days set aside for pain. Such martyrdom is needless! Midol — acting directly on the organs affected—disposes of every bit of pain at such a time.

Midol is not a narcotic. It does nothing to interfere with the natural and necessary monthly process, but it eases the organs in five to seven minutes in even the most severe cases. Furthermore, the woman who takes a tiny tablet of Midol in time will experience no suffering at all.

For your own sake, investigate Midol and see how reliable and complete is its relief—no matter how hard a time you've always had. At every drugstore in trim metal case for fifty cents. Many have found Midol the quickest relief for headaches, neuralgia, neuritis, and other pain.

CHICKIE By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER LX.

ALL afternoon she sat with her profile to his window. From the shadow he would see her. He would know that her heart was breaking. And in his quick, impetuous way he would brush aside this absurd quarrel. He would grab up the phone and call to her, "Hey, there, frail, why so sad? Smile, won't you?"

She hoped for this with a hope that became anguish. Five o'clock—another day gone. As she put on her hat she turned from the sight of her own face. Its prettiness hurt her. Walking down the street she kept taking long breaths to hold the tears from her eyes.

Now the feeling of expectance that had nerved her for three days was gone. She said to herself: "He won't come. He doesn't care. He's glad. He must be—take an excuse like this. Oh, he wanted to be done with it all!" She dropped these thoughts cruelly like hot stones in her heart. It grew so heavy she felt she could no longer endure its weight.

She had reached the breaking point, and she knew it. Too incredible to have it end like this. She saw herself rushing to him, twining her fingers in his hand, making him speak to her—making him turn. This vision of herself pleading made her wince—it was pitiful.

She denied it—no, she would never do this. Cry her eyes out first. Three days and he let them pass—let her go out of that restaurant. Oh, he was probably hard and confident about it—knew she would come begging to him.

Meets Barry

Her eyes were filled now. She didn't care. Suddenly some one walked at her side, a hand on her elbow. She stopped, overcome.

He said: "Chickie!" Breathless like that. Then: "Chickie, want me here?"

She gave him a swift glance, all tremulous, not daring to meet his eyes.

"Stay down then, will you?" Though she could scarce speak for the tumult; though she wished to lean against him, laugh and laugh—for all this she walked on silent. Oh, he was the one who had come. He cared! Well—then he was the one who would kneel—

"Not mad now, Chickie? Ah you don't hate me any more? Please, stay down—"

"Well—but I don't know—"

"All right, then—I know—"

"Oh—but three days—"

"Yes—and it's not going to be four. You don't want that, do you? Listen, Chickie, you were the one who ran away. Weren't you now—"

She touched his hand, pleading. She would have been content to walk on like this always. Just that he was here; just that he had come to her and that now a lightness and a warmth ran singing through her nerves.

Frightens Chickie

Life was sweet again; the world a happy place. The two of them—only that— She felt him tall—supple, swinging along at her side, now and then looking down with a laugh. Once he said: "Cat comes back, frail—glad?" There had never been a joy to equal this.

But when they sat at the table she felt a pang because he had a strained, pale look and his red hair was so brushed back that his eyes seemed large and anxious. He said eagerly: "Chickie, were you going to let it end like this?"

"Could it end so, Barry? Oh, would you have wanted that?"

"Does it look like it, Chickie? But I want to know how you felt. I want to know if you really intended to let it go."

She wouldn't answer. She evaded. "You let me go out of the restaurant, and you knew I was beside myself. You had only to put out your hand."

He answered somberly: "Perhaps you don't recall what you said. You said it as if you meant it. And if you do, I'm not going to put out my hand to stay you. No—not even now. If you meant what you said, Chickie—you can go—"

He went on saying things that frightened her, that took down the joy that had arisen.

"We have to settle this. No two ways about that—"

She asked, faintly: "What did I say?"

Looking at him, she saw the resentment coming hotly into the young boy's eyes. "I have the gains! You said that. So. I'm satisfied—"

Color splashed vividly through her cheeks.

"Did you mean by that, Chickie, that you never wanted me? You don't care, and it's all on my side? All to please me?"

"No—not that—no——"

"Well, what?"

"Nothing—don't—oh, I didn't mean that. I was excited. You see——" Her face grew tense, imploring, vivid with her emotions. She told him of the play and how it had shaken her, how she fancied herself in the girl's place. Then she spoke of Mary and things Mary said.

Circumstances Bad

His hands trembled. He reached over and took hers. "All this means that in your heart, Chickie, you think it's wrong. You've thought that from the beginning. You're sorry and so you blame me——"

"No—I don't care. Now I know that I don't care. Don't look at me so!"

But his eyes were full of passionate doubt and hurt. "If you loved me enough, Chickie, and felt that it was right, you'd be fearless about it. You aren't. You let everything that Mary or Jennie or anyone else says beat you. The first thing we know we'll be flying at each other's throats!"

"No! Oh, really, I feel different now. And this won't last always, will it, Barry? We'll soon be able——?"

He dug his chin in his palm. With a pencil he made endless stars on the tablecloth. "I don't know. Moore's in town. They're not doing a thing with the coast line——"

She sat motionless, her heart bounding.

He went on: "They won't do anything this year. I'm to blame, of course. I never should have gone back that time to the cottage. Arrogance! It wouldn't have happened. You'd be happy."

"No use harking back now. Well—You don't have to go on! My mother's in the hospital, Chickie. I had to borrow $500 from Tufts. I didn't tell you before. Didn't want to worry you. Well—I don't know where I get off or when—"

Must Go On

He glanced at her with swift, beseeching humility.

She said, her voice all tuneless, "You mean it's farther away?"

"Well—I don't know—no nearer—" And when she said nothing to that, "You see, don't you? Say something! You won't? You think it better end? That's your answer, is it?"

She put her hands over her face. He got up quickly and held her coat. "You do! Let's get out of here. You feel that way?"

It seemed to Chickie that he was running reckless; plunging her headlong. That it was dark. But she followed.

She put her head down—hurried.

Seated in the car, he turned a blanched face to her. He said abruptly: "You're right! I suppose so."

She shut her eyes, moving toward him with a sound half laugh, half cry: "What do you mean, Barry? Oh, foolish! Can I go back now? You know I can't. Oh—these three days."

He pressed her hands. "But you can't stand it, Chickie. It's too hard for you. There'll be things again—"

"No—no! Oh, it's too late now, Barry. We have to go on. Oh, I do! No matter what. Oh, if you should end it—"

He stooped down swiftly and kissed her. He said ardently: "No! I won't!"

All Equal in Mixed Gatherings, So Why Worry, Says Fay King

THE CONCEITED PERSON FEELS SUPERIOR TO EVERYONE ELSE
THE PROPER ATTITUDE IS TO FEEL AS EQUALS
THE SHY PERSON FEELS INFERIOR TO EVERYONE ELSE
FAY KING

By FAY KING

SOME persons feel too superior. Other persons feel too inferior. This should never be. Equality is the proper attitude.

Any gathering is in a common interest of tastes, and so all are equal.

If it is a gathering for a good purpose, so much the better. If it is an environment of dissipation, there is even less reason for any apology or disdain.

One can always leave. If he or she remains it is because such course is preferred.

And in a gathering of worthy people the shyest need feel no inferiority, for interest has as much dignity as learning.

Strange Prophecy of Boarder Revealed

IF I had not been tensely anxious over the burglary at the farm house, I should have found it difficult to conceal the mirth excited by my mother-in-law's air of arrogant complacence as she announced that she knew the method of entrance the marauder had used.

"What is your theory as to the way the man got in?"

"False keys," she boomed.

"False keys!" I echoed perfunctorily.

"Of course," she said. "He probably towed Jerry over to the farm house on some excuse or other."

"Jerry wouldn't need any excuse to go to your house," Jerry's mother said, smiling faintly. "He's over there every chance he gets, chinning with Katie and Jim if he can't find any of you folks to talk to. Jerry's always hollow to his toes, no matter how much he gets to eat at home, and Katie's always good for a glass of milk, or a piece of cake or pie left over, or a cookie or a doughnut. She told me once that was your orders, always to give Jerry something to eat."

"She told you the truth," I said hastily, conscious of the majestic frown of my husband's choleric mother, who distinctly does not like to be interrupted. "As you were saying, Mother?" I made the question as placating as I could.

"That which Mrs. Ticer has just said confirms my theory," she said loftily. "No doubt while Katie was getting Jerry something to eat, this man, Hallam, found an opportunity to get Jerry out of the way long enough for him to take a wax impression of the lock. I understand that is frequently done."

"After that, of course, everything was easy for him. And it wouldn't be a hard task for him to bamboozle Jerry into telling him just where he'd made the mistake about the rooms and just where everybody slept, without the boy ever finding out what he was up to. You mustn't blame Jerry, Mrs. Ticer, I'll warrant he doesn't know the man ever got any information out of him."

"That's all I'm hoping," my neighbor said slowly, as my mother-in-law paused, "that he was just dumb instead of wicked. But I've heard say that ignorance killed more people than murderers. Anyways I'm thankful that nobody was hurt. When I think about that blessed, game little boy—I could strap Jerry black and blue."

"Please, Mrs. Ticer!" I said softly, "don't feel this way. We all know that Jerry would almost give his life for Junior—"

"There's no almost about it," she said. "He'd be ground up for that little lad any day. But—"

"Suppose we don't talk any more about Jerry's part in this," I said. "I'm interested in what your lodger said before he went this morning. Sometimes a criminal, even a wary one, drops a clue to his future movements without intending to do so."

"You evidently agree with me, Margaret," my mother-in-law struck in, "that this man, Hallam, was one of the burglars."

"Or directed the men who actually broke in," I replied. "Can you remember anything else your lodger said, Mrs. Ticer, besides telling you what had happened?"

My neighbor looked around the walls of her little sitting room as if they could aid her memory.

"He didn't say anything which would give any idea where he was going, but he did say something funny about the burglary. When he had got through telling what happened, he looked at me as if his eyes or what I could see of 'em—he wore thick glasses—would bore through me.

"'Mark my word, Mrs. Ticer,' he says, 'those fellows was after something special, they didn't want money nor yet jewelry, and they won't stop with one try. They'll be back again, and the next time they won't fail. Those folks had better get ready to give 'em what they want.'"

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Why Must Men Be Young and Beautiful?

IN the old days a man was "as young as he felt"—and let it go at that. While the women were banting, rolling, taking mud-baths, and rushing around frantically, from hairdressers to beauty-surgeons, man sat at home and grew comfortably fat, bald and middle-aged.

He considered it unmanly to put pomade on his hair, and refused even to deny himself a baked potato in the interest of his waistline. It never occurred to him that a bald-spot and a little embonpoint could mar his fatal fascination.

* * *

But, now, every other man you meet is on a diet for his figure, and has a recipe or a theory for staying young forever. He seems to think that a man is no younger than his weakest tooth or his faintest wrinkle, and that when his beauty fades his life will be over.

* * *

You can't go into a beauty-parlor without meeting a man coming out, all pink and white and marcelled and pomaded and manicured.

* * *

You have to wait at the barber's for your shingle half an hour, while some fair young man has a mud-facial or a pompadour wave.

* * *

When you can't find your eyebrow pencil, your tweezers, or your sunburn lotion, you know that Father or Brother has been using them.

* * *

Dad golfs all day to keep his hips down—and dances all evening to keep his blood-pressure up. Brother sticks back his hair with scented brilliantine and takes his moustache seriously.

* * *

* * *

What's it all about, anyway?

* * *

A woman MUST be good to look at in order to get anything worth while out of life—but does a man need to bother about these things?

* * *

Nobody ever asks of a man: "Is he beautiful?"—but "Is he NICE?" Nobody ever asks "Is he young?" but "Is he successful?"

* * *

Youth and charm are not matters of years but matters of temperament.

* * *

* * *

And those who possess the talisman of eternal youth are those who have preserved a PETER PAN HEART—a heart full of hope and faith and ideals and enthusiasms.

A man is NEVER old until he loses his faith in himself and his illusions about love and women.

* * *

* * *

A man's beauty was never more than two per cent of his charm, anyway—so, why should he get so excited about it?

* * *

Is it not ART, but HEART, that keeps us young, forever!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Right Foods Will Halt Pellagra

PELLAGRA is a disease which was first discovered in northern Spain away back in 1735. Fortunately it is a disease of man found in relatively few places.

DR. COPELAND

For many years it was common only in some parts of Italy. In the past century people in France, Rumania and Egypt have been afflicted by it.

The United States did not recognize this disease as such until 1908. It was first discovered in Georgia. Among the poor and undernourished in some towns the diet was very much restricted to corn. Here it was that pellagra was found to thrive.

Since that time pellagra has rapidly increased in the rural South and Middle West. By 1917 there were reported some 170,000 cases.

Investigators of this disease have attributed it to many different factors. Now the leading authorities agree that it is due to faulty diet.

GOOD HYGIENE

The disease involves the nervous system, the digestive tract and the skin. There are pronounced gastric disturbances, flatulence, gas formation and diarrhoea. Skin eruptions appear in spots or groups of spots. It may look not unlike sunburn. After a few days these symptoms pass and the skin is left rough and scaly.

There is burning in the mouth and swelling of the tongue. Pains are felt here and there. The sleep is broken.

Proper food and good hygiene are the secrets of cure for this trouble. One should follow a diet composed of plenty of sweet milk, buttermilk, steak, lamb chops and the white meat of chicken, fresh fish, canned salmon and the finer grained vegetables.

It is more important that the health be built up by the use of this nutritious but simple diet. Vigor and vitality will be restored and resistance to disease secured.

Most interesting are recent experiments in pellagra made at the Georgia State Sanitarium. It has been found canned salmon contains the preventive factor for this disease. Certainly it is a good as well as a cheap substitute for meat in the diet when the latter is not available.

Among the poorer classes in the industrial towns of Georgia the diet has consisted largely of corn and corn products. It was evident that these people were not well nourished.

PROTEINS NECESSARY

There were 18 women upon whom this experiment was made. It covered a period of a year. When canned salmon was used in the diet none showed any signs of pellagra. Without this particular diet, including canned salmon, fully 40 to 50 per cent of them had evidences of pellagra within three to seven months. It was concluded that the right sort of protein food, as fish, meat or milk products is necessary in the prevention of pellagra.

It is important that the proper selection of food for the promotion of health and well-being should be understood by everyone. This fact has not been properly appreciated in the past.

Correct Manners

Amenities of Formal Dining

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. At a banquet given in honor of a prominent man, is it proper for a woman to introduce herself to the guest of honor?

2. Is it proper for one to start a conversation with the guests across the table, although they have never formally been introduced?

3. Is it considered very impolite to add water to one's coffee when it is too hot?

4. When dining out with a man, should the lady give her order to the waitress, or should the man give both orders?

5. At a table when the waitress passed around a dish, and one does not wish to partake of it, is it proper to say "No, thank you," or what is the proper way to refuse?

6. After a lecture or solo performance at a club meeting, is it proper for one of the audience to express her appreciation to the performer or lecturer?

7. Is it proper for anyone to thank a newspaper man for a favorable criticism of one's performance when meeting him personally?

8. Should a woman rise when she is being introduced to another woman? V. Z.

YES.

2. Yes, when all of the guests are vouched for by being at the same table, for instance in a home or at a club.

3. Yes. This is never good form, and shouldn't be done. The coffee will cool in a minute or two.

4. The woman gives her order to the man, her host, and he gives both orders to the waiter.

5. Your remark is correct. However, if you are dining in a home, it is better form to take some of everything that is passed, even if you only nibble at it after you have taken it on your plate.

6. Yes. And most gracious and appreciative.

7. Yes.

8. It is not necessary unless there is an appreciable difference in their ages. Then, of course, the younger woman rises.

The Housewarming Gift

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am invited to a housewarming party and I would like to know if it is customary to take a gift? My friend and I have been discussing this for days, and she thinks it is customary and perfectly proper, but I do not think it is.

F. S. and C. H.

IT IS not necessary to take a gift to such a party, but it is often done, and it is correct to do so if we wish to.

Regarding Olives

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please let me know whether stuffed olives should be taken up with the fingers as are other olives, or whether a fork should be used.

G. R.

STUFFED olives are eaten in the fingers.

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Love's Way

OH, LOVE that is too deep, too dear
For any song or sigh,
How could I hope my love would hear
As she passed by?

How could I fancy she would guess
What I could never tell,
Or know the wealth of tenderness
I hid so well?

I went not knocking at her door,
I sent no roses sweet;
But, ah, my heart lay prone before
Her dancing feet!

How could she know my world was dim
Except for where she smiled
And that I saw all shadows grim
By her beguiled?

I cannot guess how it could be
She knew all I would say,
She read the heart, the soul of me;
It is Love's way!

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

IF there are but a few bothersome gray hairs at the temples, they can be touched after the shampoo with mascara. Mascara comes in cake form. A small brush is dipped in water, passed over the coloring agent and applied to the hair. It is only temporary makeshift, but it serves.

AT least twice a year hair that has been bleached or dyed should be subjected to hot oil treatments, the oil being applied with a pledget of cotton or a small brush and left on over night. A dyed head of hair is pretty much like of piece of furniture that has been painted over and over again; after a time the paint must be removed and a new start made.

BEFORE the complexion is massaged with a heavy cream, the skin surface should be clean, otherwise dust is ground into the pores. The first cleansing can be with soap and water or a thin liquid cream which should be entirely removed. A light tapping movement with the finger tips is revitalizing to tissues and blood streams.

BATH salts are a pleasant luxury. Instead of buying by the bottle one can purchase bath torpedoes, each little package wrapped in gay paper and filled with the proper amount for one bath. They soften the water and impart a refreshing fragrance to the skin.

THE double braid at the back of the neck, after the Italian fashion, is good style, and some of the smarties are affecting it. The hair is braided tightly, laid straight across and the ends are curled. Shoulder length tresses work out perfectly, the curly ends covering the ears. It is still ordained that the shape of the head should be revealed.

LEAN, lank ladies should not wear lean, lank frocks. They need cross lines, not too well defined. Neck lines should never be pointed, but rounded or square. The hem of the skirt should be four inches below the proportions. Frocks fairly loose in fit to conceal the angles. Tall hat crowns add to height, as does the uplifted coiffure. There is such a thing as overdoing the straight line stuff.

Household Hints

If silver is never washed with soap it will retain its luster. Hold under hot water faucet and use unsoaped water, then polish with chamois skin.

Dirty and greasy leather-covered furniture is best cleaned with warm water to which a little ammonia has been added. This should be rubbed on with a soft cloth. Finish off with a dry cloth.

New calico, prints and lace curtains are hard to wash owing to the lime in them, but if you give them a night's soaking in warm water in which two or three handfuls of salt have been dissolved, the lime is freed and the task lightened.

To remove grease stains from a grate or stove, dip the cleaning cloth in vinegar before blacklead is applied.

Soft collars and tennis shirts are improved in appearance and keep clean longer when put through weak starch and ironed while a trifle damp.

After washing silk stockings give them a final rinsing in clean water to which a little vinegar has been added. This will remove any trace of soap and preserve the silk.

Since creams and lotions for the complexion are made with cucumber juice, it is obvious that it is good for the skin. Its application direct to the skin is, however, particularly beneficial and cooling in cases of uncomfortable sunburn.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, April 16.

THE astrological auguries for this day may not be interpreted as entirely propitious. While there is a sign forecasting a sudden change of environment and interests, with many prospects for advantageous contacts and larger opportunities, yet there is a figure read as perilous to new projects and holding danger to current employment. However, the mind may be sharp and shrewd, so affairs judiciously handled may redound to decided benefit. Elders may assist substantially.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of unforseen changes, with great prospects for enlarged opportunities, despite some hazards to new projects and to the employment. Judiciously handled, all may prosper and invite the assistance of elderly persons or institutions, as recognition for industry and fidelity.

A child born on this day should be well equipped mentally for attaining substantial position in life. It may be shrewd, profound, original and have strong leanings to the scientific and inventive. It may attract the support of elderly persons and institutions.

ITALIANS FREE U. S. DRAFTERS

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—Release of two Italian-Americans from the Italian Army into which they had been drafted was reported to the State Department today by Nobile Giacomo De Martino, the Italian ambassador.

The two men are Costanzo Marini, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and Antonio Pizzucco, of the Bronx, New York.

The ambassador told Acting Secretary Cotton that Marini was erroneously drafted into the Italian Army through a misunderstanding of the authorities of the city which he visited in Italy during a trip to his homeland.

Pizzucco, the ambassador said, was drafted into the army because he did not show the necessary evidence to prove that he was exempt from military service.

The ambassador's call was made at his own suggestion to acquaint this government of the manner in which the long-troublesome question of the naturalized American is being dealt with at present by the Mussolini government.

CUBAN EXPORTS AGENCY QUITS

HAVANA, April 15.—(AP.)—The Cuban Co-operative Exports Agency, which for six months has provided a single sales system and an export control for Cuban sugar, was voted out of existence by stockholders representing 23,529 common shares out of a total of 25,000.

The vote in favor of dissolution of the agency came on the recommendation of Dr. Arturo Manas, attorney for the Cuban-American Sugar Company, who pointed out that all indications were that most of the stockholders favored doing away with the agency.

American sugar interests were said to desire not only dissolution of the agency, but definite assurance that the Cuban government would not further intervene in the sugar industry. This cannot be considered certain until the Cuban Congress has revoked a law passed in October, 1927.

Columbia Finds One Student 'Perfect'

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP.)—The senior class of Columbia College in its annual vote conducted by the "Columbian," student magazine, has selected James Lee Campbell, of Galena, Kan., as the most popular, the most dignified, the most unselfish, the best natured, the best all-around man and the man who has done most for Columbia.

HUBBARD BIDS ON MAYFLOWER

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP.)—Navy Department and aquatic enthusiasts were at a loss to explain why the Order of Herman, a sports club of Easton, should have omitted inclosing a certified check with its bid for the purchase of the Mayflower, the President's yacht, which President Hoover has declined to use.

The Order of Herman bid of $60,000 was the highest, the Navy Department found, when bids were opened. James W. Hubbard, of Pittsburgh, wealthy yatchsman and shovel manufacturer, was the second highest bidder at $35,000, but the department, without explanation, rejected all bids.

Decision will be made later whether to call for new bids.

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."

Baseball Lid Comes Off. • Old Pitcher Passes.
Bucs Under Handicap. • Freak Plays on Coast.
Home Fans' Fine Spirit. • To Honor Pitt Captain.

ALL EQUAL TODAY, BUT IT WON'T LAST

"HAPPY DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN," The cover will be peeled off another baseball season this afternoon following yesterday preliminary in Washington. In some towns along the main line of Baildom the days may not long continue to be happy ones, as only a winning club can breed lasting contentment in the national sport, and not every city can have a winner. In due time, a number of the teams starting out today will become mere trailers, and interest and enthusiasm in their respective communities will drop accordingly. But this is the one stage of the pennant campaign when they're all on an equal footing. It's opening day for everybody, one club is as good as another for the time being, and the occasion brings one of Sportdom's greatest annual thrills to the residents of every part of the land.

Lloyd Waner

Pittsburgh's class as a ball town was never more convincingly attested than in the confidence and enthusiasm with which local fans awaited the Pirates' hop-off in Cincinnati. It's a sadly crippled team that limps to the post for Father Pitt, as, with Lloyd Waner and Pie Traynor missing, the club lacks the services of two players who rank with the most valuable in the country.

BUT in spite of these circumstances which would have depressed the average fan community, local rooters were as full of the spirit of the day as those in any other city in the big loops, and they were pulling for the Bucs as confidently as if Jewel Ens had been able to send every regular to the starting line.

That's the kind of spirit that helps a ball club and it augurs well for the future of the Pirates. It is in a time of adversity that a team needs support and encouragement most urgently, and the unmistakable evidence that the reconstructed Rovers are going to have the solid backing of the home fans gives assurance that one essential to a creditable pennant showing will not be lacking here this year.

THERE is no doubt that when the crippled Corsairs get on their collective feet again they will prove themselves worthy of the confidence shown by the fans. Their early showing is problematical, as no club could be deprived of the services of two such players as Captain Traynor and the younger Waner without being seriously weakened.

But regardless of what happens in the meantime there is every promise that once the missing players are on the job again the club will speedily show itself to be a worthy opponent for the best in the fight.

Pie Traynor

AS usual, both major league presidents have predicted the "greatest season in history." Opening day wouldn't be complete without those same optimistic expressions from headquarters. But only the future, of course, can tell anything about it. Everything depends upon the character of the pennant races and the possibility that the weather conditions, as a general rule, will be more favorable than those of the last six seasons. With the right sort of weather, the season will be just what the pennant races make it. Close and open fights will make for sustained interest and good attendance. Runaways, on the other hand, will take the pep out of things and cause the public to tire of the proceedings in the closing stages of the campaign. Happily, signs point to closely contested races in both leagues, the fifty-fifth in the National and the thirty-first in the American.

JUST as the present-day big league stars were preparing to start on another lap of their careers, one of the best known of the old days passed on yesterday in the death of Frank Kitson at his farm home near Allegan, Mich., after a lingering illness.

Kitson first became a big leaguer as a member of the Baltimore National League club in 1898, remaining with that team also in 1899. When the league was reduced to eight clubs the following season and Baltimore dropped, the Brooklyn club, which owned the Orioles, took over the pick of the players.

KITSON was among those transferred to Brooklyn, and with him went Pitchers Joe McGinnity, Jerry Nops and Harry Howell, Catcher Broadway Alex Smith, Infielder Eugene Demontreville and Outfielders Jimmy Sheckard and Ducky Holmes. John McGraw and Wilbert Robinson were sent from Baltimore to St. Louis.

Emil Yde

Kitson continued with Brooklyn until 1903, when he and Wild Bill Donovan jumped to the Detroit Americans, while Willie Keeler at the same time jumped to the New York Americans. Kitson pitched for Detroit until the end of the 1905 season and then drifted to the minors, going to the Kansas City club, with which he closed his pitching career.

MUCH newspaper space is still being given to descriptions of how Emil Yde, former Pirate flinger, with Hollywood in the Coast League, "lost a game without pitching a ball." He stepped to the rubber with the bases full, two out and the score tied, made a balk on his first wind-up and the winning run came in. An unusual happening, it is true, but it was not a defeat for Yde, as some of the accounts state. A pitcher is responsible for every runner that he puts on the bases, and the deciding run and the defeat in this instance must be charged to the hurler who preceded Yde and filled the bases.

YDE'S balk wasn't the only freak play in the Coast League last week. In another game three men came to bat in an inning. Two hit safely and the other sacrificed, yet the fourth man never came to bat. The side was retired on two singles and a sacrifice. Two runners were caught off the bases.

This leads John Kieran to recall a game played by the Giants in which Jimmy O'Connell went to bat as a pinch-hitter with men on first and second and none out. When he took his third strike it made the third out and none was left on base. The two runners had been caught off the sacks before O'Connell fanned. Anything can happen in baseball.

BURLEIGH GRIMES and Eddie Roush were not the only prominent players, after all, to carry their holdouts down to opening day. After denying previous holdout reports and announcing that Al Simmons would be in left field for the opener "if his ankles were fit," Connie Mack yesterday admitted that his star outfielder still was unsigned.

Of course, it won't be carried much farther. Few holdouts are dragged out beyond opening day, for that's the time when salaries begin. The A's could hardly win again this year without Simmons, and there is no doubt that he will be rounded up in a short time.

GEORGE SMITH, who became the first major league pitcher to win a game this season when he defeated Washington in yesterday's American League inaugural, is a big right-hander.

FIGHT FAKED, IS CHARGE ON COAST

OAKLAND, Cal., April 15.—(AP.)—An investigation of reports that the Primo Carnera-Leon Chevalier fight was "faked" was begun today by the California State Boxing Commission, which withheld the giant-Italian's $10,000 purse.

A near riot broke out in the sixth round of the scheduled 10-round fight last night when one of the Negro's seconds tossed a towel into the ring, awarding the contest to Carnera on a technical knockout.

SECOND ATTACKED

The second, Bob Perry, of Hollywood, immediately became the center of a milling mob, which handled him roughly and inflicted a gash over one eye. Hundreds of Carnera's countrymen shouted their anger at the sudden ending of the fight, crying "Fake, bring Carnera back and make him fight over again."

WAS "APPROACHED"

Before two boxing inspectors and six newspapermen, Mrs. Chevalier, wife of the Negro boxer, persuaded her husband to make a statement that he had been approached, before signing articles, with a proposition that he must agree to a "fake fight." By agreeing to this, the Negro said he was told, his end of the purse "would be more than $900." Chevalier replied that all his business was handled by his manager, Tim McGrath.

GENEVA JRS. COP MEET

BEAVER FALLS, April 15.—The juniors copped the annual Geneva College track and field meet with a total of 55½ points yesterday. The freshmen finished second with 41 points. The sophomores nosed out the seniors for third by a half point with their 34½ total.

Nulton romped home to win the half mile in the excellent time of 2:02. Wilson was not pressed to take the mile in 4:43 and Thomas did not find the going tough in capturing the 100, 220 and 440.

Local Ice Franchise May Go To Seashore

ATLANTIC CITY, April 15.—The Pittsburgh franchise of the National Hockey League may be transferred to Atlantic City.

Benny Leonard, owner of the controlling stock in the Pirates, is here to lay a proposition before Lincoln G. Dickey, general manager of the Municipal Stadium.

"Duquesne Garden might have been all right for hockey years ago, but the place is too old and too small for the present day," said Leonard. "If Mr. Dickey and myself can come to terms I would be only too glad to transfer the franchise to this city."

Coast Man Seeking Carnera-Dempsey Go

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—(INS.)—William P. Kyne, San Francisco sportsman, today came forward with an offer to stage a fight between Primo Carnera and Jack Dempsey. He said he would guarantee the Italian $150,000 or 20 per cent of the gate and would give Dempsey a flat guarantee of $500,000.

Nick Altrock Says:

WASHINGTON, April 15.—We opened the season yesterday with the Red Sox, but it was only an exhibition game to give Hoover a chance to break into the movies. The President did a nice job at that throwing out the first ball. He couldn't have hurled it any straighter if Borah was there to receive it. The other clubs start the season today and they are all confident they will be in the pennant fight. I made the same prediction myself last year when we finished seventh. I said if we didn't win the flag, we would only lose it by a nose. What I meant was a rhinoceros nose.

According to Pliny, it was King Juba II of the two Mauretanias who named the Islands "Canarias" for the "large number of dogs which he found roaming there." The bird which is indigenous to the islands was named after them. (A canary bird is literally "a bird of the Dog Islands.") COBB TO BUY COAST CLUB

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—(INS.)—Tyrus Raymond Cobb will become a Pacific Coast League baseball magnate late this year when he purchases a half interest in the San Francisco Baseball Club, it became known today.

There is no idle speculation in the reports that Cobb will buy into the Seals. Negotiations already have started and the deal is expected to be consummated before the 1930 season ends. Delays and hitches may hold back everything until winter comes.

Charley Graham and Doc Strub, long members in good standing of the Coast League, will sell out their interest to Cobb and George Alfie Putnam, third member of the Seals' present triumvirate.

Putnam and Cobb are close friends and have had this move under the hat for two years.

According to the schedule, Putnam and Cobb each will own half the club. Cobb will be installed as president, with Putnam acting in a smaller capacity.

Recent announcement that the Seals are to build a new ball park worth in excess of $1,000,000 is said to be Cobb's work. He wants to start in his new berth with everything in top-top shape.

The possibility of Cobb managing the Seals is believed to be remote. His duties as president will require enough of his time to prevent him from donning a uniform or even directing play a La Connie Mack.

KELLY SUCCEEDS GROFT

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 15.—(AP.)—With the opening of the Western League baseball season only five days away, Pete Groft, manager of the Oklahoma City Indians, resigned yesterday because of ill health, and Joe Kelly, who has seen service in several major and minor league camps, was appointed skipper of the Indians.

Wright Convinces Robins That They're 'In'

NEW YORK, April 15.—Glenn Wright, former Pirate, now shortstop for the Robins, has worked out a chart that is the amazement of the entire Brooklyn club. It shows that the team is 20 per cent stronger defensively than it was last season and that the Brooklyn pitching is improved.

"We can win the pennant with 90 games," Wright told his mates, and the best part of it all—for Brooklyn—is that the club believes him absolutely.

Glenn's throwing arm is back in A-1 condition, and the Robins regard him as their "miracle man."

A. A. CLUBS LIFT LID

CHICAGO, April 15.—(AP.)—The full-sized opening of major league baseball seasons yesterday was business of secondary importance to eight Middle-Western cities whose entrants faced the campaign for the twenty-ninth annual championship of the American Association. Kansas City was scheduled to open up at Indianapolis, picked by experts to finish second this season. St. Paul was at Columbus for the inaugural day. The Saints will work under the new management of Lefty Leifield.

Milwaukee, opening at Louisville, was hopeful of a first division berth during Marty Berghammer's first full season as manager.

HELEN BEATS GRIFFIN

NEW YORK, April 15.—(INS.)—Helen Wills (Moody) has lost none of her speed and cleverness, New York tennis experts today agreed. Playing in the East for the first time since her marriage, the noted California girl defeated Elmer J. Griffin, formerly a leading California star, 7-5, 6-3, yesterday in Forest Hills.

EDGEWOOD NINE AT SHADY SIDE

The scholastic baseball campaign will resume a tion this afternoon on local school diamonds after having pried off the lid yesterday.

A feature of this afternoon's card will be the Shady Side-Edgewood High game at Shady Side, the inaugural tilt for both teams. Coach Davis has a strong hitting aggregation, and none-too-potent hurling staff, which is certain to be well-tested by the Edgewood team today.

In Group I of the South Side district of the City Grade School League, Allen plays Spring Lane at Warrington Park. In Group II, Brookline meets West Liberty and in Group III, Stevens tackles Keffer. In Group IV, Oakwood takes on Fairwood.

Three Dixie Loops To Lift Lid Today

ATLANTA, April 15.—(AP.)—Renewal of Dixie's annual diamond skirmishes brought 22 teams, three baseball leagues and upwards of 75,000 fans into action today. Inaugural games were arranged in the Southern Association and Southeastern and Cotton States Leagues.

Some of the South's baseball enthusiasm, however, was reserved for Monday, when the remodeled South Atlantic Association gets away in the Carolinas and Georgia.

DEFER HANDBALL PLAY

Play in the Duquesne University handball tournament was postponed yesterday because of wet courts. The matches will be resumed today.

FLAG HINGES ON BREAKS, JEWEL SAYS

Staff Correspondent.
By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

CINCINNATI, April 15.—Manager Jewel Ens and Vice President Sam Dreyfuss of the Pirates this morning made the following statements to the Pittsburgh-Sun-Telegraph voicing their views on the Buccos' chances and the race in general:

MANAGER ENS.

"Nobody is going to make a runaway race of it. To me the big fight starting today looks like a free-for-all involving four clubs—the Cubs, the Pirates, the Giants and the Cardinals, the same teams that finished in the first division last year. Each of these teams, I believe, has a flag chance, but the Cardinals will have to get good pitching. They have a great punch. McGraw always is dangerous and generally in the thick of the fight. It is safe to count him in on any pennant reckoning, although the Giants chances, I think, are largely dependent on the second base situation.

"Naturally, we would like to start the season with our best strength on the field, but we cannot do it. However, if Traynor and Grantham recover quickly we should be in the race right from the start. Lloyd Waner will be missed, but in Brickell and Flagstead we have two sterling outfielders.

"Personally, I think it will be a great race. The breaks may decide it—they often do. Here's hoping we get our share of them."

VICE-PRESIDENT DREYFUSS

"Like Manager Ens, I think the big race starting today will be a dandy. The Pirates have had a lot of misfortune in regard to sickness, but I feel the reserve strength of the team will measure up in the event that we should need it for any length of time. Ens has handled the club very intelligently through the long spring training trip, just as he did after taking over the reins last fall. Give him Traynor and Grantham for daily action, and Lloyd Waner a little later, and he'll make trouble all the way.

"The same four teams that finished in the first division last season look like the flag contenders again. I figure the Pirates have as good a chance as the Cubs, Giants and Cardinals. The second division clubs of our league are immeasurably strengthened and probably will cause no end of annoyance to the pennant contenders. Frankly, I am most optimistic over the Pirates' chances."

I. L. OPENS TOMORROW

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP.)—A day behind their major league brethren, the eight clubs of the International League will open the 1930 season tomorrow.

The four clubs in the northern half of the circuit will open in the southern half—Newark, Jersey City, Reading and Baltimore—as usual, and will not open their own seasons at home until May 6. The card: Montreal at Jersey City, Buffalo at Newark, Rochester at Baltimore, and Toronto at Reading.

Opening Day

Forget all your sorrows and troubles,
Away with disarmament woes,
Today there'll be triples and doubles
To keep Uncle Sam on his toes.

Why bother with troublesome nations
Whose favorite game is intrigue?
If the, wanted peace for their rations
We'd slip them a "Double A" League.

Drink deep of the sport of the springtime,
Find joy in the bleachers or stands;
O, where will you find better sing-time
With music of laughter and bands?

The batter is set for a groover,
To hit it clean over the wall—
From messenger boy up to Hoover,
Stand by for the classic, "play ball."

EDGEWOOD TO STAGE FIRST BIG GOLF EVENT

MAY 16 SET FOR CARNEGIE TOURNEY

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

The first really big golf tournament of the season, unless another is scheduled in the meantime, will take place on Friday, May 16, when more than 100 members of the O. D. G. A. gang of Carnegie Steel swarm the links for golf in the afternoon and pack the tables for a festive dinner in the evening at the Edgewood Country Club. Manager Eddie Shuttle, who runs things at Edgewood like a clockwork, spreads the good news. The O. D. G. A. includes virtually all of the officials of Carnegie Steel, and of the company's several tournaments it's event caps them all. Manager Shuttle also has announced a busy calendar for May which will see much activity at Edgewood in the way of women's golf and bridge, and a number of men's tournaments.

Billy Moir, former Shannopin and Conneaut Oakland Beach pro, is on the job at Edgewood in his new capacity as clubmaker and assistant professional to Irish Jimmy O'Donnell.

Bill O'Donnell, Jimmy's brother, has been signed at the Oakland Beach links in Conneaut Lake, and is doing great. Paul E. (Toots) Erath, back from his sick-bed, is holding down the caddie-master's job as well as an assistant pro's job this season at Edgewood.

The Tri-State Professional Golfers' Association held a banquet and meeting last night in the Keystone Athleic Club, and Fred Brand, of Allegheny, was re-elected president. Charley Manning, of Shannopin, was named to succeed the late Charley Rowe of Oakmont, as vice president, and Dave McKay again was made secretary-treasurer.

Perry Delvicchio, Greensburg; Walter Loeffler, South Hills, and George Underwood, Alcoma, make up the board of directors, while Jimmy Devlin, Nemacolin, heads the golf committee, which includes Fred Baroni, Stanton Heights; Vince Eldred, Highland, and Walter Loeffler, South Hills. The local P. G. A. branch will hold its annual play at Cambridge Springs, Bedford Springs and Uniontown along with an enlarged schedule this season.

Emil (Dutch) Loeffler, Oakmont pro-greenkeeper, has announced the signing of New McKenna, of Jacksonville, Fla., as his assistant professional. He is 33 years old.

Sport Vignettes

Sergt. Sammy Baker, who added another victory to his string of conquests in Pittsburgh rings at the expense of Vincent Hambright at Motor Square Garden last night, is a strange contradiction. . . . In the ring he is a serious, methodical, plodding, almost-phlegmatic type, going about his work as a bricklayer would lay bricks . . . Out of it, he is happy, fun-loving and a free and easy talker, with considerable personality . . . The annual baseball panic gets under way today and for a lot of guys it won't end until the Athletics bump off the Cubs again next fall . . . For one day at least, the Boston Red Sox are in first place. . .Some pitchers' idea of control seems to be ability to hit every bat or batsman that leoms before them . . . News of the death of Young Corsey, Canton (O.), boxer, in an automobile accident near Akron Sunday morning came as a shock to the local fans, with whom he was a favorite . . . His last-bout here was with Young Chiodo, of Johnstown, at Motor Square Garden a few weeks ago . . . Frank (Bull) Brown, local umpire and fight judge, left last night for Louisville to help usher in the American Association season today . . . He hopes to return for a week in August to work in the Printers' national tournament, which will be one of the summer sports features in Pittsburgh . . . Frank (Dundee) Rodgers, hard-hitting outfielder of McKees Rocks, now is with the New Haven club, of the Eastern League, a farm of the Cleveland Indians . . . He hit a home run with two on against the Baltimore Orioles, of the International League, last Thursday and Manager Fritz Maisel, of the latter club, is said to be sweet on him.—HARRY KECK.

EDWARDS LOSES TO RUDY AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 15.—(AP.)—Young Rudy, Charleroi, won a decision over Freddie Edwards, Chester, W. Va., in 10 rounds here last night. Edwards was down for a six-count in the fourth round. Cowboy De Luca, Pittsburgh, won in six rounds from Jimmy McGraw, Martins Ferry.

Harry Devore, Wellsville, O., won a technical knockout in a bout with Sailor Place, Washington. Place's seconds threw in the towel at the start of the sixth round.

SAMMY BAKER WINNER OVER HAMBRIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Pilipino Vincent Hambright, of Cincinnati, recovered from a bad case of ringfright and began fighting too late to have a chance of beating Sergt. Sammy Baker, doughty welterweight veteran socker, of New York, in the Motor Square Garden main bout last night. As a matter of fact, Hambright had both feet in the water bucket so long that it was a slow, tedious bout, lacking in real thrills, until the last few rounds, when the Cincinnatian began winging with his long-range right and clipped Sammy on the chin often enough to make matters interesting. He even won one round, the eighth, and held his own in the ninth, by dint of doing some fighting, but by that time Baker was so far ahead that it would have taken almost a knockout to have given Hambright a draw. This was the verdict of one of the judges, Frank Ferris, while the other judge, Jock Simco, and the referee, Al Grayber, rightly voted for Baker.

LOSER NEAR KNOCKOUT

Round after round, Baker plodded to close quarters in characteristic fashion, pounding the body and sending short, jolting blows to the head. Hambright showed a healthy respect for the solid punching of his foe from the start and by the end of the second round was well softened from the thudding body massaging. In the third, he began to fight back a bit in sheer desperation and he hardly had opened up before Baker nailed him with a right to the jaw and dropped him to a sitting position.

It was almost a knockout, for Hambright remained motionless until after the referee had counted nine and the latter had to withhold the final toll to keep from counting him out. Baker's manager set up a cry of "knockout," but the bout was permitted to proceed.

Late in the fourth round, after doing a lot of running, Hambright stood still long enough to wind up a right to the head that shook Baker, but failed to keep him off. The next two rounds saw Hambright, picking up courage, do some spectacular swinging and uppercutting, all to no avail, as Baker kept crowding him and pounding his body. Baker won the seventh in a walk and was leading in the eighth until Hambright drove him across the ring with three rights to the jaw that dazed the Soldier. Another right hurt Baker at the bell and Hambright clipped him again at the start of the ninth round, but from then on Baker moved to the fore again and he evened up this session and won the tenth.

Baker weighed 146½ pounds and Hambright 143 at 3 p. m.

PIRRONE "LOSES" SEMI

Patsy Pirrone, of Canton, O., 176 pounds, defeated Harry Williams, Negro, of the North Side, 175, in four rounds and held his own in two others in the eight-round semi-final, but the judges disagreed, Ferris voting for Pirrone and Simco for a draw, and Referee Robinson went completely wrong and awarded the decision to Williams. This verdict got a long and deserved booing.

Georgie Bretsch, of the North Side, 150½ pounds, let Russell Powers, of Youngstown, 147, wear himself out throwing right hand punches in the first two rounds and then turned in and handed him a bad beating in the last four of the second six-round bout. He had Powers down for two counts of nine in the fourth round.

Another bad decision marred the opening bout, in which Sammy Paris, of the Hill, 123½, won four rounds and held his own in another of a hard-fought six-round battle with Al Iovino, of Swissvale, 122½, only to see the bout declared a draw when the judges disagreed, Simco voting for him, but Perris agreeing with Referee Robinson on a draw.

Johnny Deutsch, manager of Jackie Rodgers, and George Pearle, former manager of Rodgers, indulged in fisticuffs in Baker's corner at the start of the ninth round of the main bout and police had to quell the disturbance.

Between Rounds

The Jackie Rodgers-Marty Gold fight will be staged at the Moose Temple Gloat Friday night. It was scheduled originally for next Saturday and then for next Monday.

Tiger West and Lee Bain, Butch Keasler's two middleweights, want to fight anybody their weight around here, including Buck McTiernan, Mickey Solomen, Young Saylor and Jackie Wilson.

Vaudeville entertainment as well as amateur boxing is on the program of the testimonial show for Loudmon Campbell, former local boxer, scheduled at the Moose Temple Saturday night.

A number of the best boxers in the section have offered their services for the Billy Hatch benefit fund show to be held in McKeesport Thursday night, but Promoter Jim McGirr says he is disappointed at the failure of some others to get into line. Hatch was a Negro lad and it was thought such other Negro boxers as Jackie Rodgers and Harry Williams, whose names would mean much on the card, would be among those to do their bit. So far they have not volunteered.

STRONG B. & O. NINE SET FOR C. & I. RACE

RUSH PROMISES GOOD CLUB IN HAZLEWOOD

By TOM BIRKS.

Another keen contender for titular honors in the Commercial and Industrial Baseball League comes along with Frank Rush's list of players to represent the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad entry. Frank has corraled quite a bunch of real players from around the Hazelwood district and the Reick's Milk aggregation has another threat for the pennant now resting out in Forbes street.

It is only natural Rush should gather a classy aggregation. The railroad championships must be considered and the Hazelwood team always makes a good showing in the divisional race. The team will be built around a Hazelwood product in Chief Bennett. Bennett has been playing every kind of baseball from the sandlots to the big leagues, and his experience will help Frank Rush. Bennett will take care of the catching duties and is expected to make a good job of it. Gregory will help Bennett when the occasion demands.

GOOD SLAB MATERIAL

Bell, who starred with W. O. W. last season. Turek, formerly of Immaculate Heart, and Newman, formerly with Doc Irwin's club, will bear the brunt of the pitching. Several youngsters, including J. Bennett, will be fighting for berths as regular pitchers.

The infield positions will find Irwin, Mark Reagan, formerly with the Irwins; Barr, of McKeesport; Walter Bill, from the North Side, and Norman Welsh, doing their stuff. Jacobs will be a regular in the outfield, and the former Jimmy Smith player should be a tough man for opposing pitchers. Leeds, Alex Chorba, Harry Gorard and the usual number of new men trying out should round out the outfield berths.

This looks like a well balanced organization for the C. & I. aggregations to tackle. A meeting will be held this week to name a playing manager. Regular practice sessions will be held each evening at Burgwin Field until opening day. The Hazelwood team went into the final of the Railroad championship last season, Keyser, W. Va., defeating the locals in the last game.

Bunts

The City-County League of Lawrence County, was organized over the week-end, Ernie Glitch was elected president and Cliff Roberts secretary-treasurer. Four of last season's teams are in the loop: Energy, Homeland, Colorado A. C. and the Polish A. A. It is possible that Handy Service Stores, East Side Merchants and two other clubs will take out franchises at the next meeting, tomorrow night at 7:30.

The East End Cardinals, of the Steel City League, are booking games with the best high school or sandlot teams in the city. Manager Prata has lined up a great aggregation and is looking for a game Saturday, April 26, ahead. Write Russell Prata, Mt. Vernon street.

Duquesne Tigers want to book abroad Saturday, April 19. Any manager want ing to book the Tigers should call Homestead 0976, or write Tom Martin, 242 Eighteenth avenue, Homestead.

NO. 15.

GEORGE M'BRIDE,

Country Club of Pittsburgh.

The quiet chap you've seen hanging around the proshop at the Country Club of Pittsburgh is none other than George McBride, professional there, and brother to Al and the late Bill McBride. George holds an honor no' generally known, even among his best friends—he's the A. E. F. golf champion. George never has much to say, and had less to talk about in France—but members of his gang, including Joe Harris, baseball star in Company H, Three Hundred and Twentieth Infantry, discovered in him a golfer. And while George had had no intention of playing in the A. E. F. title competition, he was induced to enter—and he won. His prowess as a good golfer dates back to boyhood days. He played the game from his infancy, almost. Under the tutelage of his brother Bill, then Schenley pro, George developed so rapidly he was made assistant in 1912. Three years later he became instructor at the Edgewood Country Club, where he worked until he entered the Great War in 1917. On his return, he went back to Edgewood, staying there until 1923, when he went to the Lakewood Golf Club, Kansas City. In 1924 he came back in the district, at Montour Heights, and in 1926 hooked up with his present job. Aside from being a golfer of promise, he was an excellent baseball player in his youth, starring for Fifth Avenue High. His real interest in golf started as a caddie. So you can see, George is a real athlete.—VERN SWARTSFAGER.

Carnera-Chevalier Fight Probe Started

OAKLAND, Cal., April 15.—(AP.)—An investigation of reports that the Primo Carnera-Leon Chevalier fight was "faked" was begun today by the California State Boxing Commission, which withheld the giant Italian's $10,000 purse.

A near riot broke out in the sixth round of the scheduled 10-round fight last night when one of the Negro's seconds tossed a towel into the ring, awarding the contest to Carnera on a technical knockout.

The second, Bob Perry, of Hollywood, immediately became the center of a milling mob, which handled him roughly and inflicted a gash over one eye. Hundreds of Carnera's countrymen shouted their anger at the sudden ending of the fight, crying: "Fake, bring Carnera back and make him fight over again."

TWO RECORDS FALL AT WHEELING TRACK

RAUCONA NEARS HALF-MILE WORLD MARK

WHEELING, W. Va., April 15.—Two track records were broken here yesterday when in the third race, Paquette, a 3-year-old filly owned by W. A. McKinney, covered the five furlongs in 1:01 to tie Dr. Hickman's new mark established in the first race. This 13-year-old has already broken the record twice. Raucona, owned by G. F. Jenkins, won the fifth race at six and one-half furlongs. She raced the distance in 1:21 4-5, a new track record within one-fifth of a second of tieing the world record for a half-mile track.

SAN CARLOS REPEATS

San Carlos repeated to cop the Intelligence Purse and take first money in the $1,000 event. San Carlos won the West Virginia Handicap last Saturday, worth $2,000. This 5-year-old brown gelding has kept the A. G. Tarn stable in the running and is now the leading money winner at the track.

Today the Hancher Golden Anniversary purse will be the feature race. It has drawn an entry of some very fine horses, and nine have been declared for this race at 1 mile and 70 yards. Sweepstakes probably will rule the favorite in this event.

LONG SHOTS SCORE

Long shots again had a field day and the boys with the dope sheets were out of luck. Corn Belt galloped home in the final race, paying $19.40. Kentucky Colonel again came to the front and paid $18.80 in the fourth race at six and one-half furlongs.

A fast track greeted followers of the turf despite the fact rain fell throughout the morning, as was evinced by the final records turned in for the day.

CHAMPION HIGH JUMPER

Knute Rockne

A year ago, the best he could do was 6 feet, and everyone thought that was about his limit. When he cleared the bar at 6 feet 4½ inches off of a board floor with flat shoes last winter, he surprised all of the experts.

He has jumped 6 feet 3 inches at least nine times this season. He does not use the dive or what is known as the California roll, but jumps straight from in front with what is called the old Sweeney clipper style, a beautiful, legitimate performance that is pretty to watch.

As Spitz is just a youngster he is a real Olympic candidate for the games at Los Angeles in 1932, and a chap who may threaten Osborn's world mark of 6 feet 8⅛.

Ranchers Prepare For Big Lion Hunt

SANTA ROSA, Cal.—(INS.)—Ranchers of the Skaggs' Springs section are preparing for a lion hunt, following disclosure that scores of lambs have been killed in recent weeks by the beasts. According to Walter Dickson, of Las Lomas Rancho, lambs have been found buried in the hills when huge paw prints were trailed. The lion is said to have been in the hills for more than three years. Assistance of the state lion hunter is to be sought, Dickson stated.

Fred Marberry, though he failed to start the Senators off with a victory, and who also escaped being charged with the defeat, at least got a jump toward his annual distinction of leading the American League in number of games pitched. He's always a few steps ahead of the other workhorses. He led his league again last year with 49 games, George Earnshaw, with 44, being his closest rival. Marberry reached his highest mark in 1926, when he worked in 64 games, within two of Ed Walsh's modern record, set in 1908.

About 60 Pitt graduates reside in the vicinity of Wilkes-Barre. The Baker testimonial will be their first get-together occasion, and it is planned to form an alumni chapter.

THE INCOMPARABLE BLEND of Camel Cigarettes is probably the most important discovery in the history of smoking. It made cigarette smoking popular. Camel changed the smoking habits of the nation and has given pleasure to more millions of people than any other cigarette.

This exclusive blend assures in Camel a smoothness, a mildness and a mellow fragrance that cannot be imitated. It preserves all the excellent qualities of the choice tobaccos of which Camels are made and melds them all together into a delightful harmony of smoke pleasure. It sets Camel apart as a cigarette of distinctive character and provides for Camel smokers the very highest form of smoking luxury.

BILL DONOHOE MAY LEAVE ST. FRANCIS

GENEVA - W. VA. TRACK MEET THURSDAY

By JESS CARVER.

Among the few college coaching contracts as yet unsigned in this district is that of Wild Bill Donohoe, whose present term as chief mentor of all sports at St. Francis expires with the completion of the baseball season.

Bill Donohoe

Wild Bill former Carnegie Tech backfield luminary hasn't signed a contract for next year, and it is considered very doubtful that he will. He hasn't been tendered a new agreement yet, but Bill himself is a bit sanguine about getting a satisfactory one. Unless it is satisfactory, Bill will not affix his flowing signature.

Donohoe has been at St. Francis for the past two years, and has turned out some good clubs. His football teams have been on a par with other class B elevens of the district, and his basketball quintets have held their own in all classes of competition.

GENEVA-W. VA. CLASH

It remains for Geneva to pry off the Western Pennsylvania track and field campaign, stealing the spotlight from Pitt and Carnegie Tech. The Covenanters have moved their meet with West Virginia up from Saturday to Thursday, and will engage Art Smith's Mountaineers in Reeves Stadium, Beaver Falls, that day.

Pitt and Tech will give the campaign an extra shove or two Saturday, the Panthers facing Ohio State in the Stadium and Tech meeting the P. A. A. team captained by Roy Roy, former Pitt middle distance runner, in the Tartan Bowl.

BATTER UP!

Having broken even in the two-game series last week with Ohio University, West Virginia's nine will resume operations on the Fairmont front this afternoon, taking on Jasper Colebanks' Fairmont Teachers.

The old tradition of using a box-car like gent at third base continues at W. Va. Bus Larue, who is the modern edition of Ira Rodgers, holds forth at the hot corner for the Mountaineers, just like Ira used to do in his playin' days.

STOEBER ELECTED

The Tri-State Athletic Conference elected John Stoeber, of Thiel, president, at a meeting yesterday at which all members were represented. He succeeded Andy McDonald, of Westminster. A. C. Edgecome, of Geneva, was named secretary-treasurer, succeeding Stoeber.

The request of Slippery Rock Teachers for entrance, to replace Duquesne University, was dismissed by vote.

The Tip Off

Jack Sutherland is using big Jim McMurdo at an end, having shifted the former tackle to the outside line position during last week's practice at Pitt. McMurdo is as fast as any lineman now at Pitt, and his 220 pounds of bulk and six feet, two inches of height, make him a very tough baby to move out of the way.

The new polo ponies secured by the officers of the One Hundred and Seventh Regiment, Field Artillery, showed fine promise in Saturday night's Red-White game at the Hunt Armory. Better mounted, the officers will have a much better chance of defeating the Shady Side Academy riders Saturday night in the third game of the series.

Bob Waddell, head coach of football at Carnegie was well pleased with the two weeks of spring training completed by the Tartans on Saturday. He obtained a pretty fair line on the sophomore material available for next fall's eleven, of which there is a wealth.

"Put a circle around that one!" Lieut. Kiser, No. 1 on the Red team in the polo game Saturday night, shouted to Capt. Hight, manager of the squad, after scoring in a melee in front of the goal. "Circle my eye!" retorted Hight, "that takes a horseshoe."

NEW YORK, April 15 — (AP.) If Babe Ruth hits less than 50 home runs this season he will be tempted not to count them. GERMANY OPENS AIR TAXI LINE

BERLIN—An air taxi service has been established in Germany by the Lufthansa.

A fleet of single-motored planes has been placed at the disposal of the public at the cost of 50 cents a mile. If five travel at the same time, the cost is only 10 cents a mile. The taxi-planes hold six passengers.

Selected pilots have been chosen as the first air taxi chauffeurs, and arrangements for luncheon and tea service can be made for long trips.

The Lufthansa has increased its flying mileage this spring. A total stretch of 5,713 miles is being flown daily compared to 4,376 miles last year. Only one stop is now made on the Berlin-Paris route, this at Cologne.

About 1,470 miles will be added to the total daily mileage this month when the Munich Vienna line will be extended to Zurich and Geneva.

Vienna Sets New Tourist Record

VIENNA.—(INS.)—New high records in visitors to Vienna have been set this year. The number of visitors in February was 36,480, an increase over February last year of nearly 6,000.

In 1928, the highest year for visitors in February, Germany contributes largely to this influx, with 3,415 visitors here this February. The number going from Czecho-Slovakia, Holland and Rumania has risen greatly this year.

Bull Montana Disqualified in Mat Bout

DALLAS, Tex., April 15.—(AP.)—Bull Montana, whose face has added considerable to his moving picture characterizations of villians, was disqualified here last night in a wrestling match with John Kilonis, Boston grappler, but not before he covered himself with both glory and gore. The match lasted 28 minutes. Liberally sprinkled with rights, lefts and uppercuts, the bout went from the ring to the ropes, from the ropes to the floor, and thence up and down the aisles until the men were forced apart.

"I found out that by taking Acidine three or four nights a week, I never have that uncertain feeling whether my meals are going to sit right, or make me miserable from the indigestion and gas I used to have so regularly."

Sick, sour stomach, indigestion, burning sensation in the throat and gassy belching usually come from too much acid when your stomach doesn't digest the starchy food you eat. Not more than one person in a hundred has a stomach so perfect it will do it without help. That's why more than two million people are now using Acidine regularly, to enjoy good appetite and freedom from distress and pain after eating. You can get Acidine at any drug store.

Million-a-Year Executives Are Not Uncommon

—By B. C. FORBES—

CYRUS S. EATON referred—slightingly, the newspapers indicated—to Eugene G. Grace, president Bethlehem Steel, as a "million-dollar-a-year man" during the fight to prevent Bethlehem acquisition of Youngstown Sheet and Tube.

Mr. Grace is a million-dollar-a-year man. And so are well over a hundred other industrial executives, quite a number of banking house partners, and, all told, 290 Americans have taxable incomes of a million or more. Of the 290, no fewer than 136 are New Yorkers.

THE first million-dollar-a-year American executive was Grace's chief, Charles M. Schwab. He had a contract with Carnegie which netted more than that round figure. When the late J. P. Morgan discovered this while he was forming the U. S. Steel Corporation he was both astounded and disturbed. Sending for Schwab, he handed him the contract and asked what could be done about it. "This," said Schwab, and he tore it into a hundred pieces.

Grace has been a million-dollar-a-year man for many years — not in salary, but through profit-sharing. More than a decade ago Schwab told me:

"Grace earns several times as much as any other steel employe in the United States and is several times a millionaire."

Coleman duPont, who made many millions and several millionaires, said to me:

"My highest-price men have proved the cheapest men I ever employed. They have made me the greatest profits."

Schwab feels exactly that way about Grace, who, Schwab solemnly declares, knows infinitely more about the steel business than Schwab himself has ever begun to learn.

JOHN J. RASKOB, two years ago made this statement:

"They say that Carnegie made 30 millionaires over a period of years. We made 80 millionaires in four years in General Motors. We induced 80 of our senior and junior executives to go into debt to buy General Motors stock. Every one of these men, even the juniors who put in only $25,000, are millionaires. Stock they paid $33,000,000 for is today worth $250,000,000,000 or so. The stock became so valuable because these men became owners and worked their heads off for success."

Since then the 80, it is understood, has been swelled to over 100.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER was paid $750,000 a year by John N. Willys years ago, and he received other emoluments which raised Chrysler's income to the million mark.

Judge Gary paid an income tax of more than $300,000 a year, indicating that he was in the million-dollar-a-year class. The Steel Corporation's profit-sharing plan presumably has put its present chief executive, James A. Farrell, in the seven-figure category. Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the corporation's executive committee, has earned more than a million a year, but not as an employe.

William M. Wood, got—rather, in his case, took—more than a million a year from the American Woolen Company. Among well-known executives having million-dollar-a-year incomes are Herbert T. Parson, of Woolworth's; E. T. Bedford, the veteran head of Corn Products Refining; Julius Rosenwald, of Sears, Roebuck; Sydney Z. Mitchell, of Electric Bond and Share; Samuel Insull, of Chicago; John D. Ryan and Cornelius F. Kelley, of Anaconda; Frederick S. Wheeler, of American Can.

Walter C. Teagle, on the other hand, was revealed in 1923 to be drawing only $125,000 a year as president of Standard Oil of New Jersey, while five vice presidents drew $100,000 each, political probers revealed. Walter S. Gifford, president of American Telephone and Telegraph, falls short of the million-a-year class, I understand. Haley Fiske, for many years head of the Metropolitan Life, was relatively poorly paid and left an amazingly small fortune. Owen D. Young, of General Electric and Radio Corporation, etc., presumably is in the seven-figure classification.

Byers to Operate New Plant Soon

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE new plant of the A. M. Byers Company will be completed within about 60 days. The exact date for starting operations will depend on market conditions.

The company's lease on the plant at Warren, O., where production of wrought iron by the new process was started, expired on December 1. To insure a supply of raw material for pipe production between that date and the completion of the new plant a large inventory of the new process iron was accumulated. The speed with which this stock is consumed will be a deciding factor in starting production at the Ambridge plant.

A large portion of the equipment at the $10,000,000 plant has been installed. Only a few units remain to be received and assembled.

Dying Industry Revived

THE rolling of the first iron at Ambridge will mark the revival of an almost dead industry. At one time wrought iron was Pittsburgh's major project. The perfection of the Bessemer and open hearth processes for making steel replaced wrought iron except in a few cases where it was still required for its exceptional powers to resist corrosion and crystalization under shocks.

The A. M. Byers Company was one of the few organizations which continued the manufacture of wrought iron. It made its entire output into pipe which it sold at a higher price than steel pipe to consumers requiring a quality product.

Seeking New Markets

WITH the start of production at Ambridge the Byers Company will begin the development of new markets. The lower costs will reduce the spread between the price of wrought iron and steel to such an extent that a comparatively small premium will have to be paid for the quality product. In addition to making the iron pipe the company will sell the material in a semi-finished form to the makers of other products.

So far Byers has been making only part of its requirements by the new process. Its production has been on a small scale at a temporary plant leased to prove that the results obtained in the laboratory could be duplicated on a commercial scale.

Saved $5 a Ton

UNDER these conditions, the company reduced its production costs $5 a ton in the fiscal year ended September 30, 1929. In addition to making production on a larger scale possible, the Ambridge plant will eliminate a large amount of costs for handling materials and for interplant shipments. The saving made was after charging off special experimental costs. The value of machinery installed at Warren was written off in the short period of two years during which the leased plant was operated.

The new process results in its economies by replacing a method requiring large amounts of skilled labor to work metal in small quantities with equipment producing material in tonnages comparable to those of steel plants. It reduces labor costs to a minor rather than a major factor in the operations.

Output Gains

THE hand puddlers, after hours of intense physical effort, produced balls of iron weighing about 200 pounds each. The new process makes iron in lots of 4,000 pounds within a few minutes.

BUSINESS: Appalachian Gas Corporation, through subsidiaries in the states of Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, supplies natural gas under long term contracts to public utility and industrial companies including United Fuel Gas Company, (subsidiary of Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation), Hope Natural Gas Company (subsidiary of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey), Owens-Illinois Glass Company and The Libbey-Owens Glass Company. The Corporation has arranged to acquire 75% of the stock of Texas Gas Utilities Company which will supply natural gas under long term contract to Central Power & Light Company (controlled by Middle West Utilities Company). The Corporation, through subsidiaries, also serves other industrial and domestic consumers.

Appalachian Gas Corporation, incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware, owns more than 99 per cent of the common stock of Ohio Southern Gas Company, more than 91 per cent of the outstanding common stock of Wayne United Gas Company, more than 83 per cent of the outstanding common stock of Ohio Valley Gas Corporation, more than 79 per cent of the outstanding common stock of Ohio Kentucky Gas Company and a substantial interest in the common stock of Allegheny Gas Corporation. Upon completion of present arrangements the Corporation will also own 75 per cent of the stock of Texas Gas Utilities Company.

This group includes some of the most rapidly developing natural gas companies in the Appalachian field, in which field are located the extensive gas pipe line systems controlled by Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, Standard Gas & Electric Company and Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. The gas pipe line systems of these and their respective affiliated companies, being interconnected with each other, together represent the most extensive gas pipe line system serving the largest connected natural gas market in the United States. Thus the gas reserves, both developed and undeveloped, owned or controlled by companies in the Appalachian Gas Corporation group have at hand a well-established, diversified and growing market.

GAS SALES CONTRACTS: The more important of the gas sales contracts of the above companies and their subsidiaries in the Appalachian Gas Corporation group, which contracts have durations varying from eight years to the life of the field, are summarized briefly as follows:

1. A contract with United Fuel Gas Company, subsidiary of Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, covering all gas which can be delivered from approximately 11,000 acres of land in Boyd and Greenup Counties, Kentucky, and Wayne County, West Virginia, the required purchases being without limitation as to amount during the winter periods and for each summer period being 10 per cent of the amount delivered during the preceding winter period.
2. A contract with Hope Natural Gas Company, subsidiary of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, covering 8,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, either produced or purchased, to be delivered in Roane County, West Virginia.
3. A contract with American Encaustic Tiling Company, Ltd., covering 80 per cent of the requirements of its main plant located at Zanesville, Ohio.
4. A contract with Owens-Illinois Glass Company and The Libbey-Owens Glass Company covering gas produced in Kanawha County, West Virginia, up to 1,000,000 cubic feet per day.
5. A contract with Owens-Illinois Glass Company and The Libbey-Owens Glass Company providing for delivery, subject to the terms of the contract, of 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day in Wayne County, West Virginia.
6. A contract with Central Power & Light Company, controlled by Middle West Utilities Company, to supply the entire fuel requirements of its new central station electric power plant located near Del Rio, Texas.

In addition to the gas furnished under the foregoing contracts, Ohio Valley Gas Corporation, through subsidiaries, supplies a large percentage of the gas consumed by other industrial plants at Zanesville, Ohio, among which are Standard Tile Company and Hazel-Atlas Glass Company; Allegheny Gas Corporation, through a subsidiary, supplies substantially all of the gas consumed by the industrial plants at Mt. Vernon, Ohio, including Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Lamb Glass Company and Cooper-Bessemer Corporation; Texas Gas Utilities Company will supply gas for domestic and industrial purposes in the cities and towns of Del Rio, Eagle Pass, Uvalde, Crystal City and Carrizo Springs, Texas.

PROPERTIES: The properties owned or controlled by the companies in the Appalachian Gas Corporation group located in the states of Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, consist of 372 gas wells, 313 miles of pipe lines, including gathering lines, and the gas rights in more than 200,000 acres of land on over 160,000 acres of which the oil rights are also owned or controlled. The gas reserves of less than 50 per cent of the above acreage have been reported to be approximately 125,000,000,000 cubic feet. The properties in Texas to be controlled through Texas Gas Utilities Company include certain gas rights in approximately 215,000 acres of land and, upon completion of the present construction program, will also include more than 200 miles of pipe lines, including distribution lines.

EARNINGS: Combined gross revenues of the companies above referred to in the Appalachian Gas Corporation Group for the first full year of operation have been estimated to be $3,248,712. Net earnings accruing to securities owned by Appalachian Gas Corporation, before depreciation, depletion, amortization charges and Federal Income Taxes of the respective companies, but after allowance for annual interest requirements on $2,500,000 debentures of the Corporation, have been similarly estimated to be approximately $1,000,000.

The above estimates do not include any earnings which may be derived from the future development of more than 100,000 acres in Kentucky and Ohio, nor do they take into account the acquisition of additional properties now under consideration. More than 75 per cent of the estimated revenue is based upon deliveries of gas to customers now being served or customers under contract. The Corporation contemplates the acquisition of additional properties whose revenues should result in substantial additional earnings not included in the above estimates.

The outstanding funded indebtedness of the companies above referred to in the Appalachian Gas Corporation group, exclusive of $2,500,000 Debentures, amounts to $8,469,500, as of January 1st, 1930, together with $4,000,000 funded indebtedness of Texas Gas Utilities Company (of which $1,000,000 principal amount will be owned by Appalachian Gas Corporation). There are also certain purchase warrant and conversion privileges providing for the issuance of additional stock of certain of the respective companies. Stock reserved for this purpose is not considered as outstanding stock in calculating the percentages set forth herein.

EVENING New York Curb Market SUN-TELEGRAPH Latest Financial News MARKETS

COPPER PRICE CUT 4 CENTS

NEW YORK, April 15.—Copper metal producers today reduced the price of domestic copper to 14 cents a pound, a drop of 4 cents a pound. Export copper was reduced from 18.30 to 14.30 cents a pound.

The drop in prices comes after about a year in which copper has been stabilized by large producers at 18 cents a pound for domestic shipment. The cut to 14 cents reduces copper to the lowest level since 1928.

Since the slack business conditions, which developed last fall, large producers have had increasing difficulty in maintaining the high price. Despite curtailment of production, refined stocks have been steadily piling up during recent months, and consumers have gone on what amounted to a buyers' strike, believing the position of the producers to be untenable.

Western Union Net For Quarter Down

NEW YORK, April 15.—Western Union Telegraph Company reports for quarter ended March 31 net income of $1,486,803 after charges and taxes, equal to $1.45 a share on $1,203,789 capital shares, against $3,714,360 or $3.62 a share in 1929 quarter.

Morgan's Bid Obtains New York Bond Issue

NEW YORK, April 15.—J. P. Morgan & Co. were awarded a $31,550,000 New York State bond issue on their bid of 102.077 for all or none.

The premium to the State on the bid is $655,293.50.

The basis on which the bonds were sold was about 3.79 per cent.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 15.—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 6 to 11 points under further realizing or liquidation and scattered selling promoted by the relatively easy Liverpool cables. There was some spot house buying of near months, but the demand for these positions was less active than recently, which some regarded as indicating that the bulk of May short interest had either covered or prepared to make deliveries on contracts if necessary. This view may have led to some selling, while houses with foreign connections had a few selling orders and by the end of the first half hour active months were 13 to 16 points net lower with both May and July contracts selling below the 16-cent level. May declined to 15.98c and the new October contract to 14.38c.

Liverpool cable said there had been continental and Bombay liquidation in the market there and reported a restricted business in cotton goods for outlets generally.

MARKET SINKS SHARPLY THEN HEADS UP

Slash in Copper Prices Carries Shares to New Low Quotations for Year

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP.)—The stock market experienced a sharp sinking spell today in which most of the copper stocks sagged to new low levels for the year and then made irregular recovery in response to a brisk demand for some of the high grade industrial issues. Early declines ran from 1 to 6 points in the active issues, and from 7 to 12 points in a few specialties, but the reaction was checked at mid-day, and prices headed upward in the early afternoon.

A slash in copper prices from 1 to 1/4 cents a pound which has been rumored for several weeks was the principal disturbing factor. This led to heavy liquidation for both accounts but offering were well absorbed. The unsatisfactory copper situation has been the chief deterrent to bullish operations, and with the cut finally out of the way, many observers inclined to the theory that the market was in a much better position to advance.

REACH 1930 LOWS

On the announcement of the cut in copper, Granby dropped 3⅜ points to 51¼, Anaconda 3 to 68½, Calumet and Arizona 2¾ to 70, Kennecott 2¼ to 50½, and American Metals 2⅛ to 43⅜, all new low prices for the year. Magma, Calumet and Hecla, Inspiration and Nevada also sank to new lows, but the declines were not as large. Strong buying support was quickly supplied for the leaders and brisk recoveries took place, Anaconda quickly crossing 70. The cut in copper is expected to stimulate buying by large consumers who have been pursuing a hand-to-mouth policy since the 18-cent price was put into effect about a year ago. It was pointed out that most of the leading producers were able to make at satisfactory profit at the 14-cent price which is likely to be maintained.

Extra dividends were declared during the day by Cumberland Pipe Line, Atlantic Coast Line and Jewel Tea. Walter P. Chrysler head of the automobile company bearing his name, told stockholders today that an examination of the fundamental factors underlying the business situation tends to be reassuring. General Electric reported first quarter net profit of $14,505,986 in the same period a year ago, equivalent to 50 cents a share on the common this year as against 48 cents a share last year on a comparable basis.

In the early selling Peoples Gas broke 12 points, Warren Brothers (old) 8¼, and Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Atchison A. M. Byers, Underwood Elliott Fisher, Western Union and Industrial Rayon sold down 3 to nearly 6 points.

(a) To provide for the inspection of the inside and outside of all buildings and premises at any time.

(b) To provide and require that the owner or occupant of any building shall remove any combustible or explosive matter therein and correct inflammable conditions, upon the order of the Director of the Department of Public Safety, to safeguard life or property, and to provide that said department may close the building or premises pending such removal or correction, and if the owner or occupant fails to obey such order, may have the necessary work done at the expense of the city to be recovered by it as hereinafter provided.

(c) To require the installation and maintenance in such buildings as shall be designated, of portable fire apparatus, such as axes, pikes, poles, hose-reels, ladders, chemical extinguishers, portable pumps and other similar appliances.

(h) To provide for the preparation and distribution by the Department of Public Safety of rules and regulations to minimize the danger of fire and insure fire waste, not inconsistent with the laws of the State of Pennsylvania and the Ordinances of the City of Pittsburgh.

SECTION 3. The Division of Fire Prevention shall investigate the cause, origin and circumstances of every fire occurring in the City of Pittsburgh by which property has been destroyed or damaged, and, as far as possible, shall determine whether the fire is the result of carelessness or design. Such investigation shall be begun immediately upon the occurrence of such fire, and if it appears that such fire is of suspicious origin the Chief of the Bureau of Fire of the Department of Public Safety of the City of Pittsburgh shall be immediately notified of the fact. He shall take charge immediately of the physical evidence, shall notify the proper officers designated by law to pursue the investigation of such matters, and shall further co-operate with the authorities in the collection of evidence and in the prosecution of the case. Every fire shall be reported in writing to the Division of Fire Prevention within two (2) days after the occurrence of the same, by the proper officer of the Bureau of Fire of the Department of Public Safety of the City of Pittsburgh, in whose district such fire has occurred. Such report shall be in such form as shall be prescribed by the Chief of the Bureau of Fire of the Department of Public Safety of the City of Pittsburgh, and shall contain a statement of all the facts relating to the cause, origin and circumstances of such fire, the extent of the damage thereof, and the insurance upon such property, and such other information as may be required.

SECTION 4. The Chief Inspector or his assistant shall inspect as often as may be necessary, but not less than four (4) times a year, all specially hazardous manufacturing processes, storages and installations of whatsoever or other place, chemicals, oils, explosives and inflammable materials, all inferior fire alarms and automatic sprinkler systems, in such other hazards of appearance as the Chief of the Bureau of Fire of the Department of Public Safety of the City of Pittsburgh shall designate, and shall make such report as may be necessary for the enforcement of the laws and ordinances governing the same, and for the safeguarding of life and property from fire.

SECTION 5. It shall be the duty of the Chief Inspector of the Division of Fire Prevention, or his assistants, to inspect as often as may be necessary, but not less than four (4) times a year, in the outlying districts and in the closely built up portions of the City of Pittsburgh, all buildings, premises and public thoroughfares, except the interiors of private dwellings, for the purpose of ascertaining and causing to be corrected any conditions liable to cause fire, or any violations of the provisions and intents of any Ordinance of the City affecting the fire hazard.

Whenever the Chief Inspector or any assistant shall find in any building, or upon any premises or other property, any combustible or explosive matter, or dangerous accumulation of rubbish, or unnecessary accumulation of waste paper, boxes, shavings or highly inflammable material especially liable to fire and which is so situated as to endanger property or life, or shall find obstructions to or of fire escapes, stairs, passageways, doors or windows, liable to interfere with the operations of the Bureau of Fire of the City of Pittsburgh, or the egress or escape of any person in case of fire, he shall order the same to be removed or remedied and such order shall forthwith be complied with by the owner or occupant of such premises or buildings, subject to appeal within three (3) days to the Director of the Department of Public Safety of the City of Pittsburgh, as provided in this Ordinance.

Any owner or occupant failing to comply with such order within a reasonable period after the issuing of said order shall be liable to a penalty as hereinafter provided. Such order may be served upon the owner or occupant to whom it is directed, either by delivering a copy of same to such occupant personally or by delivering thereto and leaving it with an adult person in charge of such premises, or in case no such adult person is found upon the premises by affixing a copy thereof in a conspicuous place on the door at the entrance of said premises. Whenever it may be necessary to serve such order upon the owner of such premises, if the name of such owner or occupant is unknown, such order may be served either by delivering to or leaving with said person a copy of said order, or, if said owner is absent from the City of Pittsburgh, and the premises should not be occupied, then service of such order may be made upon the owner by mailing a copy of same to the owner's last known postoffice address.

SECTION 6. The Chief Inspector of the Division of Fire Prevention, upon the complaint of any person or whenever he shall deem it necessary, shall inspect or designate any of his assistants to inspect the building or any apartment or part thereof, or other premises within their jurisdiction.

SECTION 7. Whenever any of said officers shall find any building or other structure, which for want of automatic or other fire alarm apparatus, or fire extinguishing equipment, or by reason of age or of a dilapidated condition or from any other cause is especially liable to fire, or which is so situated as to endanger other property or the occupants thereof, and whenever such officer shall find in any building combustible or explosive matter or inflammable conditions dangerous to the safety of said building or occupants thereof, he shall order such dangerous condition to be removed or remedied and such order shall forthwith be complied with by the owner or occupant of said building. If such order is made by the Chief Inspector or such owner or occupant may within five (5) days appeal to the Director of the Department of Public Safety of the City of Pittsburgh, who shall within three (3) days review such order and fix his decision thereon, and unless the authority for such order is revoked, shall remain in full force and be complied with within the time fixed in said order or decision of the Director of the Department of Public Safety of the City of Pittsburgh; provided, however, that any such owner or occupant may within five (5) days after the service of the order of the Chief of the Department of Public Safety of the City of Pittsburgh, present his petition to the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, having first notified said Department of his intention so to do, and upon such petition being presented to said Court, such order as made by the Director of the Department of Public Safety shall be suspended until the same has been adjudicated by said Court.

SECTION 8. The Chief Inspector or any assistants of the Division of Fire Prevention of the Bureau of Fire of the City of Pittsburgh, specially authorized thereto, may at all reasonable hours enter any building or premises, excepting the interiors of private dwellings within the jurisdiction for the purpose of making any inspection or investigation which, under the provisions of this Ordinance may be necessary to be made.

SECTION 9. In case any owner, agent or occupant does not remove the dangerous conditions as ordered by the Chief Inspector of the Division of Fire Prevention, and does not appeal to the Court of Common Pleas in such cases wherein appeals are provided, the said department may remove or remedy or cause to be removed or remedied, the dangerous conditions at the expense of the City, the cost thereof to be recovered by the City from said owner or occupant in an action at law in the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, and when such suit, statement of claim with the description of the premises, and condition remedied or removed, is filed by the City, the Prothonotary shall index it upon the Judgment Docket, and the City shall have a lien for the amount of said claim against said premises.

SECTION 10. The Chief Inspector shall keep in the office of the Division of Fire Prevention a record of all fires and all facts concerning the same, including statistics as to the extent of such fires and damage caused thereby and all such information as may be procured in reference to said fires.

SECTION 11. The Director of the Department of Public Safety shall cause an annual report to the Council of the City of Pittsburgh on or before the first day of December of each year, with such recommendations for means of further preventing fires, fire waste and loss of life and such other recommendations and investigations as the said Division of Fire Prevention of the Bureau of Fire of the Department of Public Safety of the City of Pittsburgh has made.

SECTION 12. Any person or persons, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance or neglecting to comply with any order issued pursuant to any section hereof shall, upon conviction thereof before any police magistrate of the City of Pittsburgh, be fined in a sum not exceeding Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00), for each offense, and in default thereof be committed to the Allegheny County Jail for a period not exceeding thirty (30) days.

DAILY TRUE STORY

The 'Ride'

"CLINK" MARTIN was pretty well jingled.

That meant that there was nothing "on" for the Martin gang right then. Clink never touched a drop when he was pulling a big stunt such as paving the way for a dozen trucks of beer to be piloted in and delivered, or when the Closkey gang tried to do the same in his territory and his boys had to bump them off and hi-jack the stuff.

A new bunch of girls had been engaged for the dances. They often changed these girls but the wise hostesses were usually kept on. It pays better to keep them.

"Swell" Harris sauntered in and sat down beside Clink. Swell got his name from his ability to dress the part. He was a valuable aid to Clink in his rackets and also, when occasion demanded, he could use a rod most effectively and he didn't have to be hopped up to do it.

"New girls, eh? Where'd you get 'em?" Swell asked.

"I don't do that—leave it to Duke."

Swell watched the new girls.

"Nifties," he said.

"Yeah? All dames is alike," Clink growled.

"Get an eyeful of th' new smokes," Clink remarked.

Sat Her on His Knee

"Smokes, cutie," Clink said to her.

Clink reached out his big hands about the kid's waist, he lifted her easily and sat her on his knee.

"No—no, you must let me down—I'll be fired—you'll be put out—please," the girl whispered, and struggled. But Clink held her.

"Listen, Cutie, I own this dump—you won't be fired and I won't be put out."

The girl looked at Swell. He nodded, meaning that Clink was telling it straight.

"But—but I've got to sell these—please let me down," the

—the man who hired nobody would bother me more and please let me go."

"Rosie, eh? Great name—thorns go with it, eh, redhead? Well, nobody will bother you any more'n you want to be bothered, so that's that."

The red-headed girl with the dancers, standing in the chorus line keeping step, as a soloist was putting over a song, suddenly saw what was going on. She turned white under her makeup and got out of step—she couldn't take her eyes off Rosie and Clink.

"Have a drink, Rosie?"

"You're a great gal to cuddle."

Clink lifted one strong arm and put it about the little girl's bare shoulders in such a manner that she turned blood red and began to cry.

"Hey, Clink, get wise—th' kid's under age, you'll get in bad," Swell said.

Swell was no angel, but he saw that the poor kid was almost dead with fear and shame and he saw, too, that the girl was young—shamefully young to be there in that work.

He got up and went around to Clink.

"Get wise, get wise—there's a guy over there—a dick of some sort—one of them Purity League guys—and you've gotter lay low on that—"

Clink Warned

"You got protection from most everything, Clink, but you know the big guy warned you he couldn't protect you again if you got messed up with any minor skirts—watch yourself, don't be a fool!"

Swell spoke so convincingly that Clink was startled.

"Where's this guy?" Clink growled.

"Over there," Swell said.

"Looks like what you said—I'd ought to bump him for tryin' to butt in."

"You know what a time you had over the Ollie Smith mess—and this kid ain't as old as she was. I'll bet this kid ain't 15—lay off that, Clink—I'm for you and I wanner help you, but every time you hit the stuff you forget."

"All right, Swell, maybe so, maybe you're right, but I'll get square—"

Swell sat there and stared at the red-headed dancing girl. She was a beauty, graceful, seemingly all fire and life.

"Cigarets?"

Swell looked up. "No—Oh yes, sure," he took some, tossed her a half a dollar, told her to keep the change and then, "Keep away from that guy when he's drunkin'. Baby. He's mad for you. That's Clink Martin."

"You—you was awful good to save me—to make him stop—I mean, to do what you did," the kid stammered.

Later, when the program stopped for an hour of dancing for the patrons, a girl came and sat down beside Swell.

"Welcome, handsome — I've been watchin' you," he said. "What will it be?"

"A rickey—have it mild. You drink something so it will look like I got you to buy," she answered.

Marriage Planned

"Saved my kid sister from bein' pawed by that drunken Clink Martin. I could a kissed you for it."

"That will be easy. See you after the place closes, Handsome."

"Don't rush me, you don't know me so well. The old man's in the hospital and I hadda put Rosie to work. She's too young, but we gotta eat. You was swell, the way you made him stop."

"My monicker is Swell—Swell Harris. What's yours?"

"Dolly."

"Some doll."

A few weeks later Dolly Shurman and Peter "Swell" Harris understood each other thoroughly. They were going to be married. None of this "Moll" stuff for Dolly. And Swell had quite a pile tucked away. They'd take Rosie with them and beat it out West, taking a nice legal marriage certificate away with them.

Swell learned from Dolly that he was pestering Rosie. He dropped in one night and watched. When he saw Clink try the old stuff on the kid he went over.

"Listen, Clink, this ain't got nothin' to do with our racket—Rosie is only 15, she's th' kid sister of my girl, get me? You'll hafter lay off."

"Yeah?"

Swell told Dolly that night that he guessed he'd fix it so little Rosie wouldn't be in any more danger.

Clink Martin was partly drunk and sore.

He got Joe Wagner, Marty Unger and Spike Bronzi in his little back room. He forgot that the dressing room partition was thin. Dolly was back there, getting into a costume for her solo dance.

"Hey, lissen, Swell Harris is got so he thinks he can give me orders—he's through—take him for a ride," Clink growled at the boys.

Dolly Is Fired

"What's he done?" Spike asked.

"Plenty, includin' buttin' in on my Moll—we don't stand for that."

"What's orders?" Wagner asked.

"Take my blue Peerlick outer my garage at 10 tomorrer. I'll have Swell watchin' out front here for some phony guy—pick him up and take him out—give him th' works."

"Split it three ways," he said.

At 10 o'clock Swell Harris loitered in front of the "Whirl" looking for Closky. Clink said he was coming to make trouble.

"Come on, Swell, we gotter trail Closky," they said.

"Shut up," growled Marty.

They turned the corner and a cop stopped them.

"Where'd you get that car?"

"Belongs to Clink Martin, are you lookin' for trouble?" Joe snarled at him.

"I know Martin's license number. This car's been reported stolen. Hop out and keep your hands in sight," the cop ordered.

They got out and looked at the license plate. It was a high number, not the low number Martin got through pull, and which gives a lot of traffic leeway.

Somebody tugged at Swell's arm.

It was Dolly.

"Beat it," she whispered.

Dolly explained how she had stolen a blue Peerlick, hidden it, changed license plates on Martin's car and then warned the cop of a stolen car coming his way.

* * *

At that, it must make people nervous to be sweeping bombs off the front porch and suddenly hear a whistle.

One nice thing about the situation is that often the machine gun clatter practically drowns out the traffic signals.

FUN IN A RIOT

(News Item)

"I thought I would crack my sides laughing at some of the under-cover men who figured in the last unemployment demonstration," said Commissioner Whalen. "They went there as Reds, singing revolutionary songs of the Communists. They carried placards and banners demanding the overthrow of the government and made as much noise as genuine Reds. But the fun started when one of the under-cover men started to razz a cop. He got a terrific punch in the eye and was knocked down before the cop was pulled off."

A CONDITION! NOT A THEORY

(Editorial)

FOR a long time we have received complaints that many of the ladies in this community are not as neat about their appearance as they might be. It does not speak very well for our city if visitors go away and say:

"Yes, the Chamber of Commerce there is doing good work, but the ladies do not trouble to keep their boots laced. I am not so sure that I would want my daughter or sweetheart to look like a mug."

* * *

Such talk does more damage than many of our young folks suspect. Let us try and see if we cannot show visitors that our girls are as neat as girls in surrounding towns!

(This editorial is published at the request of our progressive shoe merchants, who have designated the week of April 21-28 as Buy-More-Shoe-Laces-Week.)

Trout Fly, Screen Door, Baseball—Spring's Here!

Whereas a week ago we were all sorta glum because of some snow that March hadn't got out of its system, today we are bright and cheerful. Spring is here! Last week, when we had a couple of sizzling days, we were not too cock-sure, but now we are certain.

We know that the season for sappy poetry, dandelion greens and circus advertising posters has arrived through the evidence of unfailing signs. Among them a couple of perspiring husbands wrestling with screen doors, working out their immediate destiny under feminine domination. We have seen other husbands grubbing shrubbery, with domination ditto. Oh, spring is here all right!

What if it be cloudy today? The sun will shine again tomorrow—if it doesn't rain. Perhaps there will be both sunshine and rain, for that is the blessing of April. But if it rains now, we know it is a spring rain and not a throw-back to winter.

Oh, yes, another thing that reminded us spring has arrived—a flock of your neighbors sneaked out of town yesterday to be on hand bright and early today in the hope of deluding some trout into believing that a bunch of red feathers tied to a string is edible. And the poor trout, having lost its wariness and cunning because of not having exercised them for a number of months, will make some observation to the effect that spring really is here as he leaves his friends behind. Whom can you believe, if not an innocent trout?

And—we almost forgot—the baseball season opens today!

Renewal of Building Good Sign of Times

Further concrete evidence that the business depression which spread over the country last fall after some eastern stock gamblers suffered heavy losses is passing rapidly, is noted in the quick recovery of home-building. Local dwelling permits, compared to similar months last year, fell off heavily during January and February, but swung back to a little better than normal in March, according to figures credited to H. L. Ley, superintendent of the bureau of building inspection. The number of permits was one less than a year ago, but the valuation was approximately $50,000 greater.

Reports on building and engineering projects throughout the country show a similar trend and there is every reason to believe that optimistic predictions of quick return to normal conditions, based on the natural healthy conditions in general, soon will be fulfilled.

Prosperity Is Largely Dependent on Oil Supply

nless an appellate court or the Congress comes to his support, the President's efforts to bring about complete conservation of government oil will be defeated.

More than a year ago the administration announced that there would be no more leases or disposals of government oil lands. Its purpose was to bring about complete conservation of government oil—to set an example to the states in oil conservation.

Now comes the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia with a decision that the administration has no authority under existing law thus to suspend the operation of the law under which the exploitation of public oil lands has hitherto been permitted.

Of course this decision of a lower court will be promptly taken by the government on appeal to a higher court. Meantime the administration's order of last year will stand.

Oil conservation is too vital to the future welfare and security of the American people to be nullified by the decision of any court—even the highest.

If government oil cannot be legitimately conserved under existing law, then it is the bounden duty of the Congress to pass a law that will compel the conservation of all oil lands owned by the government.

Nor should the Congress limit conservation policy to government oil. Congress should give the Federal Oil Conservation Board, created by President Coolidge, full authority to eliminate waste in oil production wherever found.

If the federal Constitution will not permit this to be done without co-operation of the states, then the influence of the federal government should be exercised to obtain that co-operation.

The truth is that the federal government, as well as the governments of the oil producing states, have long been blind and deaf to the urgent duty of oil conservation.

For years this country has been exhausting its oil reservations at a most alarming rate. Yet never was the common defense and general prosperity so largely dependent as they are today upon an ample oil supply.

And the American people have a right to hold their public servants—states as well as federal—to a strict accountability in the faithful performance of this vital task.

Real oil conservation requires not only the withdrawal of government oil lands from exploitation, but the elimination of waste and the limitation of production.

A Voice From Australia

With a Familiar Ring.

Australia, through her official spokesman, Premier J. H. Scullen, adds her voice to that of this nation against entanglement in the affairs of Europe.

Speaking in the Australian House of Representatives recently, Premier Scullen declared that the commonwealth had DEFINITELY REFUSED to be committed at London to interference in European disputes, and that, although Australia strongly supported the reduction of armaments, it was NOT PREPARED to enter agreements that would involve it in Europe's troubles.

That has a familiar ring in this country. It sounds like our historic policy of minding our own business without Europe's advice and letting Europe mind its own business without OUR advice.

Australia and the United States are far apart in space, but they are next door neighbors on THAT particular policy. And both seem to be doing fairly well as a result. About a million times better, in fact, than England is doing by a contrary course, if you want the brass tacks of it.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

The Byrd Expedition

THE camera men are back to big America with 20 miles of news reels from nowhere.

After 18 months in the Antarctic the intrepid explorers are back to civilization and will leave for Chicago in the morning.

"Bugs" Baer

What astonished them most was the change in women's dresses and the styles in automobile bodies. They were also surpised to learn that cigarets must be smoked blindfolded and that parrots get fevers.

Twenty miles of pictures is more than the usual driver gets out of a gallon. The returned explorers want to see plenty of trees and grass and want to hear plenty of noise.

Tex Guinan would fill that prescription if it were not for the trees and grass.

Tex has invited the boys to her new night club where they can hammer on tables and start life anew.

The average American cannot figure why anybody should have to go far away from home. Even with the ice and snow it will be a beautiful spot until Antarctica gets extradition treaties.

The wind blows so strong down there that on calm days the pedestrians fall on their faces.

We don't want to spend 18 months in a place where you go to the orchard to pick ripe icicles.

That's why we admire the prowess of Commander Byrd and his boys. They didn't see anything. And they've got pictures to prove it.

Seals, penguins, whales and cyclones are not the plans and specifications for a happy journey. We never did agree with Admiral Perry's idea of seeing the world through a full beard.

However, it all comes under the classification of science, industry and research. Whenever there is dangerous work, hardships and manhood to be accumulated we know that Commander Byrd is the boy for the job.

And we hereby place our faith in his ability to conquer and surmount all future deeds of heroism and suffering by appointing him our proxy.

SEVEN LEAGUE BOOT-COBBLER

By Herbert Kaufman

THAT grandson of yours will carry a VEST POCKET REFRIGERATOR before he casts a vote. Chemistry has already laid the EGG from which it will hatch.

Last week invention delivered the first consignment of the MAGIC CARPETS on which communication will shortly roam the earth. Before you say "'Jack Robinson," face-to-face telephony will be as common as vocal intercourse.

Present OPINION says it will be years before television is sufficiently simplified for general employment. But present opinion is based upon present KNOWLEDGE, and you'll recall that scientists, a mere 12 months ago, were betting that neither Baird nor Jenkins would EVER cobble perfectly fitting seven-league boots for the EYES.

Incredulity has hardly quit jerring at the proposition to unite sound, action and color on the motion picture film—and NOW see what's ALREADY there.

THE best of everything lies on the OTHER side of the hill.

There isn't an incurable disease any more than there's a permanently insoluble social or economic problem.

The so-called "Golden Ages" were pinchbeck imposters—sordid, ugly epochs impudently parading in finery stolen from the FUTURE'S wardrobe.

Past fame largely found it's inkwells on battlefields and dipped quills in the hearts of suffering humanity.

Glory's monuments were mostly gibbets and torture chambers. And MARTYRS were the torches that spread the light of understanding for the tatterdemalion pioneers, to whom we owe the early surveys of INEVITABILITY.

It was a fine FOLLY to give and take the SWORD THRUST. But it is a nobler SANITY to heal wounds than to BESTOW them.

TO search for the Golden Fleece was a superb gesture, but not so magnificent as the hunt for the bubonic flea.

The quest for the Holy Grail studded the skies with imperishable names. But the extermination of the malarial mosquito did much more to make this a cleaner and safer sphere.

The ancient heroisms were spectacular, dazzling—and wildly exaggerated. Down the ghostly roads of eternity we hear them tramp—the bronze-shod phalanxes of Macedon—the grim hosts of Sparta—Caesar and his legions—Joan, of the Lilies—the little corporal and his giant guard; we salute, then re-rate them and their periods.

Theirs were ruder and blinder civilizations. They were conquerors, but destroyers, their usefulness is ended. Ours is a different universe—a world for BUILDERS and CREATORS.

We live in and for this new truth—that real GLORY lies in the battle with menace, and NOT with men.

THE scalpel, the microscope, the sewer, the drain pipe have achieved beyond Theseus' dagger, Aeneas' spear, Gallahad's lance and Bonaparte's cannon.

The great adventure is no longer marked by a trail of tears and fears and havoc, the new soldier serves for the common GOOD—he comes in the name of faith—to heal—to cleanse.

He bears but one weapon—IMAGINATION—and where he treads, despair and pain vanish.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

WHY are you mean?

Why do you say catty little things that you don't really want to say? Why do you have those sudden bursts of temper that are as much of a mystery to you as they are to the other fellow? And why those secret periods of bitterness and melancholy and rage?

"Oh, it's just my disposition," you say despondently. "I've always been like that. Yes, I know it makes me terribly unpopular. And I've tried and tried, but I can't do a thing about it."

You're wrong on all counts, stranger.

You're wrong first in thinking that a disposition is something which is wished on you like measles or relations or other unavoidable afflictions. There's a reason for dispositions—they don't just happen. Like hash, they're ACCUMULATED — ACCUMULATED FROM THE ODDS AND ENDS OF EXPERIENCE.

When you're born, you have no disposition. But you don't waste any time starting one. Almost with your first squawk, you begin accumulating peeves and prejudices, likes and dislikes. A man with a beard leans over you and gives you a nasty medicine. You kick and yell and claw in rage and fear, but all in vain. Down goes the medicine. The man with the beard is to blame. Henceforth, men with beards are tangled, in your youthful mind, with feelings of rage and fear. That's the beginning of your "disposition." You find that you can get things or CAN'T get them—if you howl long enough.

Everything that you are, or have, or that happens around you, helps make that disposition. Everything joins that SECRET ACCUMULATION OF MEMORIES AND REACTIONS.

Disappointment — discouragement—failure — injured vanity — hurt love — shock — grief — these things lie at the root of those strange impulses. Probably you've forgotten the original experience or have failed to understand its full significance. And you think that these mysterious demonstrations are just something that happens — something beyond your control. But they aren't!

Personalities can be set in order as well as any other junk pile. You can clean a wart off your disposition as well as you can clean a wart off your hand.

Have you a mean streak? Then sit down and find out what started that mean streak. What hurt or hunger? Dig into yourself. Go after that First Cause. Drag it out into the daylight. And then, no matter how important it was once, MAKE YOURSELF REALIZE THAT IT IS NO LONGER IMPORTANT — MAKE YOURSELF REALIZE THAT IT IS ALL IN THE PAST AND THAT YOU CAN NOW MAKE LIFE AFTER YOUR OWN PATTERN.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

SINGERS are awful particular about their atmosphere and everything, and they get to be the only noise-makers on the program almost, or they ain't happy. Well, there was a young woman that was studying to be an opera singer, and she was practicing by an open window at her house one day. She was singing on the Mad Scene, and it was going great, when she was interrupted by a dog howling right under the window. She telephoned the next door neighbor woman and says, "Say, Mrs. Sippi, how do you reckon I can do my work with that dog howling under my window? Can't you make him stop?"

"Well, you started it," says the neighbor, "and the dog feels just as bad about it as you do. After all, a dog has got some rights, ain't he?"

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

TWO final examples we may note, one from fish, the other from crustacea. Everybody knows what soles and plaice and other flat fish look like, and a great many people are aware of their peculiarity in having both eyes on the one side of their twisted head and in lying flat, not on their belly, but on one side—the opposite side to the eyes.

H. G. Wells

But not so many know that when they hatch out of the egg, flat fish are symmetrical like other fish, swim about in the ordinary upright position, and have their two eyes on different sides of their head like any ordinary vertebrate.

It is only after several weeks that a symmetrical growth distorts the head and eyes, and the animal gradually settles down to its sideways existence.

This is natural enough in the case of a fish which was once free swimming like other fishes but which, generation by generation and age by age, has taken to life upon the bottom but it is fantastic if we suppose that the plaice and soles were specially created as they are now. Why should they not spawn themselves in miniature?

The most startling example has been reserved to the end. Portunion is the name given to a repulsive parasite found in the gill-cavities of crustaceans, where it devotes all its energies to sucking its host's blood and maturing its own reproductive cells.

In the female sex especially this creature looks much less like a whole animal than like a detached piece of somebody else's internal anatomy. There is nothing to show what sort of a creature it really is, from what kind of animal it has degenerated.

But in its development it lets the cat out of the bag—or perhaps we should say it lets the sea-woodlouse out of the bag; for when young it is obviously a crustacean, the details of whose anatomy place it at once in the order which contains the familiar slaters and woodlice.

In a previous book we traced an exactly similar story in the parasite Sacculina, which is shown by its larva to be a curiously disguised and degenerate barnacle.

The evidence of the fossils in the rocks is direct evidence for evolution. But the evidence of embryology, though indirect, is more immediate.

You can watch the individual animal indulge in these amazing reminiscenses, and pass before our eyes from ancestral primitiveness to adult modernity. All the facts have a simple and straightforward meaning if evolution be a fact, while a denial of evolution leaves them unexplained and apparently inexplicable.

It is plainly essential to a parasite like Sacculina that it should have a free-swimming larva, but it is hard to see why that larva should be built so exactly upon the crustacean plan, if Sacculina has no crustacean ancestry.

And a colt, safe in its mother's womb until it is born a well-nigh complete miniature of its parents, has no sort of advantages in preceding its backbone by a notochord or producing and reabsorbing gill-arches.

Nor is it some mysterious, widespread harmony which requires this rhythm of repetition, because the amount of recapitulation varies with different animals and the story is often blurred and abbreviated. Recapitulation occurs like something done under a powerful and unavoidable inertia of tradition like something deep in the nature of living creatures.

They recapitulate because they reproduce and because they have been evolved through an infinite series of reproductions from simpler things.

BOOK THREE

Sec. 1. The Variability of Living Things.

THE rocks tell us that the forms of living things have changed slowly but steadily in the past; careful comparison of the structure and mode of development of creatures living today is in accordance with this fact. We will now open up a new series of facts that harmonize and complement those that have gone before.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 15.—Mrs. Dorothy Parker seems definitely established as the town wit among the Grade A brand of intelligentsia that flowers in the metropolis. Every snappy mot, Oscar Wilde-ish epigram and nothing-really-matters line is attributed to her.

Mrs. Parker—Dotty to friends and just Dot to a small circle of intimates—is a fragile-as-spun-sugar type with dark hair and bird-like movements. To the casual, she is a striking exemplar of new feminine freedom. Her conversation is a joyous gurgle and she has a perceptive smile and quick bright glance.

Yet those who know say her dazzling facility is superficial—a pose. And underneath this surface exuberance is a great genius which is stressed in the poignant irony of her poetry and prose. The world knows her for such trivialities as "Excuse my dust!"—her suggested epitaph for her tombstone.

All this, her friends aver, is only a mask of unwinking brightness for emotional depths the world does not understand. Mrs. Parker was born and reared in New Jersey and her first literary efforts bloomed in the pages of Vanity Fair, followed by books of poems attaining remarkable sales.

When she came back from Europe recently for a brief stay, her arrival was hailed by several poems penned by talented friends. She had been among the Alps hob-nobbing with Hemingway and other American writers—"leaping from jag to jag," according to her printed statement to ship news reporters.

It was there she gave the finishing polish to her newest book of poems to be labeled "Sonnets in Suicide." She has been besieged by eager magazine editors with offers touching a new price per word, but is politely indifferent to them all.

Her role as queen of the Manhattan sophisticates, too, has no lure whatever. She greets it with a stifled yawn and has, despite her springy gait of body and mind, become attached to an isolated chalet in Switzerland and there expects to spend much of her time.

* * *

Certain hotel waiters and orchestra leaders will, upon application, furnish women patrons with names of young men who will hire out as escorts for the evening for $15. Incidental expenses for food and drink are, of course, paid by those engaging them. Dancing academies also supply such companionship. It is claimed they are college students picking up extra money. But in many cases are youths in touch with the underworld.

* * *

There are, however, ambitious college students who serve as waiters at the dinner hour in tea rooms. They are paid from $10 to $15 a week and tips.

* * *

One of the collegiate waiters told me the other evening of an incident establishing the truth of a hoary theory no one ever sees a waiter's face. There came to one of his tables an elderly couple. He served them and received a quarter tip. They did not recognize him although he is to marry their only daughter upon graduation this spring.

* * *

Chic Sale was a collegiate waiter—at least for two days. He was fired when he served a customer drinking water in a thick coffee cup, the big yap.

* * *

Alec Waugh in a new novel speaks of the power of newspaper columnists and calls them snippets who write "the only part of a newspaper that is really read." As one of the snippetists, we only hope it is true.

* * *

It would seem — and all who care hold up their hand — that about the worst thing that can happen to a fellow in New York is to be known as a Count. He is immediately under suspicion as a racketeer.

* * *

A fashion magazine editor—the flatterer—asks me for an article on "The Greatest Need of The Well Dressed Man." My idea would be an evening shirt that would not suddenly balloon and crack like a pistol when you try to bow.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

YOU have been promoted recently to an important position.

You have some ideas relative to how you want the work done by your subordinates in this new place.

In coming up through to your present appointment you had some humiliating experiences that have soured you.

Within you is a mean trait that prompts you to put restrictions upon those working under you more because you want your way carried out than for any principle involved.

In this way you indicate that you think your judgment is superior to that of the great majority who fill positions similar to yours.

Doesn't the thought ever come to you that if so many men think another way preferable to your plan that your ideas are not so well founded?

The person who has many inflexible rules which he insists must be followed despite proof that he is in the minority, is egotistical to a degree that would be amusing were it not for the demands which are made upon those subject to his whims.
